The Envoy is a two part interactive on a continuous timeline so special rules apply:

Both mini-missions must be played at the same APL.
A separate Adventure Certificate is issued for each of the two parts.
Experience and Treasure awards are made at the end of each mini-mission.
Characters may not increase in level until the second part has been completed.
All wounds and effects that a Character may be suffering from at the end of part one carries over to part two.
Spellcasters may not recover spells already cast or change spells between the end of one part and the start of the next.
All magical effects in operation upon a Character carry over from one part to the next if of sufficient duration.
No buying and/or selling of equipment is permitted after the start of part one until the completion of the second part.
Interactive Mini-Missions do not count as Regional Adventures for the purposes of Warcompany benefits.

Some characters are entitled to free upkeep for the duration of The Envoy. If you are one of those then please fill in the blanks below:
