WABBIT WAMPAGE™

Adventure Board Game

For 2-4 Players

Age 12 to Adult

The ultimate in strategy, luck, and comedy! One player is Farmer Brown. Others play wabbits gone berserk. All of them battle for points: plowing fields in Spring (even wabbits!), stashing carrots in Summer, whomping enemies in Fall, and destroying buildings in Winter. As seasons change, so do the objectives. Whoever earns the most points during an entire year of mayhem wins the game.

CONTENTS

- 1 gameboard
- 2 ten-sided dice (see below)
- 48 cards
- 70 playing pieces (counters)

SETUP

1. Unfold the board on a flat playing surface.
2. Punch out the playing pieces, called COUNTERS, and sort them by color.
3. A word in parentheses (such as "House" on Farmer Brown) lies in the upper left-hand corner of some counters. This shows the counter's HOME base. Set these counters on the board, color side up, matching the words to actual locations. Note: do not set up Hunters, or any yellow counters. (All names are on the back.)
4. Decide who'll play FARMER BROWN: he's the dealer. (If you'd like, roll a die; highest roller plays Farmer Brown.) Farmer Brown's counter is red, and he starts at the House. All other red counters (the Hand, Dog, and Hunters) will be controlled by the Farmer's player.
5. In each game, up to three wabbit LEADERS take part: Bad News Bunny, Thugs Bunny, and Dirty Hare. (See backs.) Starting with the person on the Farmer's right, each player except the Farmer now chooses a Leader wabbit, plus its two KIN of matching color. Then the player picks one of the wabbit holes on the board to call "Home," and places the Leader there. Kin go beside it in the field. No two wabbits may occupy the same hole.
6. If you're the Farmer, shuffle the cards and deal 3 to each player, including yourself. Then set the rest of the deck face down on the board, in the space marked "Draw." You've just formed the DRAW PILE.
7. Set the counter marked "Game Round" in the square marked "Spring 1." You're ready to play.

OBJECT OF THE GAME

A WABBIT WAMPAGE game covers the four seasons of the year. Each season, the objective—and the way to score points—changes:

- Spring: plow fields with Tractor (2 points per field)
- Summer: stockpile carrots (2 points per carrot)
- Fall: Successfully attack other game characters (1 point per character)*
- Winter: Destroy or protect buildings (varies)

All of these actions are fully explained under the "Four Seasons" below.

*Note: Players earn 1 point year-round—not just in Fall—for each successful attack their characters make on others. (Of course, in Fall, attacks are more frequent.)

ROUNDS AND TURNS

In a ROUND of play, each player completes one turn (first Player A, then B, etc., until it's Player A's turn again). A standard WABBIT WAMPAGE game lasts 12 rounds—3 for each season of the year.

The Farmer always starts the game, so he has the first turn in every round. Play proceeds to the left.

After ending his or her turn, the last player in each round moves the "Game Round" marker forward one square on the board. Always keep track of which round is in progress.

CHARACTERS

Each player in WABBIT WAMPAGE controls a number of CHARACTERS. These are the living or "intelligent" creatures in the game, such as the wabbits, plus the Farmer and all his red counters. Big Horrible Monster, the Robot, and Local Critters are characters, too; they enter the board during play.

WHAT TO DO IN A TURN

During your turn, you may do any of the following things. Skip any action, if you'd like, but don't do anything out of its proper order.

IN THIS ORDER ONLY:

1. Discard and Draw
2. Move a character counter (we'll call it "X")
3. Attack with counter "X"
4. Repeat steps 2 and 3 with your other characters

WHENEVER POSSIBLE:

Play cards. All cards have information on them, telling you when and how to play them.

USING THE DICE

The WABBIT WAMPAGE game uses ten-sided dice. These work just like regular six-siders, except they produce results from 1-10 (read "0" as "10"). Whenever the rules say, "roll the dice," just roll both, and add the results together.

Dice roll shown = 14

STEP 1: DISCARD AND DRAW

At the start of each turn, you may discard and draw up to 3 cards. Discard face up. You may never have more than 3 cards in your hand at any given time.

If you take the last draw-card, shuffle the discard pile well. Then turn it face down to create a new draw pile.

STEP 2: MOVE

During Step 2, you may move a character counter according to the SPEED listed in its lower right-hand corner. For example, Farmer Brown (shown here) has a speed of 5. That means he can move up to 5 spaces in a turn (he can move less, or not at all, if his player chooses).

A SPACE is any area on the board marked off by a yellow line. For example, the Pond is a space, and so are all the buildings. The Driveway and Highway each count as one space, too. Wabbit Holes aren't spaces.

Characters can move from space to space in any fashion they choose: diagonally, across, or up and down. They can never skip spaces, however.

Carrying Weapons

WEAPONS make characters more powerful in an attack (see Step 3). All weapons appear on green counters.

During movement, a character can pick up and carry one weapon. Place the carried weapon (its counter, actually) under the character's counter. Anyone can look at the weapon, so there's no need to hide it completely.

To pick up a new weapon, a character must "drop" whatever weapon he's carrying (if any). "Dropped" counters lie uncovered on the board, available to any character who comes along.

Note: No single weapon can assist more than one character on a side per turn. For example, if Dirty Hare uses the Chainsaw, then no Kin or ally (controlled by the same player) can use the Chainsaw during that same turn—even if Dirty's attack fails.

Vehicles

Three green counters show vehicles: the Tractor, Jet Pack, and Crane. VEHICLES increase speed and/or make a character more powerful (just as weapons do). Only the Tractor starts the game on the board; the other two arrive later.

The Tractor can double any character's normal speed—even a wabbit's. The Jet Pack triples normal speed. (Accordingly, speed is listed on these counters as "x 2" and "x 3", respectively.) For example, with the Tractor, Farmer Brown can move up to 10 spaces per turn, instead of his normal 5.

Characters can obtain vehicles the same way they pick up weapons: if a vehicle is lying about freely, the character just moves into the same Space, and puts the vehicle under the character counter. Note that any increase in speed only applies to remaining movement in a turn. So, if Farmer Brown (whose Speed is 5) moves 2 spaces to reach the Tractor, he normally has up to 3 spaces left; with the Tractor, he now has 6.

The Crane counter lists a speed of "3": it can move up to 3 spaces per turn. It never increases or enhances a character's normal speed, however. (You'll discover its best use in Step 3.)

Note: No vehicle can assist more than one character on a side per turn. So, if Thugs uses the Tractor, then no other character controlled by Thug's player can use the Tractor that turn.

Vehicles do not affect rules for carrying weapons. So, if Bad News Bunny wants to fly the Jet pack and carry the Cannon weapon, she can.

STEP 3: ATTACK

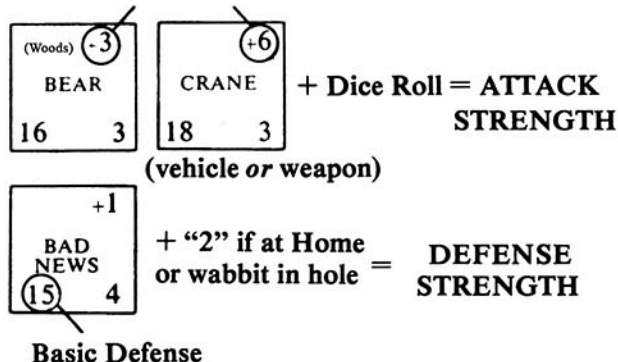

Characters attack other characters 1) to steal weapons or vehicles, 2) to send their opponents back to Home base, and 3) to earn points. (Characters may also attack the Tractor, Cannon, and Crane if they're unattended, to remove them from the board.)

An attack has three prerequisites: One, the attacker must have finished all (if any) movement. Two, the attacker must be in the same space with his or her "victim" (see "Shotguns and Cannon" for exceptions). And three, the attacker must declare who (or what) his or her victim will be.

How to attack: Roll 2 dice; then add any attack bonuses (in upper right-hand corner of counter) for your character and his weapon or vehicle. The result is your ATTACK STRENGTH. To succeed, your Attack Strength must exceed your victim's Defense Strength.

A victim's DEFENSE STRENGTH equals his or her Basic Defense number (in lower left-hand corner of counter), plus "2" if the victim is (a) at Home base, or (b) a wabbit in any hole. If the Attack Strength is lower than the Defense Strength, the attack fails; nothing happens.

Attack Bonuses

If the attack succeeds, the victim is WHOMPED: he or she must drop all weapons and vehicles, and return to Home base. (If Home base is a wabbit hole, and a character's already there, the wabbit victim must go beside that hole instead.) If no Home exists, the victim leaves the board.

Spoils of Victory: Successful attackers may immediately pick up anything dropped by their victims. (Attackers still can't hold more than 1 weapon and 1 vehicle, however; they must drop any excess to make the switch.)

Extra attacks: Usually, a character can only attack once per turn. If the character does not move before attacking however, he or she can make one extra attack (Chipmunks, too). Some cards allow extra attacks, too.

CARD PLAY: THE ANYTIME STEP

Card Play can occur virtually anytime—even during someone else's turn. Instructions on all cards tell you when and how to use them.

IMPORTANT!

Whenever you play a card, immediately draw another from the Draw Pile to fill your hand. If you draw a card you wish to play, go ahead and play it, and draw again to fill your hand. You may play any number of cards during your turn. Don't show the cards in your hand to other players.

The WABBIT WAMPAGE deck includes seven groups of cards: Defense, Mail Order, Local Critter, Mail Zap, Character Zap, Attack, and Special. Below is an overview of each group. [Numbers in brackets show how many cards each group contains.]

DEFENSE CARDS [9]: Play these when an opponent tries to attack any one of your characters. In most cases, Defense cards allow you to attack the opponent before he or she attacks you—even though it's not your turn. (Note: if your Defensive attack fails, your opponent is free to attack "again" immediately.)

MAIL ORDER CARDS [12]: In this game, you can mail-order all kinds of useful things—weapons, vehicles, even two new characters.

Here's how to order: If one of your characters has moved into the mailbox space, you can place an order (character may finish movement). Play the Mail Order card face down in front of you. At the start of your next turn, flip the Mail Order card face up: your package has arrived. Set the counter for your package in the mailbox space. Anybody can retrieve it, but with a little planning, you'll get there first. To retrieve a package, just pick it up like any weapon or vehicle. (Note: the Monster and the Robot cannot be "picked up." They're characters on the side of the player who ordered them.)

Special Delivery Cards [2]: These send a package directly to your main character (Leader wabbit or Farmer) anywhere on the board. Any of your characters may place the order. Play the Special Delivery card with a regular Mail Order—face down, one atop the other. When the package arrives, turn both cards face up.

ZAP CARDS [9]: Zaps are free attacks, which occur independently of Step 3 in the turn sequence. Mail Zaps [2] affect the mail. Character Zaps [7] affect a specific character or group (such as the Dog, or a wabbit).

LOCAL CRITTER CARDS [4]: Local Critters are characters. If you play one of these cards during your turn, the character shown joins your side. Place its counter at the Home base listed on the card. Note: Chipmunks always get 2 attacks per turn, 3 if they don't move first.

ATTACK CARDS [8]: Play these during or at the end of an attack step in your turn. Most allow an extra attack. Persuasion Cards [3], however, allow you to "steal" a character from another player's control. Not all characters can be "persuaded"; see cards for details.

SPECIAL CARDS [6]: . . . are of course, special. The "Wild Card," for example, lets you search through the discard pile and take any card you want.

THE FOUR SEASONS

In WABBIT WAMPAGE, each season of the year calls for a different objective. These objectives don't change what you can do each turn (draw, move, attack, etc.); they just determine why you take action.

SPRING: Plow

Earn 2 points for each field "plowed" by one of your characters. To plow a field, just get the Tractor, and move it through a Field space. As soon as a field is plowed, place a carrot counter in that space. (Do not pick up carrots until summer.)

SUMMER: Stockpile Carrots

Earn 2 points for every carrot you stockpile. To stockpile a carrot, pick one up from a plowed field, and carry it to your Home base. When Summer ends, take the carrots off the board. Exception: Farmer Brown stockpiles carrots in the Barn, not in the House.

FALL: Attack

Earn 1 point for every character you attack successfully. But watch out, wabbits! In the Fall, Farmer Brown sets all 3 Hunter counters on the board, each of which carries a shotgun (noted as a +3 attack bonus on their counters). The Hunters fight only for the Farmer, and their Home base (like his) is the House. When Fall ends, Hunters leave the board.

WINTER: Get Those Buildings!

During Winter, wabbit players destroy buildings, and Farmer Brown tries to save them from destruction. Each building on the board shows a different point value.

Wabbit players: To destroy a building and earn its point value, you must attack the building directly. Every building has a Defense Strength of "17," (no bonuses exist). One successful attack rarely destroys a building, however. Each building also shows a number next to a multiplication sign: the building must be successfully attacked that number of times before it has been destroyed. Only the player whose character makes the last successful attack earns the points. To keep track of each successful attack, put a Damage counter on the building, switching to the next higher counter with each new success. A "Destroyed" marker shows a building no longer exists. (See backs of Carrot counters.)

Farmer Brown: To protect buildings and earn 1/2 their point value, keep all your enemies away. Only undes-troyed buildings earn points for you at year's end. So attack! Attack! And attack! (And as you'll see next, those attacks may be worth points, too.)

Note: Unless he or she has the H-Bomb, no character may attack buildings before Winter.

ANY SEASON: Attack!

During any season (including Fall), players earn 1 point for each character their characters attack successfully.

THE SLEEPING HAND

The Hand always starts the game "asleep" under the Tree (you may wish to set up his counter face down). The Farmer's player cannot use the Hand's counter until the Hand awakes. To wake up the Hand, the Farmer or Dog character must end a movement step under the Tree.

THE POND AND THE HIGHWAY

The Pond and the Highway are dangerous. Each time one of your characters enters either space, you must roll the dice. If you roll "11" or more, nothing happens; keep moving if you'd like. But if you roll 10 or less, you've been *whomped by the space! Drop weapon and vehicle alike, and go directly to Home base.

Exceptions: The Jet Pack saves you from these Whomps, entirely; don't roll dice. And the Duck, of course, has nothing to fear from the Pond; he doesn't roll dice there, either. Furthermore, the Pond freezes in Winter; any character can enter safely.

Whomped: "half-drowned" or "run over."*

SHOTGUNS AND CANNON

Usually, characters can only attack victims in the same space. Shotguns and cannons negate that rule:

- With a shotgun, characters (including Hunters) can attack anything up to 2 spaces away. Shotguns cannot fire into or out of buildings (or their windows), however: counters inside a building are "safe" unless the attacker is inside, too. Likewise, counters outside a building are safe from a shotgun inside.

Note: Hunters may lose their shotguns due to a "Swipe" Defense card, but they always regain them after the attack.

- With the Mail-order Cannon, characters can attack anything anywhere on the board. No one is safe—not even characters inside a building!

WABBIT HOLES

Wabbit holes protect all wabbits from attacks, giving them a "+2" defense bonus (whether they are Home base or not).

Any character can occupy a wabbit hole, but only one may do so at a time. (Farmer Brown, for instance, might hide in a hole to keep a wabbit from entering—thus preventing the wabbit from getting a defense bonus.) The holes are "bottomless pits" in other respects: anyone can stash items and vehicles there, in any amount.

Digging New Holes

At the end of his move, any wabbit character can "dig" a brand new hole in any space that doesn't contain a building. The player just sets a "Hole" counter in that space. New holes work just as those drawn on the gameboard do, except that no one may call them "Home" base.

KEEPING SCORE

Each player has 2 "score" counters matching his or her characters. During the game, position these counters on the score area to show how many points each player has.

Here's how it works: For numbers 1-10, simply place one counter in the appropriate space. For numbers 11 and up, use both counters—one in each column. The left-hand column shows "tens," and the right-hand column shows "ones." Example: A player with 32 points should place one counter on "30" and the other on "2."

HOW TO WIN

Earn the most points during the year.

PLAYING HINTS

During each turn, flip your character counters face down as soon as you finish their actions. Turn them all face up again when your turn ends. This helps everyone follow the action on the board.

WABBIT WAMPAGE™

ADVENTURE BOARD GAME

WABBIT WAMPAGE—THE ULTIMATE GAME OF MINDLESS MAYHEM! All it takes is a streak of strategy, a lot of luck, and a mean sense of humor—then maybe you'll survive the fun.

CARTOON MADNESS! ADULT STRATEGY!

- Play a rabbit gone berserk. Battle other bunnies for carrots. Attack Farmer Brown for revenge. Then torch the barnyard, hijack tractors—and yes, you can even jet-pack to the mailbox, send for a cannon, and blast old Fido off the board. But that's not all. . .

- Play Farmer Brown. Stomp the rabid rabbits right back into their holes. Hire a handyman with a blowtorch, call the hare-hungry hunters with shotguns, even send out the dog with a chainsaw. . .

- Then meet the rest of the cast! The Duck, The Bear, The Chipmunks, The Mail-order Big Horrible Monster—just to name a few!

WABBIT WAMPAGE FEATURES FOUR WILD AND HAREY SEASONS OF DESTRUCTION, each calling for a different strategy. To win, just survive—and earn the most points during the year.

WHAT'S INSIDE. . .

- full-color, full size gameboard • 70 playing pieces
- 2 high-quality ten-sided dice • 48 cards
