INTRODUCTION

^o have walked many planes, and lately I have spent a great deal of my time on Theros, cataloguing its assorted denizens. In this volume, I aim to enlighten you with the many wonders of Theros.

MONSTERS OF MYTH

The monsters of Theros are, simply put, mythic. Never have I encountered such titanic lifeforms in such abundance and diversity on any other plane. The sheer danger of encountering even one of the monsters of Theros gives the planar residents plenty reason to stay within the limits of their polis.

SCOPE

This document is intended to supplement (and in many cases, replace) the stat blocks provided by Mythic Odysseys of Theros. Replacements have been offered only when the MOoT version clashed with the style found throughout this work.

This started out as a collection of chimeras on CritterDB. It has been expanded to include every nonlegendary Theros creature shown on a card from the beginning of Magic up through Commander 2015.

Legendary creatures are planned in the future, but they aren't included here.

How This Book is Organized

The longer I worked on this book, the more I realized I needed separate sections for mortals, immortals, and the dead. Due to the volume of this work and certain technical limitations, the table of contents and index have been omitted. I recommend using your PDF reader's search functionality to locate what you're looking for.

NO PICTURES?!?

That's right. Due to the sheer volume of this work, no time was devoted to securing illustrations. If you are curious what a creature looks like, I recommend locating it in "Appendix E: Cardnames" and then looking up that card in any Magic: The Gathering card database.

Abbreviations Used in This Document

Occasionally, a spell from another source is referenced. Refer to the table below to determine what source the spell is from:

YOUR SUPPORT COUNTS!

I received no financial compensation writing this sourcebook. I spent nearly every waking hour of my summer vacation from teaching putting this together (and barely finished it in time for the next school year to begin). Your support of my work on this product is greatly appreciated.

Two ways you can support my work:

- I really appreciate feedback! I look forward to revising this document once people tell me what works and what doesn't!
- Financial contributions are appreciated, of course. The product is free and will remain free.

New Mechanics

heros is full of exciting new ways for characters to interact with the world around themselves. Here are some new mechanics introduced in this document.

MORTALS

Due to many of Theros's mortal races being non-humanoid (for example, the centaurs, satyrs, and giants), the word mortal is used to indicate any creature that, in its natural state, generally exhibits all of the following traits:

- Its body is capable of dying (not dead or immortal)
- Sentient (able to think)
- Sapient (able to rationalize)

For races that aren't native to Theros, e.g. vedalken, Ravnican gorgons, etc., refer to other literature to assess whether they meet the criteria listed above.

Mortals in a Theros setting include the following:

- Dragons
- Fey races: Centaurs, hags, satyrs
- Giants (except titans)
- Humanoids
- Monstrosity races: Demoloks, harpies, medusas, sirens, sphinxes
- Any of the above that has been polymorphed into a different creature and retains the traits mentioned above

Many immortal and dead creatures have these types, but are not considered mortals. The following types of creatures frequently are members of the aforementioned races, but are never considered mortals:

- Nyxborn
- Titans
- Undead

LOSING MORTALITY

There are two ways for a mortal to lose mortality:

- Mortification (the soul is separated from the body)
- Immortalization (the body housing the soul is turned immortal, or the soul is transferred to an immortal body)

DEATH

When an NPC dies, it invariably loses its mortality. In most cases, mortification occurs. But in rare cases, a soul is welcomed into Elysia, whereby it is given an immortal body.

BLESSING OF IMMORTALITY

In rarer cases, an NPC might be immortalized via divine or arcane magic.

NATURAL IMMORTALITY

On Theros, the soul is immortal. It exists until it is forgotten by remembered and recorded history. However, a bodiless soul, generally speaking, isn't capable of much.

Size

Long ago, sizes "colossal" and larger were done away with. However, Theros has tons of titanic creatures that are unrivaled in size by the creatures of other planes.

ROLLING DICE FOR TITANS

Such titanic creatures are given a massive amount of hit points and deal massive amounts of damage. The utilization of online dice-rolling tools is highly advisable.

Monsters of Myth

When planning an adventure, the DM should keep in mind the sheer power of the gargantuan monsters, most of which could (if the DM isn't careful) end up killing an entire party. If the adventure is a one-shot with throwaway characters, however, the DM might opt to use one for precisely that reason in order to get them into the Underworld.

TRAITS

Heroic

Theros is full of heroes. The glorious virtues of a hero are manifested when the hero becomes targeted by a spell. The catch? The spell's caster has to want the hero to reap the benefits, and in most cases, the benefits last only until the end of combat.

INSPIRED

The gods reward those who honor them. A creature that is inspired to venerate its god or perform some other action on its turn is rewarded on its following turn.

MYTHIC TRAITS

This exciting new feature was introduced in Mythic Odysseys of Theros, so it's not exactly new. Creatures that have a mythic trait can only use it once, but it's a powerful trait that can regenerate the creature and often cause other mythical things to occur at the same time. These creatures are the true monsters of Theros.

Spell Nature

Many of Theros's monsters are magical in nature, meaning that they can be destroyed by unraveling the magic threads that give them life. Most of these are nyxborn creatures, woven from the fabric of the night sky. They are creatures in every sense of the word, but they also count as spells. For example, a nyxborn creature could be destroyed using dispel magic.

A creature with a spell nature is either divine or arcane, and it has a school type, usually transmutation. Its school type and level are included in the creature type line of its stat block for quick reference.

TRIBUTE

Lords of Theros demand fealty, sometimes for good, but often as a show of power. If the lord doesn't get what he wants, prepare for his wrath.

Not all of the lords of Theros know how to speak. These lords are typically the subject of a cult, and that lord has come to expect tribute from mortals. Its cultists typically know how to respond in its presence, but others may simply write it off as a monster with a mean streak.

UNRENOWNED

Unrenowned creatures are those with potential waiting to be unlocked. When an unrenowned creature deals damage to a player character for the first time, that creature becomes stronger and loses its unrenowned trait.

BEASTS

AKROAN MASTIFF

Protectors of Akros. The mastiffs make such good watchdogs that Akros can send all its men away to war without fearing the safety of the polis.

AKROAN MASTIFF

Medium beast (dog), any alignment

Armor Class 12 Hit Points 6 (1d8 + 2) Speed 40 ft.

Keen Hearing and Smell. The mastiff has advantage on Wisdom (Perception) checks that rely on hearing or smell.

Actions

Bite. Melee Weapon Attack: +4 to hit, reach 5 ft., one target. Hit: 5 (1d6 + 2) piercing damage. If the target is a creature, it must succeed on a DC 12 Strength saving throw or be knocked prone.

BADGER

Ferocious. The badger is more ferocious than any other beast.

Keen Smell. The badger has advantage on Wisdom (Perception) checks that rely on smell.

Trample. The badger can move in and out of a Medium or smaller creature's space. If it would, it uses a bonus action to attack that creature with its claw. That creature must succeed on a DC 11 Strength saving throw or be knocked prone. If the creature succeeds, the badger can't enter that space and must end its turn immediately. If the badger stops on top of that creature, that creature becomes restrained until the badger moves off it (escape DC 7).

Actions

Bite. Melee Weapon Attack: +2 to hit, reach 5 ft., one target. Hit: 1 piercing damage.

Claw. Melee Weapon Attack: +3 to hit, reach 5 ft., one target. Hit: 13 (4d4 + 3) slashing damage.

BLADETUSK BOAR

Carnivorous. Bladetusk boars live in the Deathbellow Canyon, where they feast on the flesh of any humans that the minotaurs or other bloodthirsty creatures don't get to first.

Charge. If the boar moves at least 20 ft. straight toward a target and then hits it with a tusk attack on the same turn, the target takes an extra 7 (2d6) slashing damage. If the target is a creature, it must succeed on a DC 13 Strength saving throw or be knocked prone.

Intimidating Presence. The boar can use its action to frighten someone with its menacing presence. When it does so, it chooses one creature that it can see within 30 feet of itself. If the target can see or hear the boar, the target must succeed on a DC 14 Wisdom saving throw or be frightened of the boar until the end of the boar's next turn. On subsequent turns, the boar can use its action to extend the duration of this effect on the frightened target until the end of the boar's next turn. This effect ends if the target ends its turn out of line of sight or more than 60 feet away from the boar. If the target succeeds on its saving throw, the boar can't use this feature on that target again for 24 hours.

Relentless (Recharges after a Short or Long Rest). If the boar takes 10 damage or less that would reduce it to 0 hit points, it drops to 1 hit point instead.

Actions

Tusk. Melee Weapon Attack: +5 to hit, reach 5 ft., one target. Hit: 10 (2d6 + 3) slashing damage.

Innate Sense of Direction. The dove can innately find its way to a specific fixed location that it is familiar with on the same plane of existence. As long as the dove is on the same plane of existence as the destination, it knows how far the destination is and in what direction it lies. It cannot innately navigate obstacles, however, such as a maze.

Actions

Beak. Melee Weapon Attack: +0 to hit, reach 5 ft., one creature. Hit: 1 piercing damage.

HART

A hart is a male elk.

Divine Influence. Heliod occasionally seeks to manipulate the world through the hart with direct possession of the hart. Heliod often finds dramatic ways to make his thoughts known.

The great hart stood like a statue, its hide painted gold by the dawn. The Champion laid down her weapons and stepped forward within an arm's length of the beast. The hart, sacred to Heliod and bathed in the god's own light, bowed to the Champion, marking her as the Chosen of the Sun God.

Blessings of the Gods. While the hart is wearing no armor and wielding no shield, its AC includes its Wisdom modifier. In addition, a creature that hits the hart with a melee attack while within 5 feet of it takes 9 (2d8) force damage.

Charge. If the elk moves at least 20 ft. straight toward a target and then hits it with a ram attack on the same turn, the target takes an extra 7 (2d6) damage. If the target is a creature, it must succeed on a DC 14 Strength saving throw or be knocked prone.

Actions

Hooves. Melee Weapon Attack: +6 to hit, reach 5 ft., one prone creature. Hit: 22 (4d8 + 4) bludgeoning damage.

Ram. Melee Weapon Attack: +6 to hit, reach 10 ft., one target. Hit: 11 (2d6 + 4) bludgeoning damage.

Actions

Bite. Melee Weapon Attack: +4 to hit, reach 5 ft., one target. Hit: 7 (2d4 + 2) piercing damage. If the target is a creature, it must succeed on a DC 12 Strength saving throw or be knocked prone.

Ox

The yoked ox has been broken to where it will generally not harm another creature unless provoked.

It was in fields of grain, not fields of battle, that the Champion learned to bear the yoke of duty to the gods. She worked the land long before she was called on to defend it. — The Theriad

If the target is a creature, it must succeed on a DC 13 Strength saving throw or be knocked prone.

Relentless (Recharges after a Short or Long Rest). If the boar takes 10 damage or less that would reduce it to 0 hit points, it is reduced to 1 hit point instead.

Actions

Multiattack. The boar makes two attacks: a ram attack and a spiky slam attack. It makes these attacks with advantage, and it gets a +1 bonus to damage rolls for both attacks.

Ram. Melee Weapon Attack: +5 to hit, reach 5 ft., one target. Hit: 10 (2d6 + 3) bludgeoning damage.

Spiky Slam. Melee Weapon Attack: +5 to hit, reach 5 ft., one target. Hit: 8 (1d10 + 3) piercing damage.

Dangerous to the Weak. If a creature below its race's maturity age or having a Constitution modifier of +1 or less becomes poisoned by the scorpion, roll a d10. On a 9 or less, the creature becomes diseased with acute pancreatitis (see "Appendix A: Diseases").

Scorpion Venom. A creature poisoned by the scorpion takes 2 (1d4) poison damage each hour until cured of poison.

Actions

Sting. Melee Weapon Attack: +2 to hit, reach 5 ft., one creature. Hit: 1 piercing damage, and the target must succeed on a DC 20 Constitution saving throw or take 4 (1d8) poison damage and becomes poisoned. If a target poisoned this way is not diseased, that target remains poisoned for no more than 8 hours; otherwise it remains poisoned until cured of poison.

Nimble Escape. The skink can take the Disengage or Hide action as a bonus action on each of its turns.

Sigils. An oracle of Purphoros has advantage on rolls made to interpret the skink's sigils. If the skink dies, the sigils disappear.

Slippery. The skink has advantage on ability checks and saving throws made to escape a grapple.

Actions

Salt Susceptibility. For every handful of salt thrown on the swarm, it takes 3 (1d6) acid damage.

Swamp Camouflage. The swarm has advantage on Dexterity (Stealth) checks made to hide in swampy terrain.

Swarm. The swarm can occupy another creature's space and vice versa, and the swarm can move through any opening large enough for a Tiny leech. The swarm can't regain hit points or gain temporary hit points.

Actions

Bites. Melee Weapon Attack: +2 to hit, reach 0 ft., one creature in the swarm's space. Hit: 10 (4d4) piercing damage, or 5 (2d4) piercing damage if the swarm has half of its hit points or fewer, and the swarm attaches to the target. While attached, the swarm doesn't attack. Instead, at the start of each of the swarm's turns, the target loses 10 (4d4) hit points due to blood loss, or 5 (2d4) if the swarm has half its hit points or fewer. The swarm can detach itself by spending 5 feet of its movement. It does so after it drains 20 hit points of blood from the target or the target dies.

Monsters

BASILISK

The basilisk is the most venomous creature known to Theros. Its touch is venomous, its breath is venomous, even eye contact with it is venomous. Thankfully, its eye venom can be avoided by using a blindfold, though that doesn't exactly help avoid its touch or breath.

Lair. The lair of a basilisk is easily identifiable by dead vegetation. The basilisk's skin produces enough venom that plants in the area don't stand a ghost of a chance.

Mirrors. Obviously, a mirror is useless against a foe such as this, contrary to popular legends. In fact, the basilisk is immune to every poison.

Hunting for Profit. Any part of a basilisk might be profitable to sell. Basilisk blood is a pricey commodity due to the obvious challenges in obtaining it. Pharika claims that it can be used to make antidotes, but few have even been able to obtain it to experiment with.

"Anyone who sees the eyes of a basilisk serpent (Basilisci serpentis) dies immediately... Its touch and even its breath scorch grass, kill bushes and burst rocks. Its poison is so deadly that once when a man on a horse speared a basilisk, the venom travelled up the spear and killed not only the man, but also the horse. A weasel can kill a basilisk; the serpent is thrown into a hole where a weasel lives, and the stench of the weasel kills the basilisk at the same time as the basilisk kills the weasel."

-Pliny the Elder

Stench. Any creature that starts its turn within 10 feet of the basilisk must succeed on a DC 14 Constitution saving throw or be poisoned until the start of its next turn.

Venomous Gaze. If a non-basilisk creature starts its turn within 30 ft. of the basilisk and the two of them can see each other, the basilisk can force the creature to make a DC 12 Constitution saving throw if the basilisk isn't incapacitated. On a failed save, the creature becomes infected with the basilisk's venom. Until cured, the venom deals 36 (8d8) poison damage to the creature at the end of its turn.

A creature that isn't surprised can avert its eyes to avoid the saving throw at the start of its turn. If it does so, it can't see the basilisk until the start of its next turn, when it can avert its eyes again. If it looks at the basilisk in the meantime, it must immediately make the save.

Weakness to Weasels. The odor of a living or dead weasel is toxic to the basilisk.

Aggressive. As a bonus action, the cerberus can move up to its speed toward a hostile creature that it can see.

Multiheaded. The cerberus can't be surprised, and it has advantage on saving throws against being knocked unconscious.

Pack Tactics. The cerberus has advantage on an attack roll against a creature if at least one of the cerberus's allies is within 5 feet of the creature and the ally isn't incapacitated.

Wildfire (Mythic Trait; Recharges after a Short or Long Rest). When the cerberus would be reduced to 12 or fewer hit points, it first gains 6 temporary hit points. If it survives, each of its three heads exhales fire in a 15foot cone. Each creature in those areas must make a DC 13 Dexterity saving throw, taking 24 (7d6) fire damage on a failed save, or half as much damage on a successful one. Any flammable objects in the areas ignite.

Actions

CHIMERAS

What would you get if you crossed a lion, a goat, and a dragon? A chimera. The chimeras of Theros don't have much in common with one another aside from sporting unusual combinations of various animal parts. Some have multiple heads, and some fly. Thankfully, most chimeras are not terribly large and are much simpler to dispatch than most of the terrible monsters of Theros.

Multiheaded. The chimera can't be surprised, and it has advantage on saving throws against being knocked unconscious.

COASTLINE CHIMERA

The coastline chimera has the body and head of a lion, the wings of an eagle, a second ram head, and a serpent for its tail.

Seeing a chimera overhead foretells good fortune, but only because seeing one any closer foretells dismemberment.

Pounce. If the chimera moves at least 20 feet straight toward a creature and then hits it with a claw attack on the same turn, that target must succeed on a DC 13 Strength saving throw or be knocked prone. If the target is prone, the chimera can make one bite attack against it as a bonus action.

COCKATRICE

A titanic wyvern-peacock with a deadly gaze. It needs merely to fix its eyes on a target to petrify it. The fleetfeather cockatrice is so named for its fleeting speed in flight.

MYTHS AND SUPERSTITIONS

Synonymy with Basilisk. Many unfamiliar with the cockatrice quickly write it off as another word for basilisk. This leads to false notions that a) the cockatrice's touch, breath, glare, etc. are poisonous, and that b) the cockatrice is vulnerable to the smell of a weasel. Neither of these are the case.

Similarity to Gorgons. Because the cockatrice has a very similar power to that of the gorgon, other assumptions are made and perpetuated: a) that a victim must make eye contact with the cockatrice for its gaze to petrify, and b) that the cockatrice can be killed via reflection in a mirror. Again, neither of these is true. In fact, the second is a terrible misconception of the gorgon as well!

Superstitions. Some strange tales have also arisen in the writing of stories for children; among these are that a) if a man sees the cockatrice before the cockatrice sees the man, the cockatrice will instantly die; b) hearing a crowing rooster will cause the cockatrice to instantly die. Do not be fooled by these foolish notions as so many men have!

Edibility. I warn the reader against being fooled about the novelty cokentrice recipes. This is a fancy word for "cock-pig", an overpriced dish many pay extra for thinking it is cockatrice. As for the edibility of the cockatrice, I do not know whether the petrifying pheromones would be broken down in death or cooking.

Death-Darting Eyes. The cockatrice fixes its gaze on one creature within 30 feet of it that the cockatrice can see with both eyes and forces the target to make a DC 13 saving throw. A creature that isn't surprised can use a reaction to Hide and avoid the saving throw. On a failed save, the creature is instantly petrified. A creature that succeeds on the saving throw begins to turn to stone and is restrained. The restrained creature must repeat the saving throw at the end of its next turn, becoming petrified on a failure or ending the effect on a success. The petrification can only be cured by a god.

Tail. Melee Weapon Attack: +5 to hit, reach 60 ft., one target. Hit: 18 (6d4 + 3) bludgeoning damage.

DRACONES

A dracon is a giant viper.

GROVE DRACON

A grove dracon is the guardian of a golden apple grove. Due to the dracon's ferocity and size, a cult has formed around this dracon. The dracon has grown accustomed to this sort of worship, though non-cultists might not be aware of the local customs.

Some fruits are best left ungathered.

USAGE NOTES

Players familiar with this monster may find the choice too simple. In order to add greater relevance to the tribute, consider the following scenarios:

- One or more dracon cultists might be nearby who will pay tribute.
- A friend or foe might be dangerously close to the dracon.
- A quest goal might involve securing one or more golden apples or a molted skin of the dracon.
- A quest goal might involve vanquishing or protecting the dracon.

A creature that touches the ember swallower or hits it with a melee attack while within 5 feet of it takes 10 (3d6) fire damage.

Water Susceptibility. For every 5 feet the ember swallower moves in water, or for every gallon of water splashed on it, it takes 1 cold damage.

Hearts of the Beast (Mythic Trait; Recharges after a Short or Long Rest). When the ember swallower drops to 0 hit points, it doesn't die or fall unconscious. Instead, the damage creates cracks in its carapace, revealing its hearts. The ember swallower has three hearts in its chest. A heart has an AC of 14 and 20 hit points. It is immune to bludgeoning, piercing, and slashing damage from nonmagical attacks and to fire, and it is immune to all conditions. If it is forced to make a saving throw, treat its ability scores as 10 (+0). If it finishes a short or long rest, the carapace heals, any destroyed hearts regenerate, and the hearts are covered again. The ember swallower dies when all the hearts are destroyed.

Ember Swallower

The ember swallower is a molten rock elemental in the shape of a manticore.

Actions

Multiattack. The ember swallower makes four attacks: one with its bite, one with its sting, and two with its claws.

Bite. Melee Weapon Attack: +5 to hit, reach 5 ft., one target. Hit: 7 (1d8 + 3) piercing damage and 10 (2d6 +3) fire damage.

Legendary Actions

The ember swallower can take 3 legendary actions, choosing from the options below. Only one legendary action option can be used at a time and only at the end of another creature's turn. The ember swallower regains spent legendary actions at the start of its turn.

Mythic Actions

If ember swallower's mythic trait is active, it can use the options below as legendary actions for 1 hour after using Hearts of the Beast.

Erupt. The ember swallower dies erupts fire and magma. Each creature within 10 feet of it must make a DC 11 Dexterity saving throw, taking 7 (2d6) fire damage on a failed save, or half as much damage on a successful one. Flammable objects that aren't being worn or carried in that area are ignited.

Humbler. As long as there is at least one other elemental within 100 feet of the elemental, this elemental and all elementals in that range gain the following ability:

• Trample. The elemental can move in and out of a Huge or smaller creature's space. If it would, it uses a bonus action to attack that creature with a melee attack. That creature must succeed on a DC 15 Strength saving throw or be knocked prone. If the creature succeeds, the elemental can't enter that space and must end its turn immediately. Challenge 14 (11500 XP)

False Appearance. As long as the elemental doesn't have a whirlpool, it is indistinguishable from normal submarine rocks.

Glowing Eyes and Mouth. The elemental's eyes and mouth remain closed and undetectable except when it is awake. An orange glow penetrates the water where its eyes and mouth are when they are opened.

Mouth. The mouth of the elemental is solid rock, 20 feet thick. It opens only during a Whirlpool or a Regurgitate action, then closes promptly when that event is complete.

Stomach. The stomach of the elemental is an undersea cavern that glows bright orange at the bottom. During a Regurgitate, the floor of the cavern rises to meet the elemental's mouth, causing everything inside it to be expelled. Conversely, the cavern's floor sinks 100 feet from the mouth during a Whirlpool. At all times, the stomach is completely filled with water, regardless of its size.

The sea is always hungry.

Actions

Whirlpool (3/day; Recharges after a Regurgitate). The elemental opens its mouth, creating a vortex that is 50 feet wide at the base, up to 500 feet wide at the top, and 250 feet tall. Any creature or object in the water and within 250 feet of the vortex is pulled 50 (1d4 * 25) feet toward the center. A creature can swim away from the vortex by making a DC 9 Strength (Athletics) check.

When a creature enters the vortex for the first time on a turn or starts its turn there, it must make a Strength saving throw. On a failed save, the creature takes 2d8 bludgeoning damage and is caught in the vortex until the spell ends. On a successful save, the creature takes half damage, and isn't caught in the vortex. A creature caught in the vortex can use its action to try to swim away from the vortex as described above, but has disadvantage on the Strength (Athletics) check to do so.

The first time each turn that an object enters the vortex, the object takes 2d8 bludgeoning damage; this damage occurs each round it remains in the vortex.

An object or creature that is 50 feet or less from the mouth of the elemental becomes swallowed.

The whirlpool lasts 10 rounds, and the elemental may not take a Regurgitate action until after the whirlpool is complete.

Smash. Melee Weapon Attack: +10 to hit, reach 5 ft., one target that is in the elemental's whirlpool. Hit: 22 (2d8 + 5) bludgeoning damage.

Regurgitate (3/day; Recharges after a Whirlpool is completed). The elemental opens its mouth and belches, creating a 20-foot tall wave that travels from its mouth for 100 feet and then crashes down. Any Huge or smaller vehicles in the wave's path are carried with it to the other side. Any Huge or smaller vehicles struck by the wave have a 25 percent chance of capsizing.

Anything the elemental has swallowed is expelled with this water.

WAVE ELEMENTAL

A wave elemental can only exist as long as the magic that buffs it exists. Certain hydromancers are capable of animating and buffing these waves.

Invisible in Water. The elemental is invisible while fully immersed in water.

Trampling Charge. If the elemental moves at least 20 feet straight toward a creature and then hits it with a hooves attack on the same turn, that target must succeed on a DC 12 Strength saving throw or be knocked prone. If the target is prone, the elemental can make another attack with its hooves against it as a bonus action.

Water Bound. The elemental dies if it leaves the water to which it is bound or that water is destroyed.

Actions

Olive Stake Weakness. If the lion takes piercing damage from a stake made of olive wood, the lion loses its Lion's Blessing and (if it had it) its indestructibility.

Pounce. If the lion moves at least 20 feet straight toward a creature and then hits it with a claw attack on the same turn, that target must succeed on a DC 14 Strength saving throw or be knocked prone. If the target is prone, the lion can make one bite attack against it as a bonus action.

Running Leap. With a 10-foot running start, the lion can long jump up to 25 feet.

Lion's Blessing (Mythic Trait; Recharges after a Short or Long Rest). If the lion drops to 0 hit points, it doesn't die or fall unconscious. Instead, it gains 7 (1d10+2) hit points and the following traits:

- Indestructible. The lion can't be destroyed, and having 0 or less hit points doesn't kill it.
- Spell Turning. The lion has advantage on saving throws against any spell that targets only the lion (not an area). If the lion's saving throw succeeds and the spell is of 4th level or lower, the spell has no effect on the lion and instead targets the caster.

Actions

Multiattack. The lion makes two attacks: one with its bite and one with its claw.

Bite. Melee Weapon Attack: +6 to hit, reach 5 ft., one target. Hit: 8 (1d8 + 4) piercing damage.

Claw. Melee Weapon Attack: +6 to hit, reach 5 ft., one target. Hit: 7 (1d6 + 4) slashing damage.

Legendary Actions

The lion can take 2 legendary actions, choosing from the options below. Only one legendary action option can be used at a time and only at the end of another creature's turn. The lion regains spent legendary actions at the start of its turn.

Claw. The lion makes one claw attack.

Roar (Costs 2 Actions). The lion emits a magical roar. Each creature within 60 feet of the lion that can hear the roar must succeed on a DC 12 Wisdom saving throw or be frightened of the lion until the end of the lion's next turn.

Fleshmad Steed

Theros has regular horses, it also has carnivorous mutant horses.

Fleshmad. These six-legged horses are afflicted with a curse of constantly peeling, evaporating, and melting flesh, driving them to madness. To replenish their lost flesh, they must feed on the flesh of humans. Such a feast has a temporary calming effect on the horses.

More disturbing than the unknown is a distortion of the familiar.

GRAVEROBBER SPIDER

The graverobber spider is a massive trapdoor spider. The traps it builds are cavernous, and as it excavates, it devours those buried in its path.

Cloaks woven from its webs are durable and waterproof but said to bring on nightmares.

Web Walker. The spider ignores movement restrictions caused by webbing.

Actions

Bite. Melee Weapon Attack: +5 to hit, reach 10 ft., one creature. Hit: 20 (4d8 + 2) piercing damage, and the target must make a DC 14 Constitution saving throw, taking 18 (4d8) poison damage on a failed save, or half as much damage on a successful one. If the poison damage reduces the target to 0 hit points, the target is stable but poisoned for 1 hour, even after regaining hit points, and is paralyzed while poisoned in this way.

Digest. The spider vomits digestive juices on a target that has a speed of 5 feet or less or is incapacitated. At the beginning of that target's turn, as long as less than three rounds of combat have passed and the juice has not been rinsed off, the target takes 9 (2d8) acid damage.

Consume. The spider makes a bite attack on a target that it has vomited digestive juices on. For every point of damage dealt, the spider gains that many temporary hit points.

Web (Recharge 5-6). Ranged Weapon Attack: +3 to hit, range 30/60 ft., one creature. Hit: The target is restrained by webbing. As an action, the restrained target can make a DC 12 Strength check, bursting the webbing on a success. The webbing can also be attacked and destroyed (AC 10; hp 5; vulnerability to fire damage; immunity to bludgeoning, poison, and psychic damage).

Usage Notes

Players familiar with this monster may find the choice too simple. In order to add greater relevance to the tribute, consider the following scenarios:

- One or more hydra cultists might be nearby who will pay tribute.
- A quest goal might involve securing a hydra head trophy.
- A quest goal might involve vanquishing or protecting the hydra.
- The hydra could be positioned near a particularly difficultto-fight creature and engage in combat with it.

Expect Tribute. Immediately after initiative rolls in which the hydra participates, it expects tribute from a creature within 60 feet that it can see, but does not reveal which one or indicate it expects the tribute. Tribute may be paid by bowing, genuflecting, saluting, or a similar gesture.

If by the beginning of the hydra's first turn in combat the creature it selected (see "Expect Tribute") has paid it tribute, the hydra uses an action to attack itself 6 times, dealing 25 damage to itself each time.

Hold Breath. The hydra can hold its breath for 1 hour.

Multiple Heads. The hydra has ten heads. Whenever the hydra takes 25 or more damage in a single turn, one of its heads dies. If all its heads die, the hydra dies. At the end of its turn, it grows two heads for each of its heads that died since its last turn, unless it has taken fire damage since its last turn. The hydra regains 10 hit points for each head regrown in this way.

Reactive Heads. For each head the hydra has beyond one, it gets an extra reaction that can be used only for opportunity attacks.

Special Heads. Of the hydra's original ten heads, one can breathe fire and one can breathe poisonous gas. If one of these heads falls off, the two heads that replace it have the same breath traits as the one that was severed. When a head with poisonous breath makes a bite attack, it deals an additional 7 (2d6) poison damage, and when a head with fire breath makes a bite attack, it deals an additional 7 (2d6) fire damage.

Wakeful. While the hydra sleeps, at least one of its heads is awake.

Hydra Heads. The hydra has three hydra heads. Each head is a separate creature. If all its heads die, the hydra dies.

At the end of its turn, it grows two heads for each of its heads that died since its last turn, unless it has taken fire damage since its last turn. The hydra regains 10 hit points for each head regrown in this way.

The hydra's heads are friendly to one another. Its heads are attached to its body by 10-foot necks.

To determine which type of head the hydra grows, roll a d20 twice on the Head Type table.

d20 Head Type

- 1 The head doesn't regrow this turn. Roll an extra time next turn.
- 2-13 Hydra head

14-17 Ravenous brute head

- 18 Savage vigor head
- 19 Snapping fang head
- 20 Shrieking titan head

Actions

Unpredictable. Roll a d20 on the Effect table.

d20 Effect

1-3 Disorienting Glower. On its next turn, as its action, one of the hydra's heads casts a disorienting glower at a non-head creature. That creature must succeed on a DC 10 Wisdom saving throw or become frightened of the hydra and its heads for 1 minute.

d20 Action

- 4-6 Distract the Hydra. If there is a corpse within 60 feet of the hydra, the hydra moves up to its speed toward the corpse. Each of its heads has a 50% chance of spending its next turn eating that corpse.
- 7 Grown from the Stump. If the hydra would grow any heads this turn, it grows one additional head.
- 8 Hydra's Impenetrable Hide If any of the hydra's heads would be reduced to 0 hit points before the hydra's next turn, it is reduced instead to 1.
- 9 Neck Tangle. If the hydra has at least five heads, two of them become grappled by one another's necks, escape DC 17 Strength. While tangled, those heads can't move more than 5 feet from one another.
- 10 Noxious Hydra Breath. The hydra exhales a poison gas, and each head that isn't incapacitated deals 5 necrotic damage to any non-head creature within 5 feet of that head.
- 11 Strike the Weak Spot. Immediately after the hydra's turn ends, up to one damaged head falls off the hydra and dies. If it was an elite head, the hydra immediately takes an additional turn.
- 12–14 Swallow the Hero Whole. Until the hydra's next turn, the next successful bite attack a head makes against a Medium or smaller target causes that head to swallow that target. The swallowed target is blinded and restrained, it has total cover against attacks and other effects outside the hydra, and it takes 10 (3d6) acid damage at the start of each of the hydra's turns. The hydra can have only one target swallowed at a time. If the hydra dies, a swallowed creature is no longer restrained by it and can escape from the corpse using 10 feet of movement, exiting prone.
- 15–16 Torn Between Heads. Until the hydra's next turn, whenever a head bites a creature, it grapples that creature (escape DC 15). If two or more heads grapple the same creature, that creature takes 1d6 piercing damage per head that is grappling it each time a new head grapples it. The grapple ends at the start of the hydra's next turn.
- 17–20 Unified Lunge. All the hydra's heads make a bonus bite action simultaneously if possible.

Amphibious. The kraken can breathe air and water.

Forceful Breach. If the kraken breaches the surface, it creates a massive wave that pushes all Huge and smaller floating objects, structures, and creatures within a 500-foot radius 100 feet away from the kraken. If the kraken makes a bite attack as it breaches, targets it bites aren't affected by the forceful breach.

Siege Monster. The kraken deals double damage to objects and structures.

Actions

Multiattack. The kraken makes two arm attacks, each of which it can replace with one use of Fling.

Bite. Melee Weapon Attack: +13 to hit, reach 5 ft., one target. Hit: 60 (12d8 + 6) piercing damage. If the target is a Large or smaller creature grappled by the kraken, that creature is swallowed, and the grapple ends. While swallowed, the creature is blinded and restrained, it has total cover against attacks and other effects outside the kraken, and it takes 42 (12d6) acid damage at the start of each of the kraken's turns. If the kraken takes 50 damage or more on a single turn from a creature inside it, the kraken must succeed on a DC 21 Constitution saving throw at the end of that turn or regurgitate all swallowed creatures, which fall prone in a space within 10 feet of the kraken. If the kraken dies, a swallowed creature is no longer restrained by it and can escape from the corpse using 15 feet of movement, exiting prone.

Arm. Melee Weapon Attack: +13 to hit, reach 10 ft., one target. Hit: 27 (6d6 + 6) bludgeoning damage, and the target is grappled (escape DC 15). The kraken has two arms. Until this grapple ends, the target is restrained and the kraken cannot make attacks with that arm.

Fling. One Large or smaller object held or creature grappled by the kraken's arm is thrown up to 60 feet in a random direction and knocked prone. If a thrown target strikes a solid surface, the target takes 3 (1d6) bludgeoning damage for every 10 feet it was thrown. If the target is thrown at another creature, that creature must succeed on a DC 16 Dexterity saving throw or take the same damage and be knocked prone.

Hearts of the Kraken (Mythic Trait; Recharges after a Short or Long Rest). When the kraken drops to 0 hit points, it doesn't die or fall unconscious. Instead, the damage creates tears in its hide, revealing its hearts, and the kraken. The kraken has four hearts: two on its chest, one on its back, and one at the base of its tail. A heart has an AC of 20 and 165 (10d20+60) hit points. It is immune to bludgeoning, piercing, and slashing damage from nonmagical attacks, and it is immune to all conditions. If it is forced to make a saving throw, treat its ability scores as 10 (+0). If it finishes a short or long rest, the carapace heals, any destroyed hearts regenerate, and the hearts are covered again. The kraken dies when all the hearts are destroyed.

Siege Monster. The kraken deals double damage to objects and structures.

Actions

Multiattack. The kraken makes two claw attacks, each of which it can replace with one use of Fling.

The shipbreaker kraken is a serpent with a six-clawed crab where its head should be.

Bite. Melee Weapon Attack: +14 to hit, reach 5 ft., one target. Hit: 60(12d8 + 6) piercing damage. If the target is a Large or smaller creature grappled by the kraken, that creature is swallowed, and the grapple ends. While swallowed, the creature is blinded and restrained, it has total cover against attacks and other effects outside the kraken, and it takes 42 (12d6) acid damage at the start of each of the kraken's turns. If the kraken takes 50 damage or more on a single turn from a creature inside it, the kraken must succeed on a DC 22 Constitution saving throw at the end of that turn or regurgitate all swallowed creatures, which fall prone in a space within 10 feet of the kraken. If the kraken dies, a swallowed creature is no longer restrained by it and can escape from the corpse using 15 feet of movement, exiting prone.

Constrict. Melee Weapon Attack: +14 to hit, reach 10 ft., one target. Hit: 27 (6d6 + 6) bludgeoning damage, and the target is grappled (escape DC 16). Until this grapple ends, the target is restrained and the kraken cannot constrict another target.

Fling. One Large or smaller object held or creature grappled by the kraken's claw is thrown up to 60 feet in a random direction and knocked prone. If a thrown target strikes a solid surface, the target takes 3 (1d6) bludgeoning damage for every 10 feet it was thrown. If the target is thrown at another creature, that creature must succeed on a DC 17 Dexterity saving throw or take the same damage and be knocked prone.

Claw. Melee Weapon Attack: +3 to hit, reach 5 ft., one target. Hit: 50 (8d10 + 6) bludgeoning damage, and the target is grappled, escape DC 22. The crab has six claws, each of which can grapple only one target.

Amphibious. The kraken can breathe air and water.

Freedom of Movement. The kraken ignores difficult terrain, and magical effects can't reduce its speed or cause it to be restrained. It can spend 5 feet of movement to escape from nonmagical restraints or being grappled.

Limited Magic Immunity. The kraken can't be affected or detected by spells of 6th level or lower unless it wishes to be. It has advantage on saving throws against all other spells and magical effects.

Siege Monster. The kraken deals double damage to objects and structures.

Willing Servant. As long as the kraken maintains a telepathic bond with a master, the kraken gets a +2 bonus on Strength and Dexterity checks, and its hit points and hit point maximum increase by 210 (20d20) until that bond is broken.

Most see krakens as wantonly violent, failing to notice their meticulous attention to detail when dismantling a vessel.

Actions

Multiattack. The kraken makes three tentacle attacks, each of which it can replace with one use of Fling.

Bite. Melee Weapon Attack: +21 to hit or +23 to hit if following a command, reach 5 ft., one target. Hit: 50 (10d8 + 5) piercing damage or 70 (14d8 + 7) piercing damage if following a command. If the target is a Large or smaller creature grappled by the kraken, that creature is swallowed, and the grapple ends. While swallowed, the creature is blinded and restrained, it has total cover against attacks and other effects outside the kraken, and it takes 42 (12d6) acid damage at the start of each of the kraken's turns. If the kraken takes 50 damage or more on a single turn from a creature inside it, the kraken must succeed on a DC 15 Constitution saving throw at the end of that turn, or regurgitate all swallowed creatures, which fall prone in a space within 10 feet of the kraken. If the kraken dies, a swallowed creature is no longer restrained by it and can escape from the corpse using 15 feet of movement, exiting prone.

Tentacle. Melee Weapon Attack: +21 to hit or +23 to hit if following a command, reach 30 ft., one target. Hit: 40 (10d6 + 5) bludgeoning damage or 56 (14d6 + 7) bludgeoning damage if following a command, and the target is grappled (escape DC 15). Until this grapple ends, the target is restrained. The kraken has ten tentacles, each of which can grapple one target.

Fling. One Large or smaller object held or creature grappled by the kraken is thrown up to 60 feet in a random direction and knocked prone. If a thrown target strikes a solid surface, the target takes 3 (1d6) bludgeoning damage for every 10 feet it was thrown. If the target is thrown at another creature, that creature must succeed on a DC 16 Dexterity saving throw or take the same damage and be knocked prone.

Lightning Storm. The kraken magically creates three bolts of lightning, each of which can strike a target the kraken can see within 120 feet of it. A target must make a DC 23 Dexterity saving throw, taking 22 (4d10) lightning damage on a failed save, or half as much damage on a successful one.

Drop Tentacles: If the kraken takes 100 or more damage to one tentacle in a single round, that tentacle falls off.

Extremely Heavy. The kraken can survive for 3 hours on land. Every turn thereafter, the kraken takes 1 bludgeoning damage for every turn it remains on land. This damage comes from its weight crushing it, so being magically lifted, being given a flying speed, or other means of the DM's discretion can prevent it. Additionally, the kraken takes double the normal damage from falling, but if it falls onto a creature, that creature takes an equal amount of bludgeoning damage.

Massive Lungs. The kraken can hold its breath for 90 minutes. The kraken won't lose its held breath as a result of damage.

Actions

Tentacles. Melee Weapon Attack: +8 to hit, reach 10 ft., one target.

Hit: 9 (3d6 + 6) bludgeoning plus 7 (2d6) piercing damage and the target is grappled (escape DC 20 Strength). It can release a grappled creature as a free action.

Miss: If the target isn't fully underwater and the tentacle used for the attack is above the surface, the tentacle slaps the surface of the water, dealing 4 (1d8) bludgeoning damage to the target. If the tentacle was grappling anything, it isn't anymore.

Mythic Actions

If the octopus's mythic trait is active, it can use the options below as legendary actions for 1 hour after using Hearts of the Octopus.

Flood (Costs 2 Actions). The octopus splashes water from the sea, causing the water level of all standing water in a 100-foot cube area around it to rise by as much as 20 feet. If the area includes a shore, the flooding water spills over onto dry land.

If the octopus isn't near land, it instead creates a 20foot tall wave that travels from one side of the area to the other and then crashes down. Any Huge or smaller vehicles in the wave's path are carried with it to the other side. Any Huge or smaller vehicles struck by the wave have a 25 percent chance of capsizing.

Water that doesn't run off the land back into the sea gradually disappears over the course of 14 days.

Challenge 15 (13000 XP)

Splash. Whenever the serpent strikes the surface of the water after a breach, it creates a massive splash, causing the water level of all standing water in a 100-foot cube area around it to rise by as much as 20 feet. If the area includes a shore, the flooding water spills over onto dry land.

If the serpent isn't near land, it instead creates a 20foot tall wave that travels from one side of the area to the other and then crashes down. Any Huge or smaller vehicles in the wave's path are carried with it to the other side. Any Huge or smaller vehicles struck by the wave have a 25 percent chance of capsizing.

Water that doesn't run off the land back into the sea gradually disappears over the course of 14 days.

Submarine Nature. If the serpent is underwater, it stays submerged except when breaching. After breaching, if it lands on water, it submerges once again.

"Pray to Thassa for what? A bigger monster to eat it? A wave that can wash it away? What then?" —Lindos, merchant of Meletis

Swallow. When a Large or smaller creature is bitten by the serpent, or when it is in the serpent's path as it breaches (but before it falls), it must succeed on a DC 11 Dexterity saving throw or be swallowed by the serpent. A swallowed creature is blinded and restrained, it has total cover against attacks and other effects outside the serpent, and it takes 21 (6d6) acid damage at the start of each of the serpent's turns.

If the serpent takes 30 damage or more on a single turn from a creature inside it, the serpent must succeed on a DC 17 Constitution saving throw at the end of that turn or regurgitate all swallowed creatures, which fall prone in a space within 10 feet of the serpent. If the serpent dies, a swallowed creature is no longer restrained by it and can escape from the corpse by using 20 feet of movement, exiting prone.

Water Breathing. The serpent can breathe only underwater.

Actions

Bite. Melee Weapon Attack: +9 to hit, reach 10 ft., one target. Hit: 40 (8d8 + 4) piercing damage. (See the Swallow trait.)

Breach (Recharge 5-6). The serpent breaches at a 45 degree angle to the surface, its head reaching an apex height of 110 ft. It does this with its mouth open. It attempts to swallow Large or smaller creatures that it intercepts this way, and bites Huge or larger creatures. (See the Swallow trait.) It then closes its mouth and falls back into the water, striking the surface as it does so. (See the Splash trait.)

Prophetic Fulfilment. If any creature tries to catch the fox, it fails. If a paradox is formed in this way because that creature cannot fail, both that creature and the fox become petrified.

Trample. The fox can move in and out of a Large or smaller creature's space. If it would, it uses a bonus action to attack that creature with its paw. That creature must succeed on a DC 16 Strength saving throw or be knocked prone. If the creature succeeds, the fox can't enter that space and must end its turn immediately. If the fox stops on top of that creature, that creature becomes restrained until the fox moves off it (escape DC 16).

Battle Readiness. The warrior has advantage on initiative rolls.

Charge. If the warrior moves at least 30 feet straight toward a target and then hits it with a melee attack on the same turn, it can immediately follow that attack with a bonus action, making one attack against the target with its hooves.

Dark Devotion. The fanatic has advantage on saving throws against being charmed or frightened.

Demand Tribute. Immediately after initiative rolls in which the fanatic participates, it demands an offering for Xenagos from a creature it can see. That creature may give something to the fanatic as a bonus action.

If the offering is acceptable: Until the end of combat, the fanatic gains a +1 bonus to damage rolls and Strength and Dexterity checks, and it gains 4 (1d8) hit points.

If the offering isn't acceptable or isn't made: The fanatic uses a bonus action to make one attack.

Equine Build. The warrior counts as one size larger when determining its carrying capacity and the weight it can push or drag.

In addition, any climb that requires hands and feet is especially difficult for it because of its equine legs. When it makes such a climb, each foot of movement costs it 4 extra feet instead of the normal 1 extra foot.

Improved Critical. The warrior's attack rolls score a critical hit on a roll of 19 or 20 on the d20.

Spellcasting. The fanatic is a 4th-level spellcaster. Its spell casting ability is Wisdom (spell save DC 12, +6 to hit with spell attacks). The fanatic has the following cleric spells prepared:

Cantrips (at will): light, sacred flame, thaumaturgy

1st level (4 slots): command, inflict wounds, shield of faith

2nd level (3 slots): hold person, spiritual weapon

Trample. The fanatic can move in and out of a Medium or smaller creature's space. If it would, it uses a bonus action to attack that creature with its hooves. That creature must succeed on a DC 13 Strength saving throw or be knocked prone. If the creature succeeds, the fanatic can't enter that space and must end its turn immediately. If the fanatic stops on top of that creature, that creature becomes restrained until the fanatic moves off it (escape DC 13).

Actions

Multiattack. The fanatic makes four melee attacks.

Hooves. Melee Weapon Attack: +7 to hit, reach 5 ft., one target. Hit: 5 (1d4 + 3) bludgeoning damage.

THUNDER BRUTE

A thunder brute is a cyclops that has special lightning and thunder powers.

USAGE NOTES

Players familiar with this monster may find the choice too simple. In order to add greater relevance to the tribute, consider the following scenarios:

- One or more cyclops cultists might be nearby who will pay tribute.
- A valuable (but flammable) object might be positioned near the cyclops.
- A quest goal might involve protecting or destroying a structure that is near the cyclops.
- A quest goal might involve protecting or vanquishing the cyclops.
- A quest goal might involve protecting a creature that is near the cyclops.

Demand Tribute. Immediately after initiative rolls in which the cyclops participates, it demands tribute from a creature it can see. That creature may bow, genuflect, salute, or perform a similar gesture as a bonus action.

If tribute is paid: Until the end of combat, the cyclops gains a permanent +3 bonus to damage rolls and Strength and Dexterity checks, and 315 (30d20) temporary hit points.

If tribute isn't paid: The cyclops pounds the earth, dealing 30 (10d4+5) thunder damage to every creature and object on the ground (including walls) within a 15foot radius.

Lightning Aura. At the start of each of the cyclops's turns, each grounded creature within 5 feet of it takes 10 (3d6) lightning damage, and flammable objects in the aura that aren't being worn or carried ignite. A creature that touches the cyclops or hits it with a melee attack while within 5 feet of it takes 10 (3d6) lightning damage.

Poor Depth Perception. The cyclops has disadvantage on any attack roll against a target more than 30 feet away.

Siege Monster. The cyclops deals double damage to objects and structures.

Titanic Nature. Unless provoked, the cyclops ignores all nonflying things that are Huge or smaller and all flying things that are Large or smaller. Trample. The cyclops can move in and out of a Huge or smaller creature's space. If it would, it uses a bonus action to attack that creature with its unarmed strike. That creature must succeed on a DC 15 Strength saving throw or be knocked prone. If the creature succeeds, the cyclops can't enter that space and must end its turn immediately. If the cyclops stops on top of that creature, that creature becomes restrained until the cyclops moves off it (escape DC 15).

Actions

Multiattack. The cyclops makes two unarmed strikes.

Unarmed Strike. Melee Weapon Attack: +12 to hit, reach 10 ft., one target. Hit: 30 (10d4 + 5) bludgeoning damage.

Lightning Strike (Recharge 5-6). The cyclops hurls a magic lightning bolt at a point it can see within 500 feet of it. Each creature within 10 feet of that point must make a DC 17 Dexterity saving throw, taking 54 (12d8) lightning damage on a failed save, or half as much damage on a successful one.

Thunderclap (Recharge 4-5). The cyclops claps its hands together. Each creature within a 20-foot radius from the cyclops takes 10 (1d10+5) thunder damage.

If tribute isn't paid, the demolok takes a bonus action to move up to its speed and attack an object or structure. Goring Rush. Immediately after the demolok uses the Dash action on its turn and moves at least 50 feet, it can make one melee attack with its horns as a bonus action.

Siege Monster. The demolok deals double damage to objects and structures.

Trampling Charge. If the demolok moves at least 50 feet straight toward a creature and then hits it with a gore attack on the same turn, that target must succeed on a DC 20 Strength saving throw or be knocked prone. If the target is prone, the demolok can make one stomp attack against it as a bonus action.

Actions

Claw. Melee Weapon Attack: +12 to hit, reach 10 ft., one target. Hit: 30 (10d4 + 5) slashing damage.

Horns. Melee Weapon Attack: +12 to hit, reach 10 ft., one target. Hit: 40 (10d6 + 5) piercing damage, and the demolok can use a bonus action to attempt to shove that target with its horns. The target must be within 10 feet of the demolok. Unless the target succeeds on a DC 20 Strength saving throw, the demolok pushes it up to 20 feet away from the demolok.

Ram. Melee Weapon Attack: +12 to hit, reach 10 ft., one target. Hit: 30 (10d4 + 5) bludgeoning damage.

Usage Notes

Players familiar with this monster may find the choice too simple. In order to add greater relevance to the tribute, consider the following scenarios:

- One or more demolok cultists might be nearby with children, ready to pay tribute.
- A quest goal might involve protecting or destroying a structure that is near the demolok.
- A quest goal might involve protecting or vanquishing a demolok.
- A quest goal might involve protecting a child that is about to be sacrificed to the demolok.

DRAGONS

Most dragons on Theros are reclusive beasts barely capable of speech. They are aggressive and smart, but if outsmarted, they might be convinced in their vanity to share secrets they have learned in their years. The dragons of Theros are mostly firebreathing, though others exist. Their lairs are typically beneath volcanoes.

FORGESTOKER DRAGON

A forgestoker dragon is so called for its fiery breath.

The Akroans fashion their helms to honor the dragons, not to protect against them, as that would be of little help.

Tail. Melee Weapon Attack: +12 to hit, reach 20 ft., one target. Hit: 14 (2d8 + 5) bludgeoning damage.

Frightful Presence. Each creature of the dragon's choice that is within 120 feet of the dragon and aware of it must succeed on a DC 21 Wisdom saving throw or become frightened for 1 minute. A creature can repeat the saving throw at the end of each of its turns, ending the effect on itself on a success. If a creature's saving throw is successful or the effect ends for it, the creature is immune to the dragon's Frightful Presence for the next 24 hours.

Fire Breath (Recharge 5-6). The dragon exhales fire in a 90-foot cone. Each creature in that area must make a DC 24 Dexterity saving throw, taking 91 (26d6) fire damage on a failed save, or half as much damage on a successful one.

Legendary Actions

The ancient red dragon can take 3 legendary actions, choosing from the options below. Only one legendary action option can be used at a time and only at the end of another creature's turn. The ancient red dragon regains spent legendary actions at the start of its turn.

- Detect. The dragon makes a Wisdom (Perception) check.
- Tail Attack. The dragon makes a tail attack.
- Wing Attack (Costs 2 Actions). The dragon beats its wings. Each creature within 15 ft. of the dragon must succeed on a DC 25 Dexterity saving throw or take 12 (2d6 + 5) bludgeoning damage and be knocked prone. The dragon can then fly up to half its flying speed.

Spawn of Thraxes

Spawns of Thraxes are capable of awakening volcanoes.

LAIR ACTIONS

On initiative count 20 (losing initiative ties), the dragon takes a lair action to cause one of the following effects; the dragon can't use the same effect two rounds in a row:

- Magma erupts from a point on the ground the dragon can see within 120 feet of it, creating a 20-foot-high, 5-footradius geyser. Each creature in the geyser's area must make a DC 15 Dexterity saving throw, taking 21 (6d6) fire damage on a failed save, or half as much damage on a successful one.
- A tremor shakes the lair in a 60-foot radius around the dragon. Each creature other than the dragon on the ground in that area must succeed on a DC 15 Dexterity saving throw or be knocked prone.
- Volcanic gases form a cloud in a 20-foot-radius sphere centered on a point the dragon can see within 120 feet of it. The sphere spreads around corners, and its area is lightly obscured. It lasts until initiative count 20 on the next round. Each creature that starts its turn in the cloud must succeed on a DC 13 Constitution saving throw or be poisoned until the end of its turn. While poisoned in this way, a creature is incapacitated.

REGIONAL EFFECTS

The region containing a legendary Thraxite spawn's lair is warped by the dragon's magic, which creates one or more of the following effects:

- Small earthquakes are common within 6 miles of the dragon's lair.
- Water sources within 1 mile of the lair are supernaturally warm and tainted by sulfur.
- Rocky fissures within 1 mile of the dragon's lair form portals to the hottest parts of the underworld, allowing creatures of elemental fire into the world to dwell nearby.

If the dragon dies, these effects fade over the course of 1d10 days.

GORGONS

The gorgons of Theros are beautiful anguipede women with snake hair. Any creature who looks directly at the face of a gorgon becomes petrified.

Gorgons are masters of medicine, and secrets they share with other mortals have led to many advances in medical science.

Gorgon's Trial. The gorgon is an expert in extending its own life to near-immortality, and it enjoys a high-stake deal. If a creature successfully restrains the gorgon, it will share one of its medicinal secrets in exchange for its freedom.

Petrifying Visage. As soon as a creature within 30 feet of the gorgon sees the gorgon's face, it may make a DC 14 Constitution saving throw. On a success, that creature may use a reaction to shield its eyes or avert them. If the saving throw fails by 5 or more, or if the creature is unable to react, the creature is instantly petrified. Otherwise, a creature that fails the save begins to turn to stone and is restrained. The restrained creature must repeat the saving throw at the end of its next turn, becoming petrified on a failure or ending the effect on a success. The petrification lasts until the creature is unpetrified by a god.

If the gorgon sees its own face reflected on a polished surface within 30 ft. of it and in an area of bright light, the gorgon is, due to its curse, affected by its own visage.

This trait has no effect if the gorgon's face is not its normal flesh state. The trait remains active even if the gorgon is incapacitated, killed, and even beheaded.

KEEPSAKE GORGON

The keepsake gorgon has a mythic ability that allows it to regenerate by shedding its skin.

Some gorgons are collectors, making "sculpture" gardens of their victims.

Shed Skin (Mythic Trait; Recharges after a Short or Long Rest). If the gorgon is reduced to 0 hit points, it doesn't die or fall unconscious. Instead, it sheds its skin, regains 15 (1d20+5) hit points, and moves up to its speed without provoking opportunity attacks.

Actions

Multiattack. The gorgon makes either three melee attacks—one with its snake hair, one to constrict, and one with its shortsword—or two ranged attacks with its longbow.

Constrict. Melee Weapon Attack: +2 to hit, reach 10 ft., one target. Hit: 7 (2d6) bludgeoning damage, and the target is grappled (escape DC 10) if it is a Large or smaller creature. Until this grapple ends, the target is restrained, and the gorgon can't constrict another target.

Snake Hair. Melee Weapon Attack: +4 to hit, reach 5 ft., one creature. Hit: 4 (1d4 + 2) piercing damage plus 14 (4d6) poison damage.

Longbow. Ranged Weapon Attack: +4 to hit, range 150/600 ft., one target. Hit: 6 (1d8 + 2) piercing damage plus 7 (2d6) poison damage.

Shortsword. Melee Weapon Attack: +4 to hit, reach 5 ft., one target. Hit: 5 (1d6 + 2) piercing damage.

Mythic Actions

If the gorgon's mythic trait is active, it can use the options below as legendary actions for 1 hour after using Shed Skin.

Look at Me (Costs 3 Actions). The gorgon can force a sighted creature it has grappled to see its face and be affected by its visage.

GORGON MISCONCEPTIONS

Some common misconceptions about the gorgons of Theros:

Myth. The gorgon petrifies with her eyes.

Fact. Anyone who sees the gorgon's face is petrified. The gorgon can even be asleep with her eyes closed, or dead. But a petrified gorgon can't petrify anyone.

Myth. All gorgons are immortal.

Fact. Some gorgons are immortal, but the rest can be killed by natural means.

Myth. A gorgon is immune to its own reflection. Fact. On other worlds, sure. But on Theros, if a mortal gorgon sees its face reflected in a mirror, it petrifies itself.

Daring Swap. At the beginning of the thief's turn, if the thief attacked a creature at any point since the thief's last turn, the thief may choose an object it knows that creature is carrying and an object the thief is carrying, and attempts to exchange possession of those objects as a bonus action. The objects must be roughly equal in size, shape, and weight; for example, a nail for a key, a rock for a piece of jewelry. The thief must know the exact location of the object it tries to obtain. The thief must succeed on a Dexterity (Sleight of Hand) check equal to that 8 + creature's proficiency bonus + that creature's Dexterity score.

MASTER THIEF

A master thief knows how to slip past even the best guards.

Honesty is the first casualty of war.

Battle Readiness. The champion has advantage on initiative rolls.

Improved Critical. The champion's attack rolls score a critical hit on a roll of 19 or 20 on the d20.

Heroic. Whenever the champion becomes targeted by a spell, that spell's caster chooses whether the champion may make a Shortsword attack as a bonus action.

Actions

Extra Attack. The champion can attack twice, instead of once, whenever it takes the Attack action on its turn.

Shortsword. Melee Weapon Attack: +7 to hit, reach 5 ft., one target. Hit: 5 (1d6 + 2) piercing damage.

On a success, the thief completes the swap successfully. If the thief succeeds by 4 or less, that creature saw the burglary but failed to prevent it. If the thief succeeds by the check by 5-9, that creature knows it has been burglarized, but doesn't know how or when it occurred. If the thief succeeds by 10 or more, that creature is oblivious to the swap until it notices the item has been replaced.

Actions

Multiattack. The thief makes three attacks with its dagger.

Dagger. Melee or Ranged Weapon Attack: +6 to hit, reach 5 ft. or range 20/60 ft., one target. Hit: 6 (1d4 + 4) piercing damage.

Reactions

Uncanny Dodge. The thief halves the damage that it takes from an attack that hits it. The thief must be able to see the attacker.

Saving Throws Str +4, Dex +4 Senses passive Perception 12 Languages Common Challenge 3 (700 XP)

Hold the Line. While the hoplite is holding a spear, other creatures provoke an opportunity attack from the hoplite when they move within 5 feet of it. When the hoplite hits a creature with an opportunity attack using its spear, the creature takes an extra 4 (1d8) piercing damage, and the creature's speed becomes 0 for the rest of the turn.

Heroic. Whenever the hoplite becomes targeted by a spell, that spell's caster may have the hoplite use its next action to bite a creature within reach. This bite attack reduces the bitten creature's hit point maximum by 4 (1d8) and gives the hoplite that many temporary hit points until the end of combat.

Until the bitten creature finishes a long rest, that creature has a -1 penalty to damage rolls and Strength and Dexterity checks, and the hoplite gains a +1 bonus to damage rolls and Strength and Dexterity checks until the end of combat. The bitten creature dies if this effect reduces its hit point maximum to 0.

Actions

Multiattack. The hoplite makes three melee attacks or two ranged attacks.

Spear. Melee or Ranged Weapon Attack: +4 to hit, reach 5 ft., or range 20/60 ft., one target. Hit: 5 (1d6 + 2) piercing damage, or 6 (1d8 + 2) piercing damage if used with two hands to make a melee attack.

Shield Bash. Melee Weapon Attack: +4 to hit, reach 5 ft., one creature. Hit: 4 (1d4 + 2) bludgeoning damage. If the target is a Medium or smaller creature, it must succeed on a DC 12 Strength saving throw or be knocked prone.

Multiattack. The hero has two chains. It makes one chain attack for each of its chains that aren't already grappling a target.

Chain. Melee Weapon Attack: +8 to hit, reach 10 ft., one target. Hit: 9 (2d6 + 2) slashing damage. The target is grappled (escape DC 14) if the hero isn't already grappling a creature. Until this grapple ends, the target is restrained and takes 7 (2d6) piercing damage at the start of each of its turns.

Blessings of the Gods. While the flamespeaker is wearing no armor and wielding no shield, its AC includes its Wisdom modifier. In addition, a creature that hits the flamespeaker with a melee attack while within 5 feet of it takes 9 (2d8) force damage.

Creation. Every time the flamespeaker deals damage, the fiery sparks create an anvilwrought golem in an unoccupied space within 5 feet of the target. The anvilwroughts are friendly to the flamespeaker.

Divine Influence. Just as oracles seek insights from interpreting the divine, so too do gods occasionally seek to manipulate the world through oracles. Sometimes a god might speak directly, be it with dramatic manifestations or direct possession of their servant. Although a deity's words might be steeped in metaphors, should a god wish to make their intentions clear, they often find dramatic ways to make their thoughts known.

Fiery Magic. The flamespeaker must use fiery magic for each of its spells and spell attacks, which deals 9 (2d8) magical fire damage to all creatures within 5 feet of it.

Innate Spellcasting. The flamespeaker's innate spellcasting ability is Wisdom (spell save DC 12, +4 to hit with spell attacks). It can innately cast the following spells, requiring no material components (but an additional component is required; see Fiery Magic above):

At will: guidance, light, thaumaturgy

3/day: bless, guiding bolt, healing word, hold person

1/day: augury, scrying

Interpreter of Signs. Oracles possess unparalleled experience in divining godly whims from cryptic visions and mundane forces. Those who receive divine omens might seek out an oracle to gain a clearer vision of the god's intentions. Finding an oracle, though, or one experienced in interpreting certain types of visions, might prove to be an adventure in its own right.

Trample. The flamespeaker can move in and out of a Medium or smaller creature's space. If it would, it uses a bonus action to attack that creature with its eldritch touch. That creature must succeed on a DC 13 Constitution saving throw or be knocked prone. If the creature succeeds, the flamespeaker can't enter that space and must end its turn immediately. If the flamespeaker stops on top of that creature, that creature becomes restrained until the flamespeaker moves off it (escape DC 10).

Actions

Multiattack. The flamespeaker makes two attacks.

Eldritch Touch. Melee Spell Attack: +4 to hit, reach 5 ft., one target. Hit: 4 (1d6 + 1) force damage. (See Fiery Magic above.)

Reactions

Divine Insight (3/Day). When the flamespeaker or a creature it can see makes an attack roll, a saving throw, or an ability check, the flamespeaker can cause the roll to be made with advantage or disadvantage.

Spellcasting. The oracle is a 9th-level spellcaster. Its spellcasting ability is Wisdom (spell save DC 16, +8 to hit with spell attacks). It has the following cleric spells prepared:

Cantrip (at will): mending, sacred flame, spare the dying

1st level (4 slots): divine favor, shield of faith

2nd level (3 slots): lesser restoration, magic weapon, prayer of healing, silence, spiritual weapon

3rd level (3 slots): beacon of hope, crusader's mantle, dispel magic, revivify, spirit guardians, wall of water

4th level (3 slots): banishment, freedom of movement, guardian of faith, stoneskin

5th level (1 slots): flame strike, mass cure wounds, hold monster

Unrenowned. The oracle has a -1 penalty on damage rolls and Strength and Dexterity checks, and its hit point total and maximum are each reduced by 4 (1d8). The first time the oracle deals damage to a player character, it loses this trait permanently.

Actions

Multiattack. The oracle makes two melee attacks.

Eldritch Mace. Melee Weapon Attack: +9 to hit, reach 5 ft., one target. Hit: 7 (1d6 + 4) force damage, and it regains that many hit points.

Reactions

Divine Insight (3/Day). When the oracle or a creature it can see makes an attack roll, a saving throw, or an ability check, the oracle can cause the roll to be made with advantage or disadvantage.

Guided Strike (1/Rest). The oracle grants a +10 bonus to an attack roll made by itself or another creature within 30 feet of it. The oracle can make this choice after the roll is made but before it hits or misses.

PHILOSOPHER

POLYPHARMAKON'S MENEGARIE

The sort of animal that the man becomes is usually related to their personality:

- Noble with magnanimous heart: lion
- Furious and rage-filled: bear
- Voracious and so starved that no food contents them: wolf
- Revels and sleeps instead of tending the fire: goat
- Malicious and annoying: fox
- Bending over for everyone: giraffe

9th level (1 slots): shapechange

Actions

Change Shape (2/Day). The polypharmakon magically polymorphs into a beast or elemental with a challenge rating of 6 or less, and can remain in this form for up to 9 hours. The polypharmakon can choose whether its equipment falls to the ground, melds with its new form, or is worn by the new form. The polypharmakon reverts to its true form if it dies or falls unconscious. The polypharmakon can revert to its true form using a bonus action on its turn.

While in a new form, the polypharmakon retains its game statistics and ability to speak, but its AC, movement modes, Strength, and Dexterity are replaced by those of the new form, and it gains any special senses, proficiencies, traits, actions, and reactions (except class features, legendary actions, and lair actions) that the new form has but that it lacks. It can cast its spells with verbal or somatic components in its new form.

Extra Turn (1/Short or Long Rest). If the sage is within 5 feet of a crank-style time-slowing machine it knows how to operate, it can use a bonus action to crank it. All buff spells targeting the sage end immediately. The sage takes an additional turn after this one.

Heroic. Whenever the sage becomes targeted by a spell, that spell's caster may take a bonus action to cast buff targeting the sage, requiring no components or spell slots. This buff can't trigger any Heroic traits.

Researcher. When the sage attempts to learn or recall a piece of lore, if it does not know that information, it often knows where and from whom it can obtain that information. Usually, this information comes from a library, scriptorium, university, or a sage or other learned person or creature. The DM might rule that the knowledge the sage seeks is secreted away in an almost inaccessible place, or that the knowledge simply cannot be found. Unearthing the deepest secrets of the multiverse can require an adventure or even a whole campaign.

SERPENT DANCER

Serpent dancers are slow-moving, but for good reason. Snakes tend not to discriminate between their trainer and other individuals, so every move the dancer makes must be made without upsetting the deadly creatures. Most serpent dancers work with snakes, but the more experienced serpent dancers find poisonous snakes more thrilling to handle.

Enthralling Performance. If the reveler performs for at least 1 minute, it chooses up to four mortals within 60 feet of it who watched or listened to the entire performance. Each target must succeed on a DC 13 Wisdom saving throw or be charmed. While charmed in this way, the target idolizes the reveler and will take part in the reveler's revels. The charmed condition ends for the creature after 1 hour, if it takes any damage, if the reveler attacks the target, or if the target witnesses the reveler attacking or damaging any of the target's allies.

Handle Serpent. Up to two serpents the dancer holds are not hostile to the dancer as long as the dancer controls its own actions, moves no more than 10 feet per turn, and does not take the Dash action or otherwise frighten or upset the serpents. While handling the serpents, the dancer has disadvantage on Dexterity saving throws against attacks from non-snakes.

Horrific Appearance. While the serpent dancer is handling a serpent, any mortal that starts its turn within 30 feet of the dancer and can see the dancer must make a DC 11 Wisdom saving throw. On a failed save, the creature is frightened for 1 minute. A creature can repeat the saving throw at the end of each of its turns, with disadvantage if the dancer is within line of sight, ending the effect on itself on a success. If a creature's saving throw is successful or the effect ends for it, the creature is immune to the dancer's Horrific Appearance for the next 24 hours.

Unless the target is surprised or the revelation that it holds a serpent is sudden, the target can avert its eyes and avoid making the initial saving throw. Until the start of its next turn, a creature that averts its eyes has disadvantage on attack rolls against the dancer.

Creatures of it chooses within 10 feet of itself that can hear it must succeed on a DC 13 Wisdom saving throw or become frightened of it until the end of the priest's next turn.

Heroic. Whenever the priest becomes targeted by a spell, that spell's caster chooses whether the priest may take a bonus action to cast raise dead targeting a leonin, requiring no components or spell slots.

Spellcasting. The priest is a 9th-level spellcaster. The priest's spellcasting ability is Wisdom (spell save DC 13, +5 to hit with spell attacks). The priest has the following cleric spells prepared:

Cantrip (at will): light, mending, sacred flame, spare the dying

Felhide Burial Rites. When another Felhide minotaur falls in combat, if the brawler is the only Felhide in a 120-foot radius, the brawler spends its turns running from combat. After one hour, it returns to its fallen comrades and eats them.

Gorgon's Head (Weapon). As soon as a creature within 30 feet of the head (including anyone wielding it) sees the head, it may make a DC 14 Constitution saving throw. On a success, that creature may use a reaction to shield its eyes or avert them. If the saving throw fails by 5 or more, or if the creature is unable to react, the creature is instantly petrified. Otherwise, a creature that fails the save begins to turn to stone and is restrained. The restrained creature must repeat the saving throw at the end of its next turn, becoming petrified on a failure or ending the effect on a success. The petrification lasts until the creature is unpetrified by a god.

This trait has no effect if the head's face is not its normal flesh state.

It's common practice among minotaurs to collect the heads of their victims as trophies. Sometimes the trophies prove more than ornamental.

Goring Rush. Immediately after the minotaur uses the Dash action on its turn and moves at least 20 feet, it can make one melee attack with its horns as a bonus action.

Improved Critical. The minotaur's attack rolls score a critical hit on a roll of 19 or 20 on the d20.

Provide Diversion. As long as it is holding the head of a gorgon, allies of the minotaur that it can see within 120 ft. can use a bonus action on their turn to do the following:

• Diversion. The allied creature points, cocks its head, or some other gesture to try to get other creatures to look away and look instead at the gorgon's head. Each creature that can see the ally must succeed on a DC 15 Wisdom saving throw or try to look in the direction of the head.

Actions

Multiattack. The minotaur makes two attacks.

Paint. The spiritbinder uses an action to paint an image of creature it can see using a special set of magic pigments. A painting made this way using already-prepared pigments takes 1 minute. If the spiritbinder loses sight of the creature or is interrupted, it must start over.

Spiritbind. The spiritbinder uses an action to touch one of its magic paintings, and says the magic words.

The painting becomes a duplicate of the subject after which it was painted. The duplicate is a magic creature, partially real and formed from magic, and it can take actions and otherwise be affected as both a normal creature and a spell. It is formed without any equipment. Otherwise, the illusion uses all the statistics of the creature it duplicates, except that it is a 2nd-level arcane conjuration in addition to its other types.

The spiritbound creature is friendly to the spiritbinder and creatures it designates. It takes its turn in combat immediately after it is created.

The spiritbound creature lasts until the end of its first turn, at which point it disintegrates into powder.

Fashioning itself as a chosen of Mogis, this minotaur is feared even among its own clan. In its pride, it delays joining in the battle just to prove to those around it how valuable its contribution to the effort is.

Battle Preparations. The minotaur cannot take an action on its first turn in combat.

Goring Rush. Immediately after the minotaur uses the Dash action on its turn and moves at least 20 feet, it can make one melee attack with its horns as a bonus action.

Rage of Mogis. Whenever the minotaur starts its turn with half its hit points or fewer, roll a d6. On a 6, the raider goes berserk. On each of its turns while berserk, the minotaur attacks the nearest non-minotaur creature it can see. If no non-minotaur creature is near enough to move to and attack, the minotaur attacks an object, with preference for an object smaller than itself. Once the minotaur goes berserk, it continues to do so until it is destroyed or regains all its hit points.

A creature within 60 feet of the berserk minotaur can try to calm it by speaking firmly and persuasively. The minotaur must be able to hear that creature, who must take an action to make a DC 20 Charisma (Persuasion) check. If the check succeeds, the minotaur ceases being berserk. If it takes damage while still at half hit points or fewer, the minotaur might go berserk again. Ragegore Hunger. The minotaur starves itself prior to battle. If it kills a creature and has not eaten, there is a 50% chance it will stop fighting to eat the corpse.

If the minotaur eats, each hostile creature that can see it must succeed on a DC 10 Wisdom saving throw or be frightened of the minotaur until the end of the minotaur's next turn.

If a hungry minotaur does not eat after a kill, it gets a +1 bonus to damage rolls until it eats.

Actions

Battleaxe. Melee Weapon Attack: +7 to hit, reach 5 ft., one target. Hit: 9 (1d8 + 5) slashing damage, or 10 (1d10 + 5) slashing damage if used with two hands to make a melee attack.

Horns. Melee Weapon Attack: +7 to hit, reach 5 ft., one target. Hit: 8 (1d6 + 5) piercing damage, and the minotaur can use a bonus action to attempt to shove that target with its horns. The target must be within 5 feet of the minotaur and Large or smaller. Unless the target succeeds on a DC 16 Strength saving throw, the minotaur pushes it up to 10 feet away from the minotaur.

Blessings of the Gods. While the shaman is wearing no armor and wielding no shield, its AC includes its Wisdom modifier. In addition, a creature that hits the shaman with a melee attack while within 5 feet of it takes 9 (2d8) force damage.

Divine Influence. Just the shaman seeks insights from interpreting the divine, so too does Mogis occasionally seek to manipulate the world through the shaman. Sometimes Mogis might speak directly, be it with dramatic manifestations or direct possession of the shaman. Although Mogis's words might be steeped in metaphors, should he wish to make his intentions clear, he often finds dramatic ways to make his thoughts known.

Goring Rush. Immediately after the shaman uses the Dash action on its turn and moves at least 20 feet, it can make one melee attack with its horns as a bonus action.

Innate Spellcasting. The shaman's innate spellcasting ability is Wisdom (spell save DC 12, +4 to hit with spell attacks). It can innately cast the following spells, requiring no material components:

At will: guidance, light, thaumaturgy

3/day: bless, guiding bolt, healing word, hold person

1/day: augury, scrying

Interpreter of Signs. The shaman possesses unparalleled experience in divining Mogis's whims from cryptic visions and mundane forces.

Ragegore Hunger. The minotaur starves itself prior to battle. If it kills a creature and has not eaten, there is a 50% chance it will stop fighting to eat the corpse.

If the minotaur eats, each hostile creature that can see it must succeed on a DC 11 Wisdom saving throw or be frightened of the minotaur until the end of the minotaur's next turn.

If a hungry minotaur does not eat after a kill, it gets a +1 bonus to damage rolls until it eats.

Trample. The shaman can move in and out of a Medium or smaller creature's space. If it would, it uses a bonus action to attack that creature with an unarmed strike. That creature must succeed on a DC 11 Strength saving throw or be knocked prone. If the creature succeeds, the shaman can't enter that space and must end its turn immediately. If the shaman stops on top of that creature, that creature becomes restrained until the shaman moves off it (escape DC 11).

Word of Hope. Other minotaur creatures within 30 feet of the shaman that can hear its continuous rantings roll an additional die when determining damage they deal, and they have 4 temporary hit points. They also have the Trample trait above.

This effect ends for any creature that is no longer within this radius or that can no longer hear the shaman, or if the shaman is silenced.

Actions

Eldritch Touch. Melee Spell Attack: +5 to hit, reach 5 ft., one target. Hit: 6 (1d6 + 3) force damage.

Horns. Melee Weapon Attack: +3 to hit, reach 5 ft., one target. Hit: 4 (1d6 + 1) piercing damage, and the shaman can use a bonus action to attempt to shove that target with its horns. The target must be within 5 feet of the shaman and no more than one size larger than it. Unless the target succeeds on a DC 11 Strength saving throw, the shaman pushes it up to 10 feet away from the shaman.

Unarmed Strike. Melee Weapon Attack: +3 to hit, reach 5 ft., one target. Hit: 3 (1d4 + 1) bludgeoning damage.

Reactions

Divine Insight (3/Day). When the shaman or a creature it can see makes an attack roll, a saving throw, or an ability check, the shaman can cause the roll to be made with advantage or disadvantage.

RECKLESS MINOTAUR

ORACLE OF BONES

Usage Notes

Players familiar with this monster may find the choice too simple. In order to add greater relevance to the tribute, consider the following scenarios:

- One or more cultists might be nearby who will pay tribute to the oracle.
- A quest goal might involve helping the oracle as an advance payment for its service.
- A quest goal might involve vanquishing the oracle.
- A quest goal might involve protecting a creature that is near the oracle.

POLYMORPHED NPCs

Any creature that meets a polypharmakon could end up as an animal of any sort. Most commonly, a shameless man is turned into a pig.

An individual turned into an animal retains its original personality and can be quite clumsy at actually in its new form. For example, a kind-hearted noble turned into a lion would dull its claws against rocks and refuse to hunt animals.

To create a polymorphed NPC, simply use the stat block from the respective animal, keep the original NPC's Wisdom, Intelligence, and Charisma scores, and give it the following trait:

Mirthful Leaps. Whenever the satyr makes a long or high jump, it can cover an additional 1d8 feet, even when making a standing jump. This extra distance costs movement as normal.

Nimble. The satyr can take the Disengage action as a bonus action on each of its turns.

Actions

Multiattack. The satyr makes two attacks with its shortbow.

Shortbow. Ranged Weapon Attack: +3 to hit, range 80/320 ft., one target. Hit: 5 (1d6 + 2) piercing damage.

Spew Flame (Recharge 4–6). The satyr exhales flames. Each creature in a 15-foot cone must make a DC 14 Dexterity saving throw, taking 9 (2d8) fire damage on a failed save, or half as much damage on a successful one.

Ram. Melee Weapon Attack: +3 to hit, reach 5 ft., one target. Hit: 3 (1d4 + 1) bludgeoning damage.

Grove Dance. As an action on its turn, the satyr may begin a new dance, targeting one creature that can see it. That target gets a +1 bonus to Strength and Dexterity checks and damage rolls and gains 4 (1d8) temporary hit points. The effect ends if the satyr stops dancing, the target can no longer see the satyr, or the satyr chooses a new target. As an action on subsequent turns, if the satyr is dancing, it may continue dancing. It can stop dancing at any time.

Magic Resistance. The satyr has advantage on saving throws against spells and other magical effects.

Mirthful Leaps. Whenever the satyr makes a long or high jump, it can cover an additional 1d8 feet, even when making a standing jump. This extra distance costs movement as normal.

If the charmed target is more than 5 ft. away from the siren, the must move on its turn toward the siren by the most direct route. It doesn't avoid opportunity attacks, but before moving into damaging terrain, such as lava or a pit, and whenever it takes damage from a source other than the siren, a target can repeat the saving throw. A creature can also repeat the saving throw at the end of each of its turns. If a creature's saving throw is successful, the effect ends on it.

WAR-WING SIREN

A war-wing siren represents a reformed siren who fights to save the plane from impending divine doom.

Once she sang sailors to their doom. Now she leads them to glory.

WAR-WING SIREN

Medium monstrosity (siren), chaotic evil

Formation Tactics. The siren has advantage on saving throws against being charmed, frightened, grappled, or restrained while it is within 5 feet of at least one ally.

Heroic. Whenever the siren is the target of a spell, that spell's caster may take a bonus action to cast buff, targeting the siren and requiring no components or spell slots. This buff can't trigger any Heroic traits.

Actions

Multiattack. The siren makes two melee attacks.

Glaive. Melee Weapon Attack: +3 to hit, reach 10 ft., one target. Hit: 6 (1d10 + 1) slashing damage.

Claws. Melee Weapon Attack: +3 to hit, reach 5 ft., one target. Hit: 6 (2d4 + 1) slashing damage. Luring Song. The siren sings a magical melody. Every mortal within 300 ft. of the siren that can hear the song must succeed on a DC 11 Wisdom saving throw or be charmed until the song ends. The siren must take a bonus action on its subsequent turns to continue singing. It can stop singing at any time. The song ends if the siren is incapacitated.

While charmed by the siren, a target is incapacitated and ignores the songs of other sirens. If the charmed target is more than 5 ft. away from the siren, the must move on its turn toward the siren by the most direct route. It doesn't avoid opportunity attacks, but before moving into damaging terrain, such as lava or a pit, and whenever it takes damage from a source other than the siren, a target can repeat the saving throw. A creature can also repeat the saving throw at the end of each of its turns. If a creature's saving throw is successful, the effect ends on it.

SPHINXES

Sphinxes are the Theros equivalent to the old man atop a mountain. They are wells of wisdom and knowledge. However, they are unwilling to share the information to just anyone.

In order to learn a secret from a sphinx, you must prove yourself worthy by correctly answering a riddle the sphinx poses. Sphinxes are smart, and none pose the same riddles. Once a riddle is answered correctly, that riddle is unworthy of asking ever again, and the sphinx chooses a new riddle from its wealth of wit.

SPHINX ARBITER

Blessings of the Gods. While the mystic is wearing no armor and wielding no shield, its AC includes its Wisdom modifier. In addition, a creature that hits the mystic with a melee attack while within 5 feet of it takes 9 (2d8) force damage.

Divine Influence. Just the mystic seeks insights from interpreting the divine, so too does Thassa occasionally seek to manipulate the world through the mystic . Sometimes Thassa might speak directly, be it with dramatic manifestations or direct possession of the mystic. Although Thassa's words might be steeped in metaphors, should she wish to make her intentions clear, she often finds dramatic ways to make her thoughts known.

Emissary of the Sea. Aquatic beasts have an extraordinary affinity with tritons. Tritons can communicate simple ideas with beasts that can breathe water. Those beasts can understand the triton's words, though the triton has no special ability to understand the beasts in return.

Innate Spellcasting. The mystic's innate spellcasting ability is Charisma (spell save DC 11, +3 to hit with spell attacks). It can innately cast the following spells, requiring no material components:

ARCHONS

Long ago, Theros was ruled by the archons. They still exist, and many expect they will someday rise against the mortals again.

Archons ride into battle on winged lions, winged bulls, and flying chariots. The archons believe themselves greater than the other races of Theros, and due to their air of confidence are able to solicit worship from cults.

ORNITHARCH

The subject of a cult, the ornitharch is able to summon a flock of birds.

Demand Tribute. Immediately after initiative rolls in which the ornitharch participates, it demands tribute from a creature it can see. That creature may bow, genuflect, salute, or perform a similar gesture as a bonus action.

If tribute is paid: Until the end of combat, the ornitharch gains a +2 bonus to damage rolls and Strength and Dexterity checks, and 9 (2d8) temporary hit points.

If tribute isn't paid: The ornitharch summons 9 (2d8) doves that appear in unoccupied spaces that the ornitharch can see within 120 feet of itself. The summoned doves act as allies to their summoner and its allies.

Usage Notes

Players familiar with this monster may find the choice too simple. In order to add greater relevance to the tribute, consider the following scenarios:

- One or more archon cultists might be nearby who will pay tribute.
- One or more aerie worshipers might be nearby who will worship the ornitharch's summoned doves.
- A quest goal might involve securing a dove.
- A quest goal might involve vanquishing the archon.
- The archon might be helpful in vanquishing a nearby foe.

Immortal. The ornitharch can't die as long as at least one memory or record of it exists. If it would die, it falls unconscious instead.

Innate Spellcasting. The ornitharch's innate spellcasting ability is Charisma (spell save DC 13, +6 to hit with spell attacks). It can innately cast the following spells, requiring no material components:

At will: true strike

3/day: animal messenger, conjure animals (doves), speak with animals

Pilot. If the ornitharch isn't controlling a vehicle, it can use a bonus action to magically teleport into its vehicle, provided the ornitharch and its vehicle are on the same plane of existence. When it teleports, the ornitharch appears in the vehicle, along with any equipment it is wearing or carrying. While controlling the vehicle and not incapacitated, the ornitharch can't be surprised, and both it and its vehicle have advantage on Dexterity saving throws. If the ornitharch is reduced to 0 hit points while controlling its vehicle, the vehicle is reduced to 0 hit points as well.

Vehicle Proficiency. The ornitharch has proficiency with flying vehicles.

Actions

Mount. If the sentinel isn't mounted, it can use a bonus action to magically teleport onto the creature serving as its mount, provided the sentinel and its mount are on the same plane of existence. When it teleports, the sentinel appears astride the mount, along with any equipment it is wearing or carrying. While mounted and not incapacitated, the sentinel can't be surprised, and both it and its mount have advantage on Dexterity saving throws. If the sentinel is reduced to 0 hit points while riding its mount, the mount is reduced to 0 hit points as well.

Actions

EIDOLONS

Eidolons are the soul spirits of the Returned that are released when the Returned lose their identity. Since eidolons have no body, they have no brain, rendering them nonsentient, an effective equivalent to an immortal, ethereal jellyfish.

"When a dead person escapes the Underworld, that person loses all identity and becomes one of the faceless Returned. But in this process of severing the physical body from the "soul," an eidolon is also created. An eidolon is the spectral embodiment of the lost identity, but without its body, it has no agency. Unlike the Returned, it has no sense of what it lost. The Returned and its severed eidolon are never reunited, nor are they aware of one another's existence."

Blurred Form. Attack rolls against the eidolon are made with disadvantage unless the eidolon is incapacitated.

Immortal. The eidolon can't die as long as at least one memory or record of it exists. If it would die, it falls unconscious instead.

Incorporeal Movement. The eidolon can move through other creatures and objects as if they were difficult terrain. It takes 5 (1d10) force damage if it ends its turn inside an object.

Incorporeal Nature. The eidolon doesn't require air, food, drink, or sleep.

Innate Spellcasting. The eidolon's innate spellcasting ability is Wisdom (spell save DC 11, +3 to hit with spell attacks). It can innately cast the following spells, requiring no components:

At will: vicious mockery, confusion, enthrall

Magic Weapons. The eidolon's weapon attacks are magical.

Starlight Form. The eidolon glows with the soft light of the night sky, shedding dim light in a 15-foot radius.

Turn Resistance. The eidolon has advantage on saving throws against any effect that turns undead.

ANIMA MUNDI

STR

The most stoic philosophers and animists of Theros tend to recognize Theros itself as the one true god. The anima mundi, or soul of Theros, joins battle by manifesting an avatar in the form of a giant hoplite. Because the worldsoul is as immortal as the plane itself, any avatar it uses is expendable.

Blessing of Theros. As a bonus action on its turn, the avatar chooses any number of creatures on Theros. Until the beginning of the avatar's next turn, those creatures each get a +2 bonus to Strength and Dexterity checks and damage rolls, gain 4 (1d8) temporary hit points, and have advantage on attack rolls. For every point of damage dealt by those creatures until the avatar's next turn, it regains 1 hit point.

Vigilant. The avatar can't be surprised.

Actions

Multiattack. The avatar makes three melee attacks.

Shield Bash. Melee Weapon Attack: +14 to hit, reach 5 ft., one creature. Hit: 36 (12d4 + 6) bludgeoning damage. If the target is a Medium or smaller creature, it must succeed on a DC 22 Strength saving throw or be knocked prone.

Spear. Melee or Ranged Weapon Attack: +14 to hit, reach 50 ft. or range 150/300 ft., one target. Hit: 48 (12d6 + 6) piercing damage.

Reactions

Last Hope. As the avatar dies, it may take a reaction to use its Blessing of Theros trait.

HAGS

Hags are decrepit old women that live in covens. They excel in arcane rituals and often are cult-driven.

CRONEMOUTH HAG

The cronemouth hags share a single hag tongue.

Amphibious. The hag can breathe air and water.

Hag Coven. When hags must work together, they form covens, in spite of their selfish natures. A coven is made up of hags of any type, all of whom are equals within the group. However, each of the hags continues to desire more personal power.

A coven consists of three hags so that any arguments between two hags can be settled by the third. If more than three hags ever come together, as might happen if two covens come into conflict, the result is usually chaos.

Hag Tongue (Coven Only). A hag coven can craft a magic creature called a hag tongue (see the hag tongue stat block), which is made from a real tongue and has a life of its own. A hag in the coven can take an action to put the tongue in her mouth and let it speak what the tongue would say. If it is destroyed, each coven member takes 3d10 psychic damage.

A hag coven can have only one hag tongue at a time, and creating a new one requires all three members of the coven to perform a ritual. The ritual takes 1 hour, and it includes an incantation that must be spoken by another creature. During the ritual, if the participants take any action other than performing the ritual, they must start over.

Horrific Appearance. Any mortal that starts its turn within 30 feet of the hag and can see the hag's true form must make a DC 11 Wisdom saving throw. On a failed save, the creature is frightened for 1 minute. A creature can repeat the saving throw at the end of each of its turns, with disadvantage if the hag is within line of sight, ending the effect on itself on a success. If a creature's saving throw is successful or the effect ends for it, the creature is immune to the hag's Horrific Appearance for the next 24 hours.

Cronemouth Cove in the midst of perpetual doldrums and holds a known gate to the Underworld. It is guarded by a coven of sea hags who share a single tongue that is perpetually trying to escape from their clutches, wriggling out of reach with a mind of its own.

Unless the target is surprised or the revelation of the hag's true form is sudden, the target can avert its eyes and avoid making the initial saving throw. Until the start of its next turn, a creature that averts its eyes has disadvantage on attack rolls against the hag.

Immortal. The hag can't die as long as at least one memory or record of it exists. If it would die, it falls unconscious instead.

Shared Spellcasting (Coven Only). While all three members of a hag coven are within 30 feet of one another, they can each cast the following spells from the wizard's spell list but must share the spell slots among themselves:

1st level (4 slots): identify, ray of sickness

2nd level (3 slots): hold person, locate object

3rd level (3 slots): bestow curse, counterspell, lightning bolt

4th level (3 slots): phantasmal killer, polymorph

5th level (2 slots): contact other plane, scrying

6th level (1 slot): eye bite

For casting these spells, each hag is a 12th-level spellcaster that uses Intelligence as her spellcasting ability. The spell save DC is 12+the hag's Intelligence modifier, and the spell attack bonus is 4+the hag's Intelligence modifier.

Starlight Form. The hag glows with the soft light of the night sky, shedding dim light in a 15-foot radius.

Actions

Claws. Melee Weapon Attack: +5 to hit, reach 5 ft., one target. Hit: 10 (2d6 + 3) slashing damage.

Death Glare. The hag targets one frightened creature she can see within 30 ft. of her. If the target can see the hag, it must succeed on a DC 11 Wisdom saving throw against this magic or drop to 0 hit points.

Illusory Appearance. The hag covers herself and anything she is wearing or carrying with a magical illusion that makes her look like an ugly creature of her general size and humanoid shape. The effect ends if the hag takes a bonus action to end it or if she dies. The changes wrought by this effect fail to hold up to physical inspection. For example, the hag could appear to have no claws, but someone touching her hand might feel the claws. Otherwise, a creature must take an action to visually inspect the illusion and succeed on a DC 16 Intelligence (Investigation) check to discern that the hag is disguised.

IMMORTALIZED

Through divine or arcane magic, a mortal can achieve immortality. Immortality, however, is lost if an individual is forgotten by all history and memory.

Amphibious. The maggot can breathe air and water.

Immortal. The maggot can't die as long as at least one memory or record of it exists. If it would die, it falls unconscious instead.

Magic Weapons. The maggot's weapon attacks are magical.

Parasite. The maggot attaches itself to a host that comes into contact with its previous host's corpse. A DC 10 Wisdom (Perception) check is enough to see and avoid the maggot.

The maggot latches onto a host with its jaws, though it uses numbing chemicals to prevent its detection. If the maggot goes unnoticed, it burrows into the host's flesh. Within 4 hours, the maggot reaches the host's brain.

The host must succeed on a DC 15 Constitution saving throw every 4 hours or take 3 (1d6) magical psychic damage and the host's Intelligence, Wisdom and Charisma scores are reduced by 1 point. The reduction lasts until the host's brain is healed. If the host's Intelligence drops to 1, it goes unconscious. If its intelligence drops to 0, it dies.

A subcutaneous maggot can be knocked out by applying fire for 3 turns to the point of entry, causing a combined 13 (3d8) fire damage to the host, or removed by succeeding on a DC 15 Wisdom (Medicine) check and cutting the maggot out with a sharp instrument, causing an additional 14 (4d6) piercing damage to the host. A greater restoration or heal spell will knock out the maggot, ending the infestation and restoring the lost Intelligence, Wisdom, and Charisma.

Charge. If the courser moves at least 30 feet straight toward a target and then hits it with a melee attack on the same turn, it can immediately follow that attack with a bonus action, making one attack against the target with its hooves.

Equine Build. The centaur counts as one size larger when determining its carrying capacity and the weight it can push or drag.

In addition, any climb that requires hands and feet is especially difficult for it because of its equine legs. When it makes such a climb, each foot of movement costs it 4 extra feet instead of the normal 1 extra foot.

Gift of Kruphix. The centaur can innately see the shape and nature of terrain up to 4 miles away from itself, ignoring all obstructions.

Immortal. The centaur can't die as long as at least one memory or record of it exists. If it would die, it falls unconscious instead.

Improved Critical. The courser's attack rolls score a critical hit on a roll of 19 or 20 on the d20.

Starlight Form. The centaur glows with the soft light of the night sky, shedding dim light in a 15-foot radius.

Actions

Magic Resistance. The gorgon has advantage on saving throws against spells and other magical effects.

Petrifying Visage. As soon as a creature within 30 feet of the gorgon sees the gorgon's face, it may make a DC 14 Constitution saving throw. On a success, that creature may use a reaction to shield its eyes or avert them. If the saving throw fails by 5 or more, or if the creature is unable to react, the creature is instantly petrified. Otherwise, a creature that fails the save begins to turn to stone and is restrained. The restrained creature must repeat the saving throw at the end of its next turn, becoming petrified on a failure or ending the effect on a success. The petrification lasts until the creature is unpetrified by a god.

If the gorgon, while in some mortal state, sees its own face reflected on a polished surface within 30 ft. of it and in an area of bright light, the gorgon is, due to its curse, affected by its own visage. She sees mortals not as they wish to be, but as what they will become.

This trait has no effect if the gorgon's face is not its normal flesh state. The trait remains active even if the gorgon is incapacitated, killed, and even beheaded.

Provide Diversion. Allies of the gorgon that it can see within 120 ft. can use a bonus action on their turn to do the following:

 Diversion. The allied creature points, cocks its head, or some other gesture to try to get other creatures to look away and look instead at the gorgon. Each creature that can see the ally must succeed on a DC 15 Wisdom saving throw or look at the gorgon.

As long as the gorgon can see any non-allies within 120 ft., they do not have the Diversion ability and cannot gain it.

Starlight Form. The immortal glows with the soft light of the night sky, shedding dim light in a 15-foot radius.

Actions

Multiattack. The gorgon makes either three melee attacks—one with its snake hair, one to constrict, and one with its shortsword—or two ranged attacks with its longbow.

Constrict. Melee Weapon Attack: +3 to hit, reach 10 ft., one target. Hit: 7 (2d6) bludgeoning damage, and the target is grappled (escape DC 11) if it is a Large or smaller creature. Until this grapple ends, the target is restrained, and the gorgon can't constrict another target.

Longbow. Ranged Weapon Attack: +5 to hit, range 150/600 ft., one target. Hit: 6 (1d8 + 2) piercing damage plus 7 (2d6) poison damage.

Magic Weapons. The priest's weapon attacks are magical.

Spellcasting. The priest is a 9th-level spellcaster. The priest's spellcasting ability is Wisdom (spell save DC 15, +7 to hit with spell attacks). The priest has the following cleric spells prepared:

Cantrip (at will): light, mending, sacred flame, spare the dying

1st level (4 slots): divine favor, guiding bolt, healing word, shield of faith

3rd level (3 slots): beacon of hope, crusader's mantle, dispel magic, revivify, spirit guardians, water walk

4th level (3 slots): banishment, freedom of movement, guardian of faith, stoneskin

Starlight Form. The priest glows with the soft light of the night sky, shedding dim light in a 15-foot radius.

Telepathic Bond. While the priest is in any of Theros's three realms, it can magically convey what it senses to Heliod.

Actions

Multiattack. The priest makes three weapon attacks. It can replace one weapon attack with sacred flame.

Spear. Melee or Ranged Weapon Attack: +5 to hit, reach 5 ft., one target. Hit: 6 (1d6 + 3) piercing damage, or 7 (1d8 + 3) piercing damage if used with two hands to make a melee attack.

Shield Bash. Melee Weapon Attack: +5 to hit, reach 5 ft., one creature. Hit: 5 (1d4 + 3) bludgeoning damage. If the target is a Medium or smaller creature, it must succeed on a DC 13 Strength saving throw or be knocked prone.

Reactions

Guided Strike (Recharges after a Short or Long Rest). The priest grants a +10 bonus to an attack roll made by itself or another creature within 30 feet of it. The priest can make this choice after the roll is made but before it hits or misses.

LAMIA

A lamia is a woman cursed with immortality. Her body is a shapeshifting conglomeration of animal parts, except for her head, neck, chest, and breasts which alway remain in their original beautiful female form, though her eyes are ripped out of their sockets. She is the stuff of nightmares, and preys on children who won't go to sleep.

Some predators can sense fear in their prey, but the lamia is drawn to madness.

Magic Weapons. The lamia's weapon attacks are magical.

Rend Thoughts. On the lamia's turn, if the lamia is within 5 feet of at least one other lamia, each of those lamias may each take a bonus action to expend one spell slot of a creature that lamia can reach.

Shapechanger. The lamia can use its action to change the appearance of its body, arms, legs, or tail to resemble that of a beast it has seen. Its head, neck, chest, and breasts always remain their original form-- a beautiful female human. Its statistics are the same in each form. Any equipment it is wearing or carrying isn't transformed.

Starlight Form. The lamia glows with the soft light of the night sky, shedding dim light in a 15-foot radius.

At will: dancing lights, vicious mockery

2/day: charm person, detect magic, healing word, thunderwave

Mirthful Leaps. Whenever the satyr makes a long or high jump, it can cover an additional 1d8 feet, even when making a standing jump. This extra distance costs movement as normal.

Magic Resistance. The entertainer has advantage on saving throws against spells and other magical effects.

Magic Weapons. The firedancer's weapon attacks are magical.

Starlight Form. The satyr glows with the soft light of the night sky, shedding dim light in a 15-foot radius.

Whirling Flame. The satyr swings an iron chain in circles with a torch on the end. The chain is 10 feet long and makes one full oscillation per round. The satyr can use an action on its turn to alternate the range to between 5 or 10 feet. The torch deals 18 (4d8) fire damage to every object that it comes within 5 feet of. If the chain itself strikes any target, it restrains that target (escape DC 20), and the satyr drops the chain. If the restrained target is flammable, it ignites. If the satyr drops the chain while swinging it, the torch moves in a straight line for 20 feet and drops.

Actions

Ram. Melee Weapon Attack: +2 to hit, reach 5 ft., one target. Hit: 2 (1d4) bludgeoning damage. It can't ram while it's swinging its chain.

Nymphs

Spirits on Theros aren't always of mortal origin. Every mountain, river, grove, valley, and other natural feature has its own immortal soul. These spirits are called nymphs, and they wander freely, mingling with mortals for better or for worse. The nymphs described in this chapter are grouped according to their type.

ALSEIDS

Alseids are spirits of small groves. They enjoy frolicking in open areas, enjoying the sunshine and whatever nature they can find. Farmers planting fields will plant shade trees amid their crops, and alseids are known to protect their fields from harm. Orchards are also protected by alseids.

HARVEST GUARD

Harvest guards are a farmer's boon. These alseids understand the importance of a fruitful harvest and go out of their way to protect crops, fields, and orchards from anything that would destroy or steal their fruits.

Not all shields are forged of iron or bronze.

OREADS

Every mountain has its own oread. The oreads are sought as guides by hunters for their skill in navigating the mountain's obstacles as well as their ability to turn a hunt in the hunter's favor. Oreads are able to produce precious metals and stones, some of which they provide to Purphoros.

Angry oreads become molten, causing their mountain to erupt as a volcano.

Oreads also have a strong connection with the satyrs, and they partake in their revelries.

A creature that touches the oread or hits it with a melee attack while within 5 feet of it takes 10 (3d6) fire damage.

FORGEBORN OREAD

Not all of the oreads are naturally occurring. Some of them were crafted by Purphoros himself. The forgeborn oread represents these nymphs.

Purphoros shaped the oreads out of stray coals from his forge.

Ignited Illumination. As a bonus action, the oread can set itself ablaze or extinguish its flames. While ablaze, the oread sheds bright light in a 10-foot radius and dim light for an additional 10 feet.

Challenge 2 (450 XP)

Immortal. The spider can't die as long as at least one memory or record of it exists. If it would die, it falls unconscious instead.

Magic Weapons. The spider's weapon attacks are magical.

Spell Nature. In addition to being a creature, the spider is a 3rd-level divine transmutation spell with no target.

Spider Climb. The spider can climb difficult surfaces, including upside down on ceilings, without needing to make an ability check.

Starlight Form. The spider glows with the soft light of the night sky, shedding dim light in a 15-foot radius.

Telepathic Bond. If the spider was created by a god, then while the spider is in any of Theros's three realms, it can magically convey what it senses to that god.

Web Sense. While in contact with a web, the spider knows the exact location of any other creature in contact with the same web.

Web Walker. The spider ignores movement restrictions caused by webbing.

Actions

Multiattack. The spider makes two web attacks.

Bite. Melee Weapon Attack: +4 to hit, reach 5 ft., one creature. Hit: 6 (1d8 + 2) piercing damage, and the target must make a DC 11 Constitution saving throw, taking 9 (2d8) poison damage on a failed save, or half as much damage on a successful one. If the poison damage reduces the target to 0 hit points, the target is stable but poisoned for 1 hour, even after regaining hit points, and is paralyzed while poisoned in this way.

Web (Recharge 5-6). Ranged Weapon Attack: +4 to hit, range 30/60 ft., one creature. Hit: The target is restrained by webbing. As an action, the restrained target can make a DC 12 Strength check, bursting the webbing on a success. The webbing can also be attacked and destroyed (AC 10; hp 5; vulnerability to fire damage; immunity to bludgeoning, poison, and psychic damage).

NYXBORN DRACON

Nyxborn dracones provide Erebos with a much-coveted view of the outside world and a chance to invite new guests to the Realm of the Dead.

Immortal. The dracon can't die as long as at least one memory or record of it exists. If it would die, it falls unconscious instead.

Magic Weapons. The dracon's weapon attacks are magical.

Spell Nature. In addition to being a creature, the dracon is a 4th-level divine transmutation spell with no target.

Starlight Form. The dracon glows with the soft light of the night sky, shedding dim light in a 15-foot radius.

Telepathic Bond. If the dracon was created by a god, then while the dracon is in any of Theros's three realms, it can magically convey what it senses to that god.

Actions

Bite. Melee Weapon Attack: +6 to hit, reach 10 ft., one target. Hit: 11 (2d6 + 4) piercing damage, and the target must make a DC 13 Constitution saving throw, taking 7 (2d6) poison damage on a failed save, or half as much damage on a successful one.

If the target is a Large or smaller creature, it must succeed on a DC 13 Dexterity saving throw or be swallowed by the dracon. A swallowed creature is blinded and restrained, it has total cover against attacks and other effects outside the dracon, and it takes 21 (6d6) acid damage at the start of each of the dracon's turns.

If the dracon takes 30 damage or more on a single turn from a creature inside it, the dracon must succeed on a DC 21 Constitution saving throw at the end of that turn or regurgitate all swallowed creatures, which fall prone in a space within 10 feet of the dracon. If the dracon dies, a swallowed creature is no longer restrained by it and can escape from the corpse by using 20 feet of movement, exiting prone.

Constrict. Constrict. Melee Weapon Attack: +6 to hit, reach 5 ft., one creature. Hit: 13 (2d8 + 4) bludgeoning damage, and the target is grappled (escape DC 16). Until this grapple ends, the creature is restrained, and the dracon can't constrict another target.

NYXBORN EAGLE

An offering to the sea brings an insight from the stars.

Magic Weapons. The lynx's weapon attacks are magical.

Pounce. If the lynx moves at least 20 feet straight toward a creature and then hits it with a claw attack on the same turn, that target must succeed on a DC 14 Strength saving throw or be knocked prone. If the target is prone, the lynx can make one bite attack against it as a bonus action.

Spell Nature. In addition to being a creature, the lynx is a 4th-level divine transmutation spell with no target.

Starlight Form. The lynx glows with the soft light of the night sky, shedding dim light in a 15-foot radius.

Telepathic Bond. If the lynx was created by a god, then while the lynx is in any of Theros's three realms, it can magically convey what it senses to that god.

Trample. The lynx can move in and out of a Medium or smaller creature's space. If it would, it uses a bonus action to attack that creature with its claw. That creature must succeed on a DC 14 Strength saving throw or be knocked prone. If the creature succeeds, the lynx can't enter that space and must end its turn immediately. If the lynx stops on top of that creature, that creature becomes restrained until the lynx moves off it (escape DC 14).

Immortal. The unicorn can't die as long as at least one memory or record of it exists. If it would die, it falls unconscious instead.

Magic Weapons. The unicorn's weapon attacks are magical.

Spell Nature. In addition to being a creature, the unicorn is a 3rd-level divine transmutation spell with no target.

Starlight Form. The unicorn glows with the soft light of the night sky, shedding dim light in a 15-foot radius.

Telepathic Bond. If the unicorn was created by a god, then while the unicorn is in any of Theros's three realms, it can magically convey what it senses to that god.

Tempting Charm. Every humanoid and giant that can see the unicorn must succeed on a DC 13 Wisdom saving throw or be charmed until the unicorn dies.

While charmed by the unicorn, a target must spend its turns trying to capture or kill the unicorn. It doesn't avoid opportunity attacks, but before moving into damaging terrain, such as lava or a pit, and whenever it takes damage from a source other than the unicorn, the target can repeat the saving throw. A charmed target can also repeat the saving throw at the end of each of its turns. If the saving throw is successful, the effect ends on it.

A target that successfully saves is immune to this the unicorn's charm for the next 24 hours.

Actions

Magic Weapons. The warhound's weapon attacks are magical.

Multiheaded. The warhound can't be surprised, and it has advantage on saving throws against being knocked unconscious.

NYXBORN WOLF

Pack Tactics. The warhound has advantage on an attack roll against a creature if at least one of the warhound's allies is within 5 feet of the creature and the ally isn't incapacitated.

Rage of Mogis. Whenever the warhound starts its turn with half its hit points or fewer, roll a d6. On a 6, the warhound goes berserk. On each of its turns while berserk, the warhound attacks the nearest hostile creature it can see. If no hostile creature is near enough to move to and attack, the warhound attacks an object, with preference for an object smaller than itself. Once the warhound goes berserk, it continues to do so until it's destroyed or regains all its hit points.

Spell Nature. In addition to being a creature, the warhound is a 2nd-level divine transmutation spell with no target.

Starlight Form. The warhound glows with the soft light of the night sky, shedding dim light in a 15-foot radius.

Spell Nature. In addition to being a creature, the guardian is a 3rd-level divine transmutation spell with no target.

Starlight Form. The guardian glows with the soft light of the night sky, shedding dim light in a 15-foot radius.

Telepathic Bond. If the guardian was created by a god, then while the guardian is in any of Theros's three realms, it can magically convey what it senses to that god.

Turn Resistance. The guardian has advantage on saving throws against any effect that turns undead.

Unreadable Face. The guardian is immune to any effect that would sense its emotions or read its thoughts. Wisdom (Insight) checks to ascertain the guardian's intentions or sincerity are made with disadvantage.

Actions

Spell Nature. In addition to being a creature, the siren is a 1st-level divine transmutation spell with no target.

Starlight Form. The siren glows with the soft light of the night sky, shedding dim light in a 15-foot radius.

Telepathic Bond. If the siren was created by a god, then while the siren is in any of Theros's three realms, it can magically convey what it senses to that god.

Actions

Multiattack. The siren makes two attacks: one with its claws and one with its club.

Claws. Melee Weapon Attack: +3 to hit, reach 5 ft., one target. Hit: 6 (2d4 + 1) slashing damage.

Club. Melee Weapon Attack: +3 to hit, reach 5 ft., one target. Hit: 3 (1d4 + 1) bludgeoning damage.

Luring Song. The siren sings a magical melody. Every creature within 300 ft. of the siren that can hear the song must succeed on a DC 11 Wisdom saving throw or be charmed until the song ends. The siren must take a bonus action on its subsequent turns to continue singing. It can stop singing at any time. The song ends if the siren is incapacitated. While charmed by the siren, a target is incapacitated and ignores the songs of other sirens. If the charmed target is more than 5 ft. away from the siren, the must move on its turn toward the siren by the most direct route. It doesn't avoid opportunity attacks, but before moving into damaging terrain, such as lava or a pit, and whenever it takes damage from a source other than the siren, a target can repeat the saving throw. A creature can also repeat the saving throw at the end of each of its turns. If a creature's saving throw is successful, the effect ends on it. A target that successfully saves is immune to this siren's song for the next 24 hours.

MASTER OF THE FEAST

Insatiable Greed. The demon can sense the presence of gold within 1,000 feet of itself. It can determine which location has the greatest amount of gold and can sense the direction to that site. If the gold is being moved, it knows the direction of the movement. It can't locate gold if any thickness of clay or lead, even a thin sheet, blocks a direct path between it and the gold.

Magic Resistance. The demon has advantage on saving throws against spells and other magical effects.

Magic Weapons. The demon's weapon attacks are magical.

Any pleasure, when taken to excess, becomes torment. It's a formula that demons have perfected.

Spell Nature. In addition to being a creature, the demon is a 3rd-level divine transmutation spell with no target.

Starlight Form. The demon glows with the soft light of the night sky, shedding dim light in a 15-foot radius.

Telepathic Bond. If the demon was created by a god, then while the demon is in any of Theros's three realms, it can magically convey what it senses to that god.

Actions

Multiattack. The demon makes two attacks with its claws.

Claws. Melee Weapon Attack: +8 to hit, reach 5 ft., one target. Hit: 9 (1d8 + 5) slashing damage plus 7 (2d6) necrotic damage. Fiendish Feast (1/day). As an action on its turn, the demon can bring forth a great feast, including magnificent food and drink. The feast takes 6 hours to consume and disappears at the end of that time, and the beneficial effects don't set in until this hour is over. Up to twelve creatures can partake of the feast.

For every hour a creature spends feasting, it gains 1 level of exhaustion. A creature that reaches 4th-level exhaustion this way becomes diseased with infernal food poisoning (see "Appendix A: Diseases").

If the demon is destroyed, the feast becomes normal food.

Invite to the Feast. As an action on its turn, the demon may use words and/or gestures to invite creatures that can see or hear it to partake in its feast. Each invited creature must succeed on a DC 14 Wisdom check or become charmed. A creature charmed by the demon must spend its turns trying to partake in the feast until the feast is ended or the demon is destroyed.

Innate Spellcasting. The archon's innate spellcasting ability is Wisdom (spell save DC 17, +9 to hit with spell attacks). It can innately cast the following spells, requiring no material components:

At will: command, guiding bolt, spare the dying

1/day: crusader's mantle, spirit guardians

Magic Weapons. The archon's weapon attacks are magical.

Mount. If the archon isn't mounted, it can use a bonus action to magically teleport onto the creature serving as its mount, provided the archon and its mount are on the same plane of existence. When it teleports, the archon appears astride the mount, along with any equipment it is wearing or carrying. While mounted and not incapacitated, the archon can't be surprised, and both it and its mount have advantage on Dexterity saving throws.

Spell Nature. In addition to being a creature, the archon is a 7th-level divine transmutation spell with no target.

Starlight Form. The archon glows with the soft light of the night sky, shedding dim light in a 15-foot radius.

Telepathic Bond. If the archon was created by a god, then while the archon is in any of Theros's three realms, it can magically convey what it senses to that god.

Actions

Battle Readiness. The centaur has advantage on initiative rolls.

Charge. If the centaur moves at least 30 feet straight toward a target and then hits it with a melee attack on the same turn, it can immediately follow that attack with a bonus action, making one attack against the target with its hooves.

Equine Build. The centaur counts as one size larger when determining its carrying capacity and the weight it can push or drag.

In addition, any climb that requires hands and feet is especially difficult for it because of its equine legs. When it makes such a climb, each foot of movement costs it 4 extra feet instead of the normal 1 extra foot. Gift of Kruphix. The centaur can innately see the shape and nature of terrain up to 4 miles away from itself, ignoring all obstructions.

Immortal. The centaur can't die as long as at least one memory or record of it exists. If it would die, it falls unconscious instead.

Improved Critical. The centaur's attack rolls score a critical hit on a roll of 19 or 20 on the d20.

Expect Tribute. Immediately after initiative rolls in which the phoenix participates, it expects tribute from a creature within 60 feet that it can see, but does not reveal which one or indicate it expects the tribute. Tribute may be paid by bowing, genuflecting, saluting, or a similar gesture.

If by the beginning of the phoenix's first turn in combat the creature it selected has paid it tribute, the phoenix's flames grow larger, brighter, and louder. Until the end of combat, the phoenix gains a +2 bonus to damage rolls and Strength and Dexterity checks, gains 5 (2d4) temporary hit points, and loses its Rebirth trait.

Fiery Death. When the phoenix dies, it explodes. Each creature within 10 feet of it must make a DC 20 Dexterity saving throw, taking 5 (1d10) fire damage on a failed save, or half as much damage on a successful one. The fire ignites flammable objects in the area that aren't worn or carried.

Usage Notes

Players familiar with this monster may find the choice too simple. In order to add greater relevance to the tribute, consider the following scenarios:

- One or more phoenix cultists might be nearby who will pay tribute to the phoenix.
- A valuable (but flammable) object might be positioned near the phoenix.
- A quest goal might involve securing a phoenix egg.
- A quest goal might involve vanquishing a phoenix that reincarnates itself every time it is killed.

Flyby. The phoenix doesn't provoke opportunity attacks when it flies out of an enemy's reach.

Illumination. The phoenix sheds bright light in a 30-foot radius and dim light for an additional 15 feet.

Rebirth. The explosion from the Fiery Death trait destroys the phoenix's body and leaves behind an egg-shaped cinder that weighs 2 ounces. The cinder is blazing hot, dealing 21 (6d6) fire damage to any creature that touches it, though no more than once per round. The cinder is immune to all damage, and after 1d6 hours, it hatches a new phoenix.

Actions

Multiattack. The phoenix makes two attacks: one with its beak and one with its fiery talons.

Beak. Melee Weapon Attack: +6 to hit, reach 5 ft., one target. Hit: 2 (1d4) piercing damage and 10 (2d6 + 3) fire damage. If the target is a creature or a flammable object, it ignites. Until a creature takes an action to douse the fire, the target takes 5 (1d10) fire damage at the start of each of its turns.

Fiery Talons. Melee Weapon Attack: +6 to hit, reach 5 ft., one target. Hit: 2 (1d4) piercing damage and 12 (2d8 + 3) fire damage.

Legendary Actions

The phoenix can take 3 legendary actions, choosing from the options below. Only one legendary action can be used at a time and only at the end of another creature's turn. The phoenix regains spent legendary actions at the start of its turn.

- Peck. The phoenix makes one beak attack.
- Move. The phoenix moves up to its speed.
- Swoop (Costs 2 Actions). The phoenix moves up to its speed and attacks with its fiery talons.

TITANS

The titans are titanic deities. There are two types: the elder titans, which are ancient deities, and the lesser titans, which are much younger and less powerful.

Uro

Gargantuan giant (titan), lawful evil

Armor Class 14 (natural armor) Hit Points 7750 (500d20 + 2500) Speed 120 ft., swim 120 ft.

Frightful Presence. Each creature within 120 feet of Uro and aware of it must succeed on a DC 17 Wisdom saving throw or become Frightened for 1 minute. A creature can repeat the saving throw at the end of each of its turns, with disadvantage if Uro is within line of sight, ending the Effect on itself on a success. If a creature's saving throw is successful or the Effect ends for it, the creature is immune to Uro's Frightful Presence for the next 24 hours.

Magic Resistance. Uro has advantage on saving throws against spells and other magical effects.

Siege Monster. Uro deals double damage to objects and structures.

Titanic Nature. Unless provoked, Uro ignores all nonflying things that are Huge or smaller and all flying things that are Large or smaller.

Tsunami Steps. When Uro moves, it creates a tsunami for every footstep taken, centered where that foot lands. Uro's stride is up to 40 feet. (Divide the number of feet moved by 40, and round up.)

Uro's Tsunami. When Uro creates a tsunami, a wall of water springs into existence at the specified point. The wall is 300 feet long, 300 feet high, and 50 feet thick. The wall lasts for six rounds.

ELDER TITANS

The elder titans once clashed with the gods of Nyx. As a punishment, they were bound for eternity in Agonas, with Klothys standing watch as their jailer.

Uro

Uro is the titan god of nature's wrath. Uro once slept beneath the ocean. His stirring was enough to slosh oceans out of their basins, and his breath could produce devastating winds.

When the wall appears, each creature within its area (except Uro) must make a Strength saving throw. On a failed save, a creature takes 6d10 bludgeoning damage, or half as much damage on a successful save.

At the start of each of Uro's turns after the wall appears, the wall, along with any creatures in it, moves 50 feet away from its epicenter. Any Huge or smaller creature inside the wall or whose space the wall enters when it moves must succeed on a Strength saving throw or take 5d10 bludgeoning damage. A creature can take this damage only once per round. At the end of the turn, the wall's height is reduced by 50 feet, and the damage creatures take from the spell on subsequent rounds is reduced by 1d10. When the wall reaches 0 feet in height, the tsunami ends.

A creature caught in the wall can move by swimming. Because of the force of the wave, though, the creature must make a successful DC 20 Strength (Athletics) check in order to move at all. If it fails the check, it can't move. A creature that moves out of the area falls to the ground.

Actions

Unarmed Strike. Melee Weapon Attack: +13 to hit, reach 20 ft., one target. Hit: 95 (20d8 + 5) bludgeoning damage to all creatures, objects, and structures within a 50-foot radius, and Uro creates a tsunami centered on the target.

Wind (Recharge 5-6). Uro blasts a line of strong wind 600 feet long and 50 feet wide from its mouth in a direction it chooses until its next turn. Each creature that starts its turn in the line must succeed on a DC 20 Strength saving throw or be pushed 50 feet away from Uro in a direction following the line.

Any creature in the line must spend 10 feet of movement for every 1 foot it moves when moving closer to Uro.

The gust disperses gas or vapor, and it extinguishes bonfires, wildfires, and similar unprotected flames in the area. It causes protected flames, such as those of lanterns, to dance wildly and has a 50 percent chance to extinguish them.

At the beginning of Uro's turn, it may use an action to continue the attack, lasting up to 10 rounds.

As a bonus action on each of Uro's turns before the attack ends, it can change the direction in which the line blasts from it.

Lesser Titans

As punishment for attempting to dethrone the pantheon of gods, the elder titans were imprisoned for eternity in Agonas. The lesser titans were punished as well, but they were given different punishments.

BEARER OF THE HEAVENS

One of the lesser titans was assigned the role of bearer of the heavens as his punishment, though whether this is more of a suicide attempt by the gods is debatable. Thankfully, he understands the gravity of his role and takes his job very seriously.

Divine Immunity. If the titan would die at the hands of a god, the titan falls unconscious instead.

To hold the heavens from the earth is no curse, but a titanic responsibility.

WARNING

This creature is intended to serve as an NPC, not as a boss. Engaging it could result in planar chaos. Knocking it out would most likely result in destroying Theros. If you do intend to kill it but do not want to destroy Theros, make sure first that the heavens are supported by at least two pillars.

Immortal. The titan can't die as long as at least one memory or record of it exists. If it would die, it falls unconscious instead.

Legendary Resistance (3/Day). If the giant fails a saving throw, it can choose to succeed instead.

Pillar of Heavens. The giant takes pride in its duty to suspend Nyx above the earth. If it drops Nyx, Nyx crashes down upon the earth, annihilating everything in the mortal realm. When this happens, Nyx, the underworld, and everything in them cease to exist and the plane of Theros becomes a dead waste.

Siege Monster. The titan deals double damage to objects and structures.

Titanic Nature. Unless provoked, the titan ignores all creatures and objects.

Actions

Unarmed Strike. Melee Weapon Attack: +19 to hit, reach 1000 ft., one target. Hit: 2110 (200d20 + 10) bludgeoning damage plus 2100 (200d20) fire damage. Every creature, object, and structure in a 500-foot radius is dealt this damage.

Flammable objects that aren't being worn or carried in that area are ignited.

Divine Immunity. If the titan would die at the hands of a god, the titan falls unconscious instead.

There is no gift more precious or more perilous than fire.

Fire Aura. At the start of each of the titan's turns, each creature within 5 feet of it takes 10 (3d6) fire damage, and flammable objects in the aura that aren't being worn or carried ignite. A creature that touches the titan or hits it with a melee attack while within 5 feet of it takes 10 (3d6) fire damage.

Immortal. The titan can't die as long as at least one memory or record of it exists. If it would die, it falls unconscious instead.

Siege Monster. The titan deals double damage to objects and structures.

Stone Camouflage. The titan has advantage on Dexterity (Stealth) checks made to hide in rocky terrain.

Titanic Nature. Unless provoked, the titan ignores all creatures and objects.

Water Susceptibility. For every 5 feet the titan moves in water, or for every gallon of water splashed on it, it takes 1 cold damage.

Actions

Fireball. Ranged Spell Attack: spell save DC 21, +13 to hit with spell attacks, range 100 ft. The titan pulls a fireball from its chest and throws it at a point within range. Each creature in a 20-foot-radius sphere centered on that point must make a DC 21 Dexterity saving throw. A target takes 49 (14d6) fire damage on a failed save, or half as much damage on a successful one.

The fire spreads around corners. It ignites flammable objects in the area that aren't being worn or carried.

THE DEAD

THE WANDERERS

Left behind in the mortal realm, wandering dead can be found searching for redemption. Perhaps they didn't have a gold coin for Athreos and couldn't pay the toll. Perhaps they made a pact preventing them from entering the underworld. Perhaps they were resurrected before they could fully move on. Regardless, they occupy a sorry state of existence.

Cursed Rejuvenation. A dead champion of stray souls comes back to life with all its hit points in 1d10 days unless it dies holding a gold coin.

Glazing. The skeleton suffers from glazing (see "Appendix A: Diseases").

Limited Vocabulary. The skeleton is unable to speak except for the phrases "transfer soul" and "yes or no" and must use gestures extensively.

Actions

Longsword. Melee Weapon Attack: +5 to hit, reach 5 ft., one target. Hit: 7 (1d8 + 3) slashing damage, or 8 (1d10 + 3) slashing damage if used with two hands to make a melee attack.

Longbow. Ranged Weapon Attack: +4 to hit, range 150/600 ft., one target. Hit: 7 (1d8 + 3) piercing damage.

Transfer Soul (3/day). The skeleton touches a willing living target and a dead target that has no soul but has all the other parts needed for resurrection. In the event the living target then changes its mind before the transference can take place, it may succeed on a DC 12 Dexterity saving throw in order to escape the skeleton's touch.

The living target becomes a dead and soulless corpse, but its soul remains living. The soul enters the dead target, which returns to life with hit points equal to amount the source target had.

Once a soul is transferred to a new body, the owner of that soul controls the body. The elements retained by the soul from its old body include the Intelligence, Wisdom, and Charisma scores; alignment; and the benefit of class features. The new body does not retain any of these elements that its former soul had.

If, prior to the transference, the new body had any wounds, conditions, or any type of decay, these persist. Depending on the nature of decay, the new body might have additional conditions at the DM's discretion, such as a fungal or parasitic disease.

ROTTED HULK

An awakened shipwreck rises from the sea as a rotted hulk. Amid its shipworm-infested planks are the bodies of dead crewmen.

Keen Sight. The griffin has advantage on Wisdom (Perception) checks that rely on sight.

Neolus Nature. The griffin doesn't suffer exhaustion from lack of food, drink, or sleep.

Actions

Multiattack. The sentry makes two attacks: one with its beak and one with its claws.

Beak. Melee Weapon Attack: +6 to hit, reach 5 ft., one target. Hit: 8 (1d8 + 4) piercing damage.

Claws. Melee Weapon Attack: +6 to hit, reach 5 ft., one target. Hit: 11 (2d6 + 4) slashing damage.

GLAZERS

Even the underworld isn't an escape from death. Die too many times in the underworld, and you become a pile of ash. The more you die, the less you resemble yourself.

CRUEL CENTAUR FEEDER

A centaur warped by multiple deaths, the cruel centaur feeder has arms like worms that feed on whatever they can reach.

Suspended State. Whatever the deceased was doing when it died determines what it does while dead. If it died happily and relaxed, it remains happy and relaxed. If it died from decapitation, its body is forever separated from its head. If it died in bloody agony, it is forever bloody and agonized.

Equine Build. The centaur counts as one size larger when determining its carrying capacity and the weight it can push or drag.

In addition, any climb that requires hands and feet is especially difficult for it because of its equine legs. When it makes such a climb, each foot of movement costs it 4 extra feet instead of the normal 1 extra foot.

Glazing. The centaur suffers from glazing (see "Appendix A: Diseases"). Its exhaustion level is 6.

Actions

Multiattack. The centaur makes three attacks: one with its hooves and two with its feed attack.

Hooves. Melee Weapon Attack: +6 to hit, reach 5 ft., one target. Hit: 6 (1d4 + 4) bludgeoning damage.

Feed. Melee Weapon Attack: +6 to hit, reach 5 ft., one target. Hit: 7 (1d6 + 4) piercing damage. The centaur regains that much life.
RETURNED

Returned, in the most common sense of the word, refers to those who return to the mortal realm by means of the Path of Phenax, the most commonly exploited means for escaping the Underworld realm.

The Returned are true zombies– risen dead who have no recollection of who they are. They are sentient, able to think, learn, and react to stimuli with what is left of their brains, but are not sapient: They aren't self-aware. If an eidolon is like an ethereal jellyfish, a Returned is like a flesh robot.

Path of Phenax. Erebos oversees the realm of the dead, and he uses his coiling whip to bring back any who try to escape. The clever Phenax bathed in the River Tartyx, which had several effects:

- The waters caused his face to disappear.
- With his face gone, his body was no longer able to contain his spirit.
- Requiring both body and spirit, his identity was dissolved.
- With no identity, Erebos could no longer scry him out.

Today, this means of escaping the Underworld is named called the Path of Phenax. Souls who undertake this feat prepare by forging a mask of gold (gold is cheap and commonplace in the Underworld), with the hope it will help them remember anything at all following their tragic sacrifice in Tartyx's waters.

An eidolon and a body are hopelessly separated. Even if they should be reunited somehow, even the wisest of philosophers are uncertain it would be beneficial at all in regaining one's identity.

RETURNED CENTAUR

Driven away by his living kin, he wanders mourning through the wilderness, seeking the dead city of Asphodel.

Archer's Eye (3/Day). As a bonus action, the centaur can add 1d10 to its next attack or damage roll with a longbow or shortbow.

Charge. If the centaur moves at least 30 feet straight toward a target and then hits it with a melee attack on the same turn, it can immediately follow that attack with a bonus action, making one attack against the target with its hooves.

Equine Build. The centaur counts as one size larger when determining its carrying capacity and the weight it can push or drag.

In addition, any climb that requires hands and feet is especially difficult for it because of its equine legs. When it makes such a climb, each foot of movement costs it 4 extra feet instead of the normal 1 extra foot.

Returned Nature. The centaur doesn't need food or sleep. It thinks and speaks and even feels emotions based on its new experiences, but given its circumstances, those emotions tend to be muted.

Turn Resistance. The centaur has advantage on saving throws against any effect that turns undead.

Unreadable Face. The centaur is immune to any effect that would sense its emotions or read its thoughts. Wisdom (Insight) checks to ascertain the centaur's intentions or sincerity are made with disadvantage.

Actions

Multiattack. The centaur makes two attacks with its longbow.

Longbow. Ranged Weapon Attack: +4 to hit, range 150/600 ft., one target. Hit: 6 (1d8 + 2) piercing damage.

RETURNED MERCHANT

A Returned merchant buys goods from one polis at low prices and sells them in another polis at highway-robbery prices. At the end of the day, the merchant begins its journey back to Asphodel, with its sacks of gold slung over its shoulder.

Due to its now-acharismatic disposition, it couldn't care less that there's a hole in its sack and that the money it worked all day to con falls on the ground behind it. Highway bandits camp out along the road to Asphodel, allowing the merchant to pass only because doing so ensures the stream of income continues.

Encumbered Flight. When returning to Asphodel from a market, the merchant carries its gold in .5-lb sacks that can hold up to 30 lb. of gold (1,500 gp). (The merchant can carry up to 75 lb., 150 with encumbrance, and 225 lb. with heavy encumbrance. Each level of encumbrance reduces the merchant's speed by 10 feet, and heavy encumbrance causes the merchant to have disadvantage on ability checks, attack rolls, and saving throws that use Strength, Dexterity, or Constitution.)

Innate Spellcasting. The merchant's innate spellcasting ability is Charisma (spell save DC 10, +2 to hit with spell attacks). It can innately cast the following spells, requiring no material components:

At will: thaumaturgy

3/day: calm emotions, enthrall, suggestion

2/day: compulsion

1/day: dominate person, mass suggestion

Returned Nature. The merchant doesn't need food or sleep. It thinks and speaks and even feels emotions based on its new experiences, but given its circumstances, those emotions tend to be muted.

Trail of Gold. Wherever the merchant walks, one of the sacks it carries steadily spills one gold coin at a time until it is empty, then falls to the ground.

Turn Resistance. The merchant has advantage on saving throws against any effect that turns undead.

Unreadable Face. The merchant is immune to any effect that would sense its emotions or read its thoughts. Wisdom (Insight) checks to ascertain the merchant's intentions or sincerity are made with disadvantage.

Actions

When the phalanx hits a creature with an opportunity attack using its spear, javelin, or pike, the creature takes an extra 4 (1d8) piercing damage, and the creature's speed becomes 0 for the rest of the turn.

Multiple Heads. The phalanx has advantage on saving throws against being blinded, charmed, deafened, frightened, stunned, and knocked unconscious.

Returned Nature. The phalanx doesn't need food or sleep. It thinks and speaks and even feels emotions based on its new experiences, but given its circumstances, those emotions tend to be muted.

They lived in different nations and fought in different eras, but as the Returned, they link arms as one.

Mode of Operation. The pseudamma died while carrying out an act of vengeance on her cheating husband: killing the children they had together. In her undeath, she carries out this action at most once per day. She targets a pair of human children who fail on a DC 15 Wisdom (Persuasion) saving throw. She leads them into the Tartyx River, where they drown. Exposure to the Tartyx's waters causes the children to become Returned children. Out of pity for the children, she gifts each with a Returned mask.

Returned Nature. The pseudamma doesn't need food or sleep. It thinks and speaks and even feels emotions based on its new experiences, but given its circumstances, those emotions tend to be muted.

Turn Resistance. The pseudamma has advantage on saving throws against any effect that turns undead.

Unreadable Face. The pseudamma is immune to any effect that would sense its emotions or read its thoughts. Wisdom (Insight) checks to ascertain the pseudamma's intentions or sincerity are made with disadvantage.

Actions

Knife. Melee or Ranged Weapon Attack: +4 to hit, reach 5 ft. or range 20/60 ft., one target. Hit: 4 (1d4 + 2) piercing damage in melee, or 4 (1d4 + 2) piercing damage at range.

Luring Song. The pseudamma sings a magical melody. Every human under the age of 18 within 300 feet of the pseudamma that can hear the song must succeed on a DC 12 Wisdom saving throw or be charmed until the song ends. The pseudamma must take a bonus action on its subsequent turns to continue singing. It can stop singing at any time. The song ends if the pseudamma is incapacitated.

While charmed by the pseudamma, a target is incapacitated and ignores all other sounds. If the charmed target is more than 5 ft. away from the pseudamma, the target must move on its turn toward the pseudamma by the most direct route. It doesn't avoid opportunity attacks, but before moving into damaging terrain, such as lava or a pit, and whenever it takes damage from a source other than the pseudamma, a target can repeat the saving throw. A creature can also repeat the saving throw at the end of each of its turns. If a creature's saving throw is successful, the effect ends on it.

A target that successfully saves is immune to this pseudamma's song for the next 24 hours.

Hold Hands. The pseudamma holds the hand of a target within reach that it has charmed. Until the pseudamma lets go of the hand, that target remains charmed and moves with her.

The flesh is dead and the life forgotten, but old habits persist.

Hedonism. As a bonus action, the satyr can ignite itself. Any objects within 5 feet also ignite, and the reveler drops to 0 hit points.

Magic Resistance. The satyr has advantage on saving throws against spells and other magical effects.

Mirthful Leaps. Whenever the satyr makes a long or high jump, it can cover an additional 1d8 feet, even when making a standing jump. This extra distance costs movement as normal.

Returned Nature. The satyr doesn't need food or sleep. It thinks and speaks and even feels emotions based on its new experiences, but given its circumstances, those emotions tend to be muted.

Sleepless Reveler. Magic can't put the satyr to sleep.

Siege Monster. The satyr deals double damage to objects and structures.

Turn Resistance. The satyr has advantage on saving throws against any effect that turns undead.

Unreadable Face. The satyr is immune to any effect that would sense its emotions or read its thoughts. Wisdom (Insight) checks to ascertain the satyr's intentions or sincerity are made with disadvantage.

APPENDIX A: DISEASES

ACUTE PANCREATITIS

A creature poisoned by sedge scorpion venom may become diseased with acute pancreatitis.

This inflammation lasts for 5 (1d10) days or until the creature is cured of the disease. A creature with this disease must make a DC 11 Constitution saving throw every 24 hours; on a failed save, the it takes 1 acid damage.

GLAZING

Because on Theros the soul is immortal, the dead suffer from a phenomenon known as glazing exists in the Underworld. If a dead body dies, it reanimates at the start of its next turn with 1 hit point per Hit Die it possesses, and it gains one level of exhaustion that can't be removed unless the soul returns to life, at which point all exhaustion gained in this way vanishes. With each level of permanent exhaustion, the soul becomes faded and dull, its eyes glazing over more and more until they are blank, staring pools. A soul that suffers level 6 exhaustion from the continued application of this effect petrifies into a statue called a misera, and it doesn't rise again.

INFERNAL FOOD POISONING

A creature that reaches 4th-level exhaustion while consuming the feast of a master of the feast becomes poisoned for 24 hours, taking 2 (1d4) poison damage per hour.

APPENDIX B: POISONS

Poisons

Here are a few poisons of Theros:

Basilisk Fang Venom (Injury). This poison must be harvested from a dead or incapacitated basilisk. A nonbasilisk creature subjected to this poison takes 7 (2d6) poison damage.

Basilisk Fumes (Inhaled). This poison must be harvested from a basilisk. A non-basilisk creature subjected to this poison must succeed on a DC 14 Constitution saving throw or be poisoned until the start of its next turn, when it takes 36 (8d8) poison damage.

Basilisk Oil (Contact). This poison must be harvested from a basilisk. A non-basilisk creature subjected to this poison takes 10 (2d6 + 3) poison damage plus 7 (2d6) acid damage.

Coastline Chimera Venom (Injury). This poison must be harvested from a dead or incapacitated coastline chimera. A creature subjected to this poison must make a DC 11 Constitution saving throw, taking 10 (3d6) poison damage on a failed save, or half as much damage on a successful one.

Fate Venom (Injury). This poison is used to tip the blades of an agent of the Fates. A creature subjected to this poison must make a DC 15 Constitution saving throw, taking 24 (7d6) poison damage on a failed save, or half as much damage on a successful one.

Gorgon Venom (Injury). This poison must be harvested from a gorgon. A creature subjected to this poison takes 14 (4d6) poison damage.

Graverobber Spider Venom (Injury). This poison must be harvested from a dead or incapacitated graverobber spider. A creature subjected to this poison must make a DC 14 Constitution saving throw, taking 18 (4d8) poison damage on a failed save, or half as much damage on a successful one. If the poison damage reduces the target to 0 hit points, the target is stable but poisoned for 1 hour, even after regaining hit points, and is paralyzed while poisoned in this way.

Grove Dracon Venom (Injury). This poison must be harvested from a dead or incapacitated grove dracon. A creature subjected to this poison must make a DC 16 Constitution saving throw, taking 20 (6d6) poison damage on a failed save, or half as much damage on a successful one.

Nessian Asp Venom (Injury). This poison must be harvested from a Nessian asp. A creature subjected to this poison must make a DC 11 Constitution saving throw, taking 10 (3d6) poison damage on a failed save, or half as much damage on a successful one.

Nessian Wilds Ravager Breath (Inhaled). This poison must be harvested from a Nessian wilds ravager. A creature subjected to this poison takes 7 (2d6) poison damage.

Noxious Hydra Breath (Inhaled). This poison must be harvested from a hydra. A creature subjected to this poison takes 5 necrotic damage.

Nyxborn Viper Venom (Injury). This poison must be harvested from a dead or incapacitated nyxborn viper. A creature subjected to this poison must make a DC 13 Constitution saving throw, taking 7 (2d6) poison damage on a failed save, or half as much damage on a successful one. Riptide Chimera Sting Venom (Injury). This poison must be harvested from a dead or incapacitated riptide chimera. A creature subjected to this poison takes 5 (1d10) poison damage.

Riptide Chimera Tentacle Venom (Injury). This poison must be harvested from a dead or incapacitated riptide chimera. A creature subjected to this poison takes 5 (1d10) poison damage and must make a DC 16 Constitution saving throw. On a failed save, it is paralyzed until the start of its next turn. On a successful save, it isn't paralyzed but its movement is halved until the start of its next turn.

Sedge Scorpion Venom (Injury). This poison must be harvested from a dead or incapacitated sedge scorpion. A creature subjected to this poison takes 2 (1d4) poison damage each hour until cured of this poison.

If a creature below its race's maturity age or having a Constitution modifier of +1 or less is subjected to this poison, roll a d10. On a 9 or less, the creature becomes diseased with acute pancreatitis.

Spider Venom (Injury). This poison must be harvested from a dead or incapacitated nyx weaver or immortal spider. A creature subjected to this poison must make a DC 11 Constitution saving throw, taking 9 (2d8) poison damage on a failed save, or half as much damage on a successful one. If the poison damage reduces the target to 0 hit points, the target is stable but poisoned for 1 hour, even after regaining hit points, and is paralyzed while poisoned in this way.

Viper Venom (Injury). This poison must be harvested from a dead or incapacitated viper. A creature subjected to this poison takes 1 poison damage every minute until cured of this poison.

APPENDIX C: SPELLS

BUFF 1st-level abjuration

Casting Time: 1 bonus action Range: 60 ft. Components: V, S Duration: Instantaneous

A willing creature within range is imbued with power and toughness. Until the end of combat, the creature gains a +1 bonus to damage rolls and Strength and Dexterity checks, and it gains 4 (1d8) temporary hit points.

At Higher Levels. When you cast this spell using a spell slot of 2nd level or higher, the bonus increases by 1 for each slot level above 1st, and the temporary hit points increase by 1d8 for each slot level above 1st.

Exchange Secrets

2nd-level divination (ritual)

Casting Time: 1 minute Range: Touch Components: V, S, M (a Returned mask) Duration: Concentration, up to 1 minute

You and one willing creature both touch a Returned mask of that creature's choice. That creature speaks a secret to you.

The revealed secret is erased entirely from the creature's memory and encoded into the Returned mask. You speak an equally valuable secret to the creature that would have been known by the soul who wore that mask before it lost its memories escaping the Underworld.

FALSE CONSCRIPTION 1st-level enchantment

Casting Time: 1 action Range: 30 ft. Components: V, S, M (a red crystal ball) Duration: 12 seconds

The red crystal ball you are holding becomes wreathed with electricity, and you attempt to charm a creature you can see within range. It must make a Wisdom saving throw, and does so with advantage if you or your companions are fighting it. If it fails the saving throw, it is charmed by you until the spell ends or until you or your companions do anything harmful to it. The charmed creature regards you as a friendly acquaintance and has a +2 initiative bonus. When the spell ends, the creature knows it was charmed by you. The spell ends prematurely if the you lose contact with the ball.

LIMITED MAGIC IMMUNITY

6th-level abjuration

Casting Time: 1 action Range: 30 ft. Components: V, S, M (a shield) Duration: Instantaneous

Choose a creature within range. Until the beginning of that creature's next turn, that creature can't be affected or detected by spells of 6th level or lower unless it wishes to be, and it has advantage on saving throws against all other spells and magical effects.

MANIFEST AT RANDOM 6th-level conjuration

Casting Time: 1 action Range: 120 ft. Components: V, S Duration: Instantaneous

You magically produce a random creature or item in an unoccupied space you can see within 120 feet of yourself. The DM determines at random what is produced. That creature or item, in addition to its other traits, has the following trait:

• Manifested Nature. This creature or item is a 6th-level arcane conjuration spell (in addition to its other types) with no target. Any damage it deals is magical.

Reave Mind

9th-level enchantment

Casting Time: 1 action Range: Sight Components: V, S Duration: Instantaneous

Chooses a creature you see and name a spell. That creature no longer has that spell prepared.

RITUAL OF VENGEANCE

9th-level necromancy (ritual) Casting Time: 1 minute Range: 500 miles

Components: V, S, M (a piece of paper, a temple or stone altar consecrated to Phenax)Duration: Instantaneous

You write the name of a person on a piece of paper, then drive a dagger through it, pinning it to a stone altar or temple consecrated to Phenax. That person must succeed on a DC 5 Charisma saving throw or be killed instantly. A person whose name has been used in the last 30 days is immune to this ritual.

APPENDIX D: VEHICLES

AKROAN HORSE Vehicle (land)

Type: Vehicle (land) Cost: 14,000 gp Weight: 8 tons Height: 25 ft. Length: 30 ft. Width: 7 ft.
