SPACE MARINES
COLLECTORS' GUIDE

WARHAMMER 40,000

GAMES WORKSHOP

What is a Collectors' Guide?

The Chaos Space Marines Collectors' Guide is the definitive tome for anyone interested in the Chaos Space Marines miniatures range. It's ideal for anyone who collects Chaos Space Marines, containing the full range of Chaos Space Marines models and their component parts.

We've laid the range out following the Codex, grouping models as to where they appear in the army lists. All the HQ choices are therefore in one section, followed by Elites, Troops, Fast Attack and Heavy Support units. We hope this will make it easier for you to navigate through and find the models or components you seek.

The Chaos Space Marines Collectors' Guide is far more than a simple catalogue. It also includes a number of other features, such as painted examples of the Traitor Legions, some fantastic armies, conversions, Golden Demon winners and great dioramas.

So, if you collect, paint or game with Chaos Space Marines then this is the book for you!

Anyway, what are you waiting for? Stop reading this and take a look inside.

When you reach the Components section, you will find that some of the models are classed as Classic Range or Collectors' Models.

Classic Range models (like the Noise Marine, pictured left) are no longer available in stores but are still ideal for use in your army.

Collectors' Models (like the Emperor's Children Chaos Space Marine, pictured right) are no longer available in stores, but represent a piece of Games Workshop history (some of the models being over 10 years old!). Although they are mostly no longer covered by the rules, these models still make great collectors' pieces or a basis for some conversion work.

Don't worry, all the Classic Range and Collectors' Models will be clearly labelled inside.

Ordering any of these models is simple and convenient. All you have to do is select your models from this book then use any of the following ordering methods below.

The Colours of Chaos

At the very birth of the Imperium of Man, fully half of the Emperor's most trusted Space Marine Legions turned against him in a bitter civil war. Brother fought brother, and Mankind stood upon the very brink of extinction. Ten thousand years after their defeat, those same traitors still launch their Black Crusades out of the Eye of Terror, intent upon nothing less than the utter destruction of the Imperium and the death of its weakling Emperor. Here we present the known colour schemes of the Traitor Legions, and other renegades observed within the warbands of the Ruinous Powers.

Excommunicate Traitoris - The Traitor Legio

These are the original nine legions that turned against the Imperium in the Horus Heresy. In fact, many of the Chaos Space Marines are the same warriors who fought against the Emperor 10,000 years ago. These Traitor Marines combine the strength, martial skill and endurance of a Space Marine with the depths of malevolence and evil that can be found within the Eye of Terror.

Renegade Chapters

Since the Horus Heresy, new Chaos Space Marine Legions have begun to emerge. Whether these are the equivalent of Successor Chapters is unknown but, if so, no indication is given of their heritage. Some appear to be merely the retinue of a Chaos Space Marine Aspiring Champion, but any form of organisation seems to be anathema to the Ruinous Powers.

Follow me, my children, and you shall taste the undreamt joys that lie beyond the bounds of mortal sense."

Dioramas

Chaos gnaws at everything in the Warhammer 40,000 universe, and Mankind may well be fighting a losing war against the Dark Powers. Chaos battles not only with Mankind, but with itself as rival gods seek personal power and glory. Included below are just some of the many dioramas created over the years that depict this eternal struggle.

Death Guard

Al Jakobs works in our Bluewater store and this is what he had to say about his fantastic Death Guard army.

Al: The Death Guard army was made quite by accident. I was painting some metal Plague Marines to replace the plastic ones in my original Chaos army and before I knew it the concept of a Death Guard army spewed forth like the contagion from a lanced boil. I used a mix, streaking Bubonic Brown with Rotting Flesh. This was then treated with a series of Green and Brown Ink washes to finish the effect.

Inspired by the 'Gas mask' look of the Plague Marines, I began to use Ork shootas instead of bolters, the ammo drum reminiscent of WWI 'Tommy guns'. This archaic look was further enhanced by the addition of Skaven Poison Wind Globadier backpacks. I was also lucky enough to pick up some of the original Chaos renegades of Nurgle (now no longer available) and their numerous mutations and corpulent bulk added to the overall look of bloated corruption.

A plague-infested Chaos Predator.

Everyone's favourite in the army seems to be the colossal, daemonically possessed Dreadnought 'Maximus Infectious'. Inspired by a game where another of my Dreadnoughts had to sit it out immobilised for most of the action, the concept of this unholy combination of Daemon, tank and Dreadnought was born!

Maximus Infectious. Al has used Daemon, Ork, Chaos Space Marines and Space Marines components to create this centrepiece model.

Terminator Captain. This model is based on an old Chaos Terminator model, now no longer available.

World Eaters

Brian Best works in our Basingstoke store and this is what he had to say about his fantastic World Eaters army.

Brian: I have always liked the idea of a World Eaters army, and the multi-part Berzerker models gave me an excuse to go for it.

One of the main things I like most about collecting an army is doing conversions. Almost every model in the army is converted in some small way; I have used parts from Necromunda, Warhammer Chaos, Ork, Space Marines and Epic models.

One of the first, as well as one of my favourite, parts of the army is my Dreadnought. I wanted to make him appear as though striding across the battlefield so I replaced the standard legs with Epic Emperor Titan legs. I also used the Space Marine Dreadnought missile launcher instead of the standard shoulder so I could use it as a Havoc launcher or a standard missile launcher.

Part of Brian's extensively converted Chosen Chaos Space Marines. As you can see, he has taken inspiration from various horror films to add character to this impressive unit. Check out the rest of the unit and see if you can figure out which films they're all from.

The inclusion of legs from an Epic Titan has added to the menacing look of this towering Chaos Dreadnought.

Brian is currently working on a squad of Berzerker Bikers. Here we show you a sneak preview of his latest unit.

Iron Warriors 13th Grand Company

Andrew Lewis works in our Cardiff store and this is what he had to say about his great Iron Warriors army.

Andrew: This army was started last year after I read the novel Storm of Iron (by Graham McNeill). This inspiration, along with the release of the updated Codex: Chaos Space Marines, helped me choose my army.

The army is built around a solid base of firepower in the form of a Havoc squad, Vindicator, Basilisk, Dreadnought and the Obliterators. The battle plan is to pound the enemy with artillery, then deal the killing blow with my Warsmith, backed up by his Chosen and two Chaos Space Marine squads mounted in Rhinos.
Currently, the army is around 2,000pts, but I'm hoping to boost it to 4,000pts.

Black Legion

Christian Byrne is one of the UK White Dwarf team and this is what he had to say about his Black Legion army.

Christian: I first trod the Dark Path upon my re-introduction to Warhammer 40,000, nearly four years ago. At first it started as a small Word Bearers army, but in the end I was to find my true calling in the service of the Warmaster.

Of all the Undivided legions the Black Legion has the most options. My first agenda when creating this army was to make it numerous and flexible, something that was made easy with the new codex rules. First, I decided on three squads of Marines (2 in transports for reaching objectives), each packing some heavy firepower. From that point onward each selection for the army was chosen to balance assault against firepower, this led to the introduction of particular Daemon types and very soon cult troops like Khorne Berzerkers and Slaaneshi Noise Marines.

For me, however, this wasn't enough as I needed a theme for my army, so I took my inspiration from Codex: Chaos Space Marines and made my army followers of the Sorcerer Lord Ygmethor. This would mean that the army would always be led by a sorcerer of some description. But being a Black Legion army also means that they are in the service of the Despoiler, so sometimes he comes out for a game. And if that isn't enough, there's also my Daemon Prince! This model is based on the Inquisitor Tyrus model from the Inquisitor gaming system along with components from a Keeper of Secrets and the new Daemon Prince.

Sorcerer Lord Ygmethor

The terrifying Chaos Spawn

Christian uses the Vehicle Design Rules to field this converted Chaos Land Speeder.

An impressive Daemon Prince utilising Warhammer 40,000 and Inquisitor components.

Night Lords

John Hart is one of our regional managers and this is his army.

Every single model had been collected, painted and extensively converted over the last four years and John is showing no signs of slowing down. Descending on the Portsmouth store like a thunderstorm, John's army has become the scourge of the locals, his retinue of Chosen Chaos Space Marines is infamous for sowing death and despair among even his staunchest opponents!

The first thing that draws your eye is the beautifully painted and crafted Daemon Prince. Check out the doomed Grey Knight at its feet! All the characters have been converted to bear the marks of the Night Lords (especially helmet wings) and John has been careful to keep the theme of the army strong. An example of this is the consistent lightning theme that runs throughout the whole army, tying it together as both a striking army to face and a real collectors' piece.

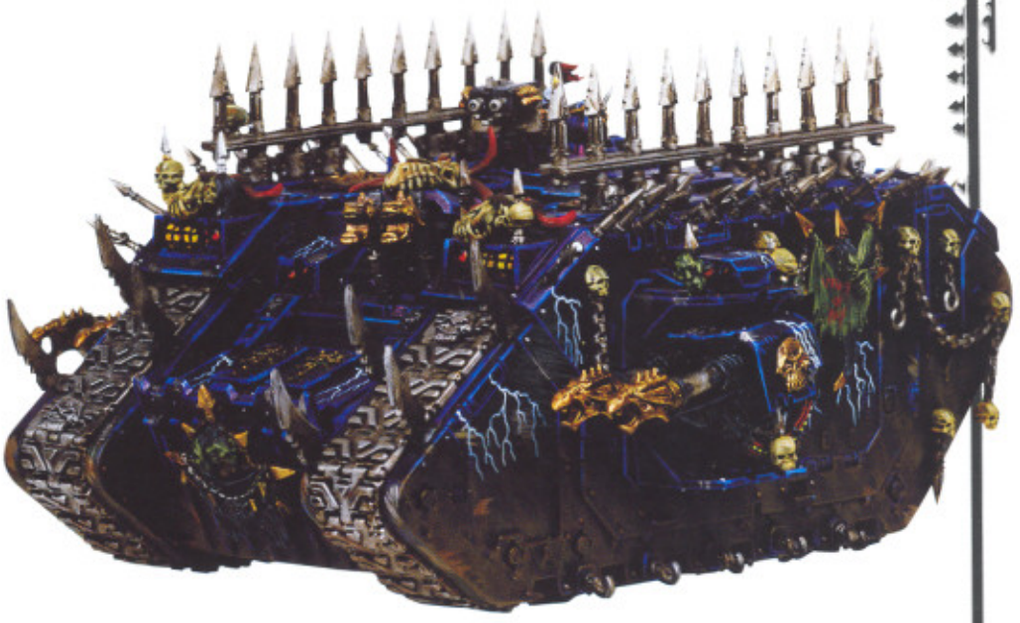

The Daemon Prince in all its (unholy) glory.

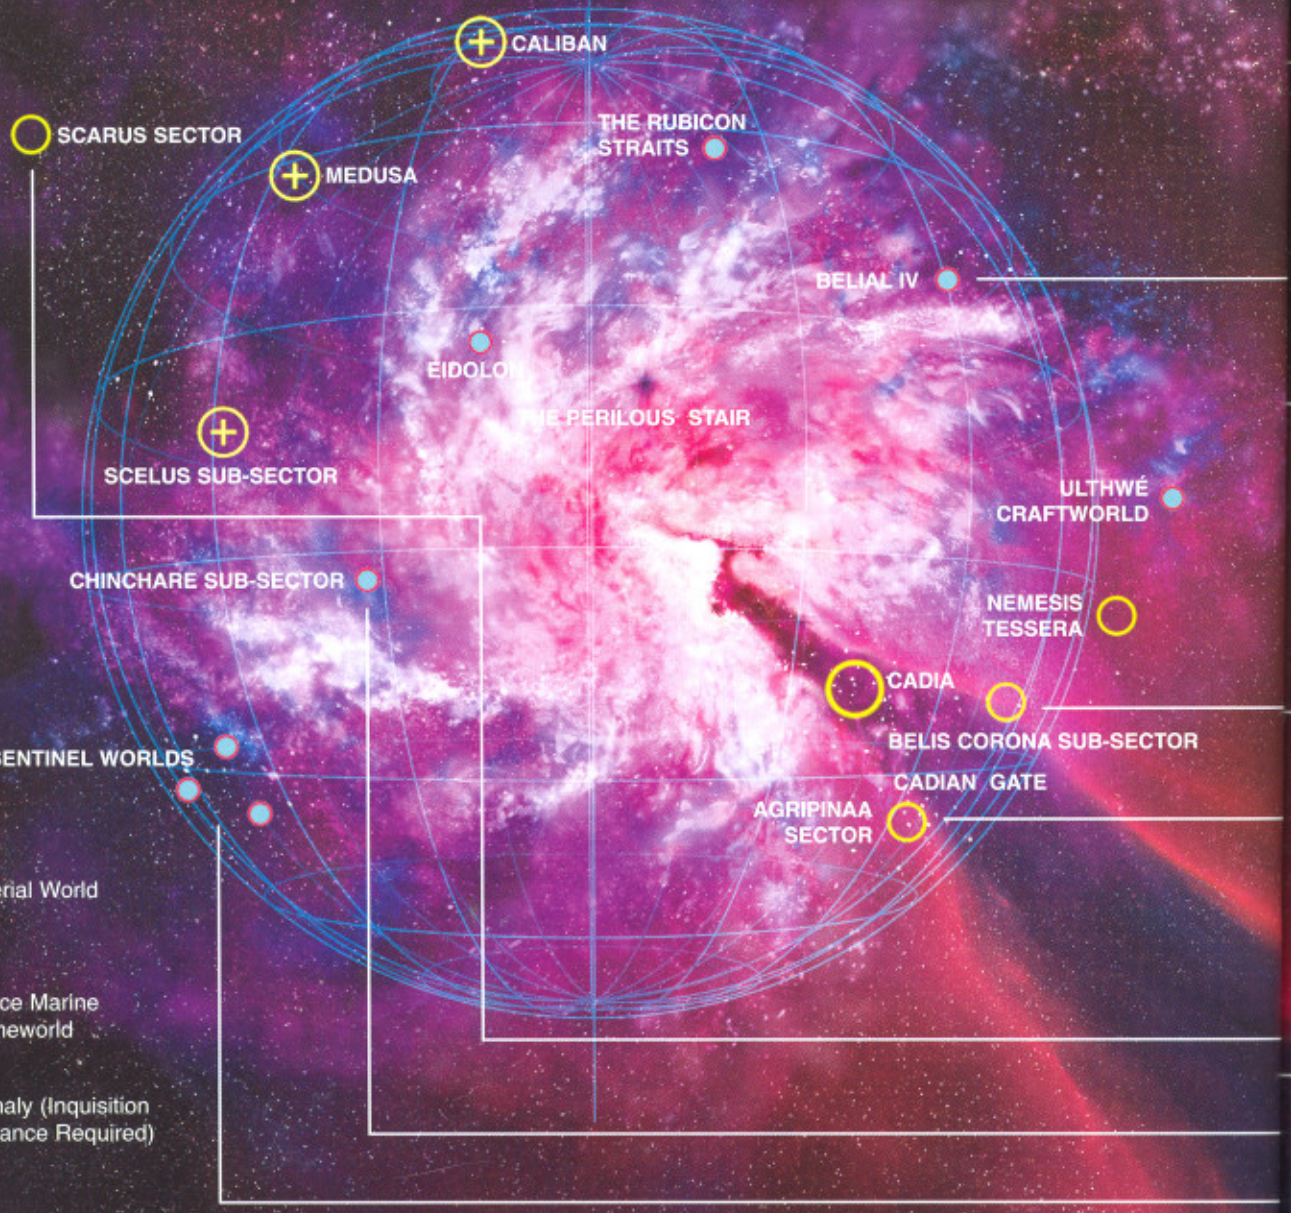

Night Lords Chaos Lord.

Nearly every model in John's army cries out to be a centrepiece, and this heavily converted Land Raider is no exception!

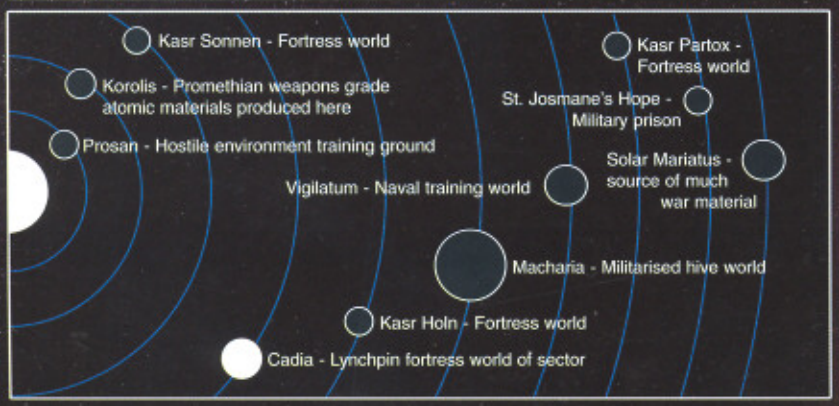

EYE OF TERROR

Cadia is a fortress world, the guardian of the one stable route from the Eye of Terror. Its entire population is geared for war and its factories and manufactorum churn out munitions, weapons and tanks at a prodigious rate. It is perhaps the most vital location in the entire Imperium and the military strength based there is unfeasibly vast. 71.75% of its population are under arms. Largest exporter of arms and munitions in region.
