

DEATH HEART

ARDUIN DUNGEON 4 & OVERLAND ADVENTURE

DAVID A. HARGRAVE

A GRIMOIRE GAMES PRODUCTION

INTRODUCTION

This module is designed to tie together the three previous modules, plus add a new dungeon to the mythos. For this reason there are overland maps, and a large number of specific and random overland encounters. The map is so designed as to allow it to fit easily into anyone's world or to give those of you who desire it a new, playable world of your own (one of the so-called "middle kingdoms" or a part of one of them). It's entirely up to you.

This module is not "rated" as were the last three, however, I can generally say that most of the encounters fall somewhere around The Citadel of Thunder's level of difficulty. Be warned, however, that some of the encounters will exceed even the lethality of our toughest previous dungeon; Caliban!

For the most part, less treasure is available, but this was done deliberately so as to allow each individual World Master greater leeway in making this world uniquely their own.

We hope you enjoy this module as much as we did in conceiving it. Have fun!

DEATH HEART

There is a legend, so old that no written word of it exists now. A faint tremor of horror that has crept down the aeons to haunt the nightmares of the men of the peaceful middle kingdoms like some shadow in the mind. It is the story of DEATH HEART.

It is said that in those young days the mightiest of all wizards was Ardaemus of the Silver Flame. So great was his power that the fiercest dragons trembled at the mere mention of his name, and all the kings and princes that abounded in the lands did bow their knees to him.

But Ardaemus cared not for the mundane workings of the world about him, and sought only to further his arcane knowledge, and to hone his mystic might even further. Therefor, he was seldom seen by men, though his works were ever evident.

Thus, when one solstice day he appeared in the city of the high king, many knew him not. From that day forth, he appeared in one city or village after another, always intent and grim. Whenever he was asked what it was he sought, his answer was sharp and short: LOVE.

This answer puzzled the people, for all knew that you could not search out love, it would find you when the time was right. But Ardaemus would not stop his search, becoming gaunt and sickly as he concentrated on his obsession.

Finally, after decades of searching, Ardaemus announced, "I have searched this world and others and have studied and experimented, all in vain, for I could not find love. Therefor, I believe that it does not exist, that it is just a dream weak-minded fools use to befuddle the clarity of the Cosmic All." With that he returned to his mighty citadel in the valley beyond the Mountains of Madness, never to be seen by man again.

Many hundred years passed before anyone thought to go and see if the legendary wizard still lived. So it was that a party of thirty doughty warriors, and not a few assorted lesser wizards set out. The way through the dread mountains was difficult; four of the party meeting a hideous doom among their cold kraggs. Yet the horror of that was next to nothing compared to the vision that awaited them in the legendary valley. Where once a beautiful and cultivated parkland had been were now dank forests and mist shrouded swamps. Where once Ardaemus's proud silver tower had risen to the stars, only rubble ruin, centered in an inky black lake, remained.

Simply crossing the lands to the lake, and its crossing as well, are stories worthy of telling. But another day; simply know that ten more of the party perished before the ruins were reached.

It was soon found that four entrances into the former tower's underways still remained, and there the party found a partial answer to the enigma. Carved above each entry-way were these words: To gain my treasure and my knowledge, brave men must need only bring love into my heart of death.

Only five of the party eventually returned, and those could only babble about "that pulsing heart of doom, that black, beating thing of death!"

For many years, other adventurers tried to fathom the riddle, tried to find the fabulous horde supposedly hidden in the catacombs of the island. But most never returned from beyond the Mountains of Madness, and those few who did bore bloody testimony to the doom that claimed so many.

Some treasure was found, but much more was left behind by the nobles and paladins that for so long tried to be the one to succeed. Eventually none were left that would dare. And so passed away centuries, peacefully and silently. Kingdoms rose and fell, princes came and went, and Death Heart never ceased its beat. But none were there to hear, for men had forgotten to listen. Dare you now?

GENERAL OVERLAND ENCOUNTERS

Each day travelled on the large scale overland map, roll a D12 to see if an encounter has happened. A roll of 11-12 indicates it has. If an encounter is rolled, roll on the appropriate chart to see which one it was. Remember, most of them are only good once.

GENERAL CIRCUMSTANCES

ENCOUNTER & TREASURE

- 1 A sudden, thick and clammy fog has risen from the small marsh to your right. Visibility has dropped to one to five feet, and there is a heavy smell of honey. The magikal fog will last 11-20 melee rounds then dissipate immediately.

Suddenly six slime-covered skeletons in rusted mail (AC 4) with scimitars rise up out of the muck and silently attack! Each is 1+1 HD, 9 HP and has a dex of 15. In the 4' deep bog, 30' from the path, is a 3'x3'x2' rusty iron chest containing 800 s.p. Underneath them is a blood-stained map showing the way to Death Heart/Poseidon's stairs.
- 2 The forest has become strangely quiet, and the air has become still and breezeless. Then, faintly, as if from a distance, there comes the sound of tinkling - like little silver bells (this lasts 1D20 melee rounds and has no apparent source). When the sound stops, the encounter begins!

Seven trees close to the party open up secret doors and disgorge a band of half-orc slavers! Each wears studded leather armor (AC 5) and has a 9' square weighted throwing net; shortsword; dagger, and leg irons. Each also has a pouch with 25 c.p. 25 s.p. and 5 g.s. All are 5 HD, 40 HP, and have a dex of 13.
- 3 Ten feet off the path, to the left, is a small rough stone shrine to the minor godlet "Pukel the Gibberer." The 10" tall jade (poor quality) idol is worth about 80 g.s. There are small offerings of food and copper pennys (two silver ones!) near its base. If the party does not give an offering, or disturbs the shrine, the encounter begins!

From under rotted logs, piles of leaves, bushes, everywhere, they come! Sixty (yes, 60!) 1/2 HD, 2 HP, AC 7 rats. All chittering and swarming with little beady red eyes! Each bite does 1 point and has a 20% chance of being diseased (roll a random one). The treasure? Why, it's the statue you twit!
- 4 A sudden, ice-cold wind has blown up, swirling leaves and twigs around in a frenzied pattern of fear. This lasts 1D6 melee rounds. Abruptly it ceases, and there's a 1 melee round pause, then it starts again, redoubled in its frenzied fury. Howling and frigid, it is practically strong enough to blow people off horses. This lasts 1D3 melee rounds. When it ceases, the melee begins!

Three ghostly wraiths rise up from the very ground itself. They are 4+1 HD, 36 HP, have dexters of 18, and ACs of 3 (+4). They guard a long forgotten tomb buried 3' down under the path. Inside it are gems and jewels valued at 8,960 g.s. and the magik sword "Black Raiser" which is plus three to hit and to damage.
- 5 A tree has fallen and blocked your way (it would take four men to slowly move it out of the way). There is no

Hidden in the fallen tree's branches is a mated pair of 3+1 HD, 27 HP, AC 5 (+4) Wobras. They have dexters of 19 and 20.

(con't) | safe way around it for 1/2 mile in either direction due to the peat bog you were passing through. If you try to move the tree or come within 3' of it the encounter begins! | There is no treasure - unless you count the six Wobra eggs! |
| 6 | Rounding a curve in the path, you suddenly come face-to-face with a band of mercenary warriors, on foot, and in a double column about 15' away. There is a 75% chance they'll try to rob you; 20% chance they'll ignore you; 5% chance they'll help you. | Six of the mercenary warriors have swords, chain mail, and shields (AC 4), and have dexts of 12. Three have banded leather (AC 6) and dexts of 14. They carry light crossbows and shortsworcls. The leader is in full plate (he's the only mounted one), AC 3, and carries a 2-handed sword (his dex is 11). All are second level, 40 HP, and 5HD. Between them they have 180 s.p., 47 g.s., and 66 c.p. |
| 7 | As you ford the stream, the water suddenly turns blood red and becomes glassy-smooth. A melee turn later, faint tendrils of red steam begin rising from it, coalescing into a dense fog (visibility one to five feet) in 1D6 melee rounds, and covering 300' in radius from the ford. Now the encounter begins! | This is the "joke" of the slightly mad "water sprite" Beedle De Dee. He is AC 2 (+4), 3+1 HD, 27 HP and has a dex of 21. He can use all magik up to the 3rd level in power and hates Elves! Not really vicious, he will nonetheless pester a party unmercifully until they give him "wine and honey cakes!" |
| 8 | Rounding a curve in the path, you see a large (30' wide/15' deep) circular hole directly in front of you. The sides are smooth and glassy-looking but the bottom is broken earth and jumbled rock. Protruding about one foot out from the center bottom of the hole is what appears to be the edge of an iron chest. The encounter is up to you! | Burrowed in the dirt at the bottom of the hole are nine (9) 2+1 HD, 18 HP, dex 17 "Mud Spiders." Each has an AC of 6 and can leap 15' (move 80' per turn). Their bite does 1D4 damage and causes all who fail a "save versus poison" to have their flesh turned to stone! This takes 1D12 melee rounds. Inside the large chest is 2,000 s.p. |
| 9 | Across a small (15' wide) clearing is a small (12' square) ramshackle hut. Tied to a post in front is a beautiful white heavy warhorse (5+1 HD, 45 HP) with a beautiful set of saddle, saddle bags, etc. of red and gold leather. Also strapped to it is a heavy crossbow and case (30 silver-tipped bolts) of teakwood and steel. | In the musty hut is a glittering array of jewels and gems (8,965 g.s. worth) spilling out of a small wooden chest on a rickety table in the center of the room. Paragon the mad Paladin (it's his horse, dummy!) is its owner! He's 14th level, wears full plate with shield (AC 2), and carries a magik mace which is +3 to hit. He is 7+1 HD, 63 HP, and has a dex of 20! |
| 10 | The small stream cuts across your path (it is 3 feet wide and 3 feet deep). There is a 14" diameter 8' long mossy log down across it. Cross the stream by not using the log and the encounter starts! All who do cross the | The stream contains six large, transparent (invisible in the water) leeches. Each is 2+1 HD, 18 HP, dex 18, AC 7 and can move 90' per turn (in the water, 1/3 that on land). Their bite is painless (1 point damage) but they drain one life |

He bellows "a riddle! a riddle! I must have a riddle!" If your party can give him one fast he will answer one question (your choice) and leave. If not	He is 6+1 HD, 54 HP, AC 2 (+4) and has a dex of 18. He strikes for 1D12 plus 1D4 heat damage, and can do any spell first through third level (one per turn). He can fly (250' turn), become invisible or burst into a 7' radius (4D6) flame at will. He loves riddles and hates people who don't know any. His name is T'chok.
12	Congratulations! You have managed to attract the attention of an adult dragon! He is red and gold, with a 75 foot wingspan, and an appetite to match! Feed him 1D4 horses and he'll probably let you go (a 75% chance). Don't feed him and he'll "eat" anyway! Good luck!	Ssooring (the dragon) is 10+1 HD, 110 HP and has an AC of 2+1 (+3) due to his dex of 17. He flies at 450' per turn, or runs at 120' per turn. He can bite for 4D6, use his claws (1D8 each), his wings (1D6 each) to buffet, or his tail to smash at 6D6. Or he can breathe 110 points of fire in a 90°x20' cone. Whew!

SPECIAL ENCOUNTERS

Although you may encounter a Random Encounter anywhere, when entering certain specified areas a particular encounter is sometimes what must happen. Any treasure for these encounters is up to the individual World Master, however, I suggest that some recompense be allowed, as these are extremely tough encounters!

% Chance for the Encounter	The General Area and Circumstances	The Encounter
50% per day	The Dragon's Nest Forest is mostly of tall (100' or more) ironwood trees set very close together. There is usually room to ride beneath the trees but it is gloomy and dark in there and very, very quiet. Remember it is as its name implies; dragons live there. This is well known to those who live near it, but you do have to ask!	Roll a D12, if a 9-12 is rolled you have come upon a dragon by surprise. Roll any other number and the dragon has surprised you! It is a 15 HD, 150 HP Adult Violet Dragon. His dex is 16, and his AC is 2+4 (+2) (See AG III). There is a 75% chance he'll hesitate 1D3 melee rounds and a 05% chance he'll talk to you. Roll!
Special*	The forest of Fear is comprised of 45' to 60' tall moss hung cypress and Banyon trees. The branches are so low that a person must stoop to walk under them half the time. It is very dark, moist, and oppressive in there. The people at the Winged Elf Inn can only tell you stories of a haunted treasure in the center of the forest.	In the center of the forest is a 45' diameter clearing in the center of which is an aeons old sarcophagus of cracked black stone. It is worn, but horrific carvings may still be seen on it. *Open it and out comes a Black Wind! (See AG II) It is 10 HD, 80 HP, dex 24 and AC 2+2. Free! Free at last! This 20' cloud of ebon death is now after you!
75% per day	The Silver Forest is the home of a VALPYR (see AG II) named Khor-mankai. He never leaves the forest as he was cursed by the Elves who used to live there (most of whom he slew, the rest fled) to forever wander, lost among the trees. This is all a dim legend known to the owner of the Laughing Dragon Inn. As is the lost treasure of the Elf King.	There is a 50/50 chance you'll surprise him or he'll surprise you. After all, it is a dense forest of beautiful silver pine, silver oak, and silver linden trees, (80' to 120' tall). He is 10+1 HD, 90 HP, dex 20, AC 2+5 (+2). His attacks are all at plus six to hit due to strength and expertise, but who knows, show him the way out and he may (20% chance) let you live!
60% per day in the forest or a flat 15% chance at The Ford of Bereing- ere	The Bereingere Forest is comprised of spruce, pine and eucalyptus trees set fairly far apart (you can ride between them easily). Unbeknownst to anyone, a large, demented TRYVERN (See AG I) has taken up residence there. It was the captive of a mage for years, and now hates all mages insanely. It always attacks mages on sight, otherwise it only attacks 90% of the time.	It is 12HD, 96 HP, dex 15, AC 2(+1). roll a D12; a 1-6 means you both see each other simultaneously some 30 yards apart. A 7-10 means you surprise him from behind at 15 yards distance and an 11 to 12 means he has snuck up behind you for a sneak attack! Surprise!

% Chance for the Encounter	The General Area and Circumstances	The Encounter
100% at The Tomb or 50% per day otherwise	The Forest of the Moon is comprised mainly of tall (180' to 320') Redwoods spaced far apart. There is a moderate amount of fern-like under-growth but riding through it is relatively easy. Anyone in the land can tell you of the legend of Princess Mairee (an Elf) and of how she died in the forest mysteriously a thousand years ago. There she is still supposedly buried with all of her jewels and other treasures under a large blue pyramidal rock. But it's just a legend, right?!	In the forest, near the Misty Moon River is the tomb (under the large blue pyramid-shaped rock). Haunting the tomb and the surrounding forest are seven BLUE WRAITHES (see AG III). (one always guards the tomb, but roll a D6 to see how many show up elsewhere). They are 9 HD, 72 HP, dex 19, AC 2+5 (+2) and always surprise their victims. They cannot leave the forest.
40% per day in the forest and a flat 15% chance at the ford	The Iron Thorn Forest is the home of a band of Highwaymen led by one Selvar Blue Hand. This is general knowledge throughout the land, as is his usual ambush areas at the Ford of Talen, in fast foot pass, or on the Broken Road. He usually takes prisoners and holds them for ransom, however, he hates Elves and always kills them on the spot! All are mounted.	The leader wears chain mail and carries a shield [AC 4 (+2)] and the magik sword "Flashfast." It is plus five to strike (his attack is plus ten to hit!). He is 10th level, 6+1 HD, 54 HP and has a dex of 16. He has ten hench men, all wear banded leather and carry shields (AC 5). Four have swords, four have axes and two have maces (all are plus two to hit). Each is 2nd level, 4+1 HD, 36 HP and have dexts of 14.
35% per day in each!	Small Swamp, The Fens of Sallow Bane, and Moon Marsh all harbor slimy, horrible MAGGOTHS. Each also has some legend or other about a lost party of travellers and some fabulous artifact or treasure they were carrying. Riding is impossible in them, and walking is very difficult (1/4 speed). There is a chance of quicksand or drowning as well.	The MAGGOTHS are generally alone and 12+1 HD, 108 HP, dex 9, AC 7 horrors. There is a 65% chance they'll rise up out of the mud to surprise the party. Otherwise you'll probably see it coming 1D100 yards away.
10% per day	Brownfoot Marsh, Tremble Step Marsh, Dragon's Blood Marsh, and Mist Fang Marsh are all areas where a single huge SILVER SLYTH hunts. It is always seen by the party after it has started tracking them at a range that depends on the terrain. Usually 100 to 500 yards away. It never stops tracking its prey* (See AG III).	The thing is probably the hugest thing you will ever have the misfortune to run across. It is about 200' long, 60 HD, 500 HP, dex 12, and has an AC that varies from 2+5 on its cilia to 2+1 on its immense body. Its one saving grace is that it will not * enter the forests, lake, or mountains, so run as fast as you can!

On the lake, a 50% chance per hour. Near the lake a 10% chance per day.	Black Heart Lake , nearly bottomless, frigid and murky, is plagued with a nearly constant black fog (80% of the time) on its surface (10' to 20' thick) that hides what lurks below.	A huge, 13 armed kraken lives here. It is 34 HD, 280 HP, dex 14. Its arms are 95' long and can hit for 6D10 (80%) or wrap and crush for 10D10 (20%) each turn. Its bite? Well, let's just say it is instantly fatal to anything up to the size of an elephant! It attacks with 1D12 +1 tentacles each turn.
25% chance per day	Dim Doom Forest , and Dark Mouth Forest each are the homes for a single I bathene (See AG I). The huge (200' to 400') redwoods and soft fern undergrowth make it easy for those behemoths to move around. Neither will enter the marsh, nor approach the lake, fearing what lurks there.	Each is 33 HD, 250 HP, dex 10 and has an AC ranging from 2+1 (overall) to 3 (eye-stalk). They are 88' and 85' long respectively and are always hungry. Their tongue alone can reach 33' (it does 3D6 crush damage) and their bite does 7 to 70. Each claw (there are two) does 4 to 48 or they can tail smash instead for 5 to 60. All in all I'd recommend you avoid them!

RANDOM ENCOUNTER CHART

FOR THE AREA AROUND DEATH HEART

DIE ROLL	General Circumstances	Encounter and Treasure
1	In the rocks around you faint tinkling bells are heard. The air seems charged with electricity and sparks jump and dance from every metal object. The wind dies and a blue glow spreads across the rocks until you are surrounded by the intense light (all attack/defense is minus two due to the glare). The encounter starts now!	A horrendous stench assails your nostrils and suddenly it's there! A Star Spyder (see AG III)! It is 20 HD, 160 HP, dex 18 and AC 2+4 (+3) arms/2+2 (+4) body/ 7 (+4) eye. It will take one of your party then fade away. If not slain it will re-appear every 1D20 hours to take another until all are gone or it is slain. Good luck!
2	The grassland around you is difficult to move and see in. The 8' tall grass cuts and scratches and constantly trips up man and horse (move at 1/3 speed). Suddenly you come to a 30' diameter clearing with a small pool of water in its center (10' across, 1' to 3' deep). The encounter begins as you cross the clearing.	A pride of Black Lions lie in wait. There are two males of 8+1 HD, 72 HP, dex 18, AC 3 (+4) and three females of 6+1 HD, 56 HP, dex 19, AC 3 (+4). Roll 1D5 to see how many attack at one melee round intervals thereafter. Roar!
3	The veldt-like savannah you are crossing is dotted with stumpy trees and herds of grazing animals. One such herd blocks your path, about 50 yards ahead. There is no way around them if you are to stay on the faint trail you've been following. Approach within 20 yards and the encounter begins!	It is a herd of POWERHORNS (see the appropriate card in this set). Roll a D 20 to see how many attack. These are all young bucks, so they are 4+1 HD, 40 HP, dex 16, AC 7 (+2) critters. Then roll to see how many of that number charge each turn until all have come at you. They don't quit you know!
4	You are riding around a small but dense grove of large Oak trees festooned in hanging moss. The air smells strongly of honeysuckle, and a strange bird twitters weirdly from the grove. Suddenly a woman's voice groans loudly: "Oh gods, help! Help me! Aieeee! Oh, help!"	If you go into the trees to investigate, the encounter begins 1D10 melee rounds thereafter. You'll see what appears to be a very beautiful (Charisma 17) nude woman lying in a small clearing. In fact it's a MANSTER (see AG II) of 8 HD, 64 HP, dex 18, AC 2 (+4) that can use first level magik! Watch out!
5	A sudden fierce rain shower hits your party. You can keep going, seek shelter in the trees 100 yards ahead or duck into the small cave in the hill to your right about ten yards away. Either choice will start the encounter, because they're at both locations.	Surprise! There are 2D12 HAGGORYM (see AG II) living here! All are 3+1 HD, 27 HP, dex 15, AC 4 (+1) and carry cudgels, stone axes, flint axes or obsidian tipped spears. And they think you're dinner!

FOR THE AREA AROUND DEATH HEART (con't)

Die Roll	General Circumstances	Encounter and Treasure
6	The small brook (6' wide by 2' deep) you are crossing seems to have hot water flowing in it, causing wisps of steam to rise. If you stop to investigate it, the encounter will begin. If you don't stop there is still a 20% chance for the encounter anyway!	With total surprise 1D4 Thermites (see AG I) errupt from the ground (with a 10% chance, each, they'll be directly under a victim!). Each is 5+1 HD, 45 HP, dex 15, AC 3 (+1) and are glowing hot! No wonder the water's warm!
7	You've been spotted by a flight of hungry Griffons ! Roll a D12 to see if you spot them ! 1-4, no, they surprise you. 5-8, you see them in time to draw weapons. 9-12, you see them as soon as they see you.	Each of the four Griffons is 6+1 HD, 54 HP, dex 17, AC 2 (+3) and gets five attacks! 2 claws for 1D8 each, One bite for 1D10 and 2 wing buffetts for 1D4 each. If you give each one a horse they'll let you go!
8	One of your party has contracted the dread "Red Rot" while passing this way. Roll to see who the unlucky one is (see AG III, under monsters).	The victim begins turning to red goo (4D6 initially) at 1D12 per hour. It is painful and quite horrible to look at! Yuck! It is not contagious.

TREASURE CHEST TRAP MATRIX

DIE ROLL	RESULTS
1	The trap sticks (and fires 1D6 melee rounds later). It's a 7D8 poisoned steel needle.
2	Chunk! A 3' long (plus eight to hit) sword blade stabs out!
3	Crackle - Zap! A 5D8 electrical charge just fried you!
4	Hisssss! GAS! A 30' diameter cloud of 10D6 potency is now surrounding you. Gasp!
5	Rrrriipp! A whirling saw blade slashes out (4D6 damage) to cut you down!
6	Whap! A plus ten to hit heavy crossbow bolt has just fired!
7	Lucky you! The trap is broken!
8	Splaat! 8D6 acid has just sprayed you!
9	It's that old poisoned needle again! 6D8 this time.
10	Even luckier - It isn't trapped at all!

R O O M O N E	This is the "Heart" of the catacombs, the place where the ages-old riddle has meaning. The walls, floor and 75' ceiling are all of the blackest jade. Equidistant around the center, some 50' up, are 13 glowing "stars" of the purest white light. In the center of the room is a huge throne carved from a single, gargantuan, primevil red pearl (see the illustration in this book). The air is frigid (0°) and smells strongly of cloves. Throughout, the pulsing beat of the guardian's heart beats like the drums of Hell. The treasure is inside the pedestal and consists of only one item: THE BOOK OF AEONS authored by Ardaemus himself. This huge tome (54" tall, 39" wide and 40" thick, weighing 150 lbs!) contains every spell in the Arduin Trilogy.	The guardian is a minor demonic entity called DEATH HEART (see illustration in this book). It is 13' tall, has skin as white as milk, and has a 100 carat rainbow diamond imbedded in its skull. Its eyes are pits of ruby flame and its breast is translucent, so that its pulsing heart is clearly visible. Its crown and girdle are of orichalcum and its weaponry is adamantine. It is 13+1 HD, 143 HP, dex 20, AC 2+5 (+2). It gets four physical attacks (plus eight to hit) for 4D6 each, and one magikal spell (up to 13th level) per turn.
R O O M T W O	This room has corrugated tin walls, oak plank floor and a 20' concret ceiling. There is a distinct odor of rotted fish and Dwarves will become nauseous in two melee rounds and unconscious in six. The treasure is wedged behind the tin south wall. It consists of 35 bags of 50 s.p. each, a plus one to hit spear called "BARANG" and a one use scroll of the spell The Crimson Bands of Cytorakk.	The guardians are four Moondogs. DEATH HEART TRAP MATRIX

Trap Designation	Type of Trap	Description of Trap
A	10' wall section	A 7' sword blade swings out 75% of the time it is passed. It is plus ten (+ 10) to strike and does 8D6 damage.
B	10' floor section	A simple trap door that opens 90% of the time its center is stepped on. The fall is 30' to jagged rocks (5D6 damage).
C	10' ceiling section	A simple dead-fall that triggers 60% of the time it is passed under. The falling section weights 500 lbs and does 10D8 damage.
D	The door itself	When the beautiful crystal door knob is turned to the left a 7D6 electrical shock is delivered 90% of the time.
E	10' wall section	50% of the time this section is passed, a 6D8 spray of acid covers the 10' area next to it.
F	10' floor section	Another trap door that opens 80% of the time its center is stepped on. The fall is 100' to rough rock for 12D6 damage.
G	10' ceiling section	This entire section fires a 100 point heat ray (20% of the time it's passed under) straight down.
H	10' floor section	This section disintegrates completely under foot 60% of the time it is walked upon. The drop is 6' into a pool of acid that does 4D8 damage per turn (5' deep).
I	10' floor section	The floor here fires a cold blast (6D8 potency) straight up 50% of the time it's walked upon.
J	10' ceiling section	This section fires a random teleport beam on whoever first walks upon it each day.
K	10' wall section on both sides of the corridor	These two wall sections smash together 20% of the time they are passed between, doing 13D6 damage. They separate and reset in 1D10 minutes.
L	10' section of floor and ceiling.	These two sections instantly do one of two things (50/50) when walked on/under: either fire a pink magik nullification ray down or a green whimsey ray up . This works 35% of the time.
M	The door itself	The door shape changes into a bronze ooze of 6 HD, 48 HP, AC 2, dex 13 and falls on the entity attempting to open the door . All it covers is transmuted to bronze at 3HD in size per turn. It can move 60' per turn and has infra red sensors with a 90' range. It is 100% immune to fire, fear, confusion, stoning or all psychic attacks or probes.

MANTISAUR

Type: Magikal Giant Mantis-Allosaurus hybrid HD: 9+1 to 13+1 Size: 2' tall and 3' long per HD in size AC: 3 (+4) Dex: 18 to 23 Speed: 180' per turn (240' charge). Number: Usually alone Attacks: 1 tail bash for 1D12 to 2D12 or 1 kick for 1D8 to 2D8 and 2 "grab" claws for 1D4 to 1D8 each. If both claws "grab" the victim is bitten (next turn) for 2D6 to 4D6 (all damage is swallowed!) Looks: A bright green mixture of scales and chitin (see this card) with brilliant orange compound eyes. Notes: This critter can leap up to 60' horizontally or 45' vertically and will pursue its chosen prey for up to 1D20 days (if need be) before tiring!

FR

POWER HORN

Type: Large Animal HD: 4+1 to 7+1 Size: 6' to 9' tall at the shoulder AC: 7 Dex: 14 to 18 Speed: 195' per turn (+50% charge) Number: 1 to 20 Attacks: Two hooves for 1D4 to 1D8 each, and one horn slash*(1D6 to 1D10) or one horn stab* (1D8 to 1D12). Looks: Like an oversized, single-horned Okapi. Notes: Normally docile and shy, the males go berserk during mating season and attack everything that moves! Oh, their mating season is ten months long! * The horn generates a high frequency vibration, allowing it to attack all AC's as AC9! The vibration also does D8 extra damage. They are 100% "sonics" resistant.

HORRAGUS

Type: Highly magikal, ancient and primevil life form HD: always 13+1 Size: 20' to 30' long AC: 2+2 Dex: 15 to 18 Speed: 90' per turn (9' per minute through solid rock!) Number: Usually alone Attacks: Five tentacles that can either: bash (60%) for 1D8, crush (30%) for 2D8 or bite (10%) for 1D10 that drains one life level per turn. There is a 5% extra chance it will tail smash for 3D6. Looks: Mostly black and red in rippling and shifting bands of dull color. Notes: These things were alive before all other life on the world, and their evil is as ancient as the stars. They are the minions of Cthulhulos and may be summoned by the Priest-Mages who worship him! They regenerate all damage at 2 points per turn and are totally immune to poisons, venoms, acids or "holy water." They are mindless, so suffer from no form of psychic attack, fear or confusion. They exist only to devour all they can catch!

GORSWAMPUS

Type: Mutated gorilla HD: 8+1 to 10+1 Size: 8' to 10' forelegs to top of head AC: 5 Dex: 12 to 16 Speed: 90' per turn (180' charge), half that in water. Number: 1 to 12 Attacks: Two claws for 1D10 to 2D8 each and one bite for 1D8 to 1D10. If both hands strike there is a 50% chance they will "hug" their target for 2D8 to 4D6 crush damage or (20% chance) they'll kick for 1D10 to 1D12. They have also been known to throw their victims 10' to 40'! Looks: Pale green furred centaur-like gorillas. Notes: These normally peacheful marsh dwellers usually hide or flee from adventurers. However, for some biologically weird reason, the mere smell of an Elf sends them into a ram-paging and maniacal fury! They swim better than humans.

LASH LICH

Type: Undead Priest-Mage of Cthulhulos HD: always 13 Size: Variable AC: 2+4 (+3) Dex: 20 to 24 Speed: 120' per turn Number: always alone Attacks: Two lash like tentacles that can stretch to 13' and hit for 1D20 damage as well as draining two (2) life levels! They strike like +3 two-handed flails. Looks: Slimy, mouldering skeletons with a pair of inky, oozy black tentacles and dancing black flames for eyes! Notes: What a "lucky" Priest-Mage of Cthulhulos may become in reward for years of service! These abominations may use two (2) magik spells per melee turn of any kind (up to 20th level) but prefer the more horrific and painful ones. They are soul-less and know no fear, consorting with demons and other foul things as a matter of course. They are totally immune to psychic probe or attack, life drains/blasting and cold. Holy water "burns" them like acid/fire at 1D8 per vial and is the only damage they do not regenerate at 3 points per melee round. They can become ethereal at will and have natural "true seeing." They are evil incarnate and exist only to destroy! destroy! destroy! They are very rare.

STONING/CH/CF

THE HAND OF SET

Type: Undead/magikal construct HD: 5+1 Size: variable, but usually as for a human hand plus 3 to 5". AC: 2+7 Dex: always 19 Number: usually singly or a pair (left and right) Attacks: Each "finger" bites as if it were a 13HD serpent, inflicting 1D3 points damage and injecting a venom that does 5D8 damage and causes: paralysis (1D20 hours); blindness (1D4 hours) and insanity (1D100 days) FOUR SAVES MUST BE MADE (one for each). Notes: The "hand" flies at up to 360' per turn and never rests until it has slain its ordained victim. The victim must specifically be named or "to attack who-so-ever opens this door" type of orders must be given to it. They regenerate all damage at 1 point per turn and cannot be life drained/blasted.

CF/F

ZOMBIRDS

Type: Undead avian. HD: 1+4 Size: 20" to 24" tall AC: 4 (+4) Dex: 18 to 20 Speed: 330' per turn (air)/ 30' ground. Number: 1 to 20 Attacks: 2 claws for 1D3 each, and one bite for 1D4. However, all hit must "save" versus poison or fall into a stuporous trance.* Looks: Dusky grey skeletal, partially feathered rooks with fiery blue glowing eyes and a nauseating smell. Notes: These creatures are "undead" spys and messengers of evil liches and other unsavory types. *Those in the "trance" become zombie-like slaves of the zombird's master for 1D4 hours.

KHAI-ZIRIN

Type: Intelligent felinoid HD: 3+1 to 6+1 Size: 5' to 7' tall Dex: 18 to 22 AC: 6 (+4) Number: Usually alone or as a mated pair. Attacks: by weapon type and/or 2 claws for 1D4 to 1D6 each and one bite for 1D6 to 1D8. If both claws hit there is a 50% chance they'll "grapple" striking with their two hind claws as well. Speed: 150' per turn Looks: Usually honey blonde to (black to red stripes) dark brown with either green or violet eyes and bright red claws. Notes: The degenerated remnants of a star faring race they now prefer using rapiers, daggers and throwing darts but do recognize and occasionally use technological items as well. They detest humans and dwarves, tolerate Elves, and just love hobbits! They climb and hear like the "cats" they are and hate water passionately. They also have infra-vision and a keen sense of smell.

MAGIK ARTIFACT: THE HAND OF DOOM (MAGIKAL CESTUS)

Value: 40,000 g.s. Composition: Troll hide, adamantite and carved dragon bone. Age: 50,000 years Looks: See illustration. Size: fits all normal humanoid hands. Weight: 1 1/2 lbs. Magik Powers: When used to strike with, it attacks as a plus five (+5) to hit maul. Each of the carved beasts store power obtained from the "cosmos" and can fire a charge once per day. The unicorn fires gold; the Dragon fires flame; the Lion fires a sonic blast; and the serpent spews acid. Each "shot" is a cone 15' long by 5' wide and does 25 points of damage. They may be fired singly or in any combination. Notes: There is a 3% chance each time one is fired it will instead detonate the carved figure (destroying it) and, of course, harming the wearer.

MAGIK ARTIFACT: SKULL STARR (MYSTIC AMULET)

Value: 48,500 g.s. Composition: Orichalcum and fire demon bone. Age: 10,000 years. Looks: See illustration. Size: 4 1/2 " across. Weight: 15 ounces. Magik Powers: The wearer of the amulet has three powers and abilities: Regeneration of all damage at one point per turn; "True seeing;" and the ability to double his dexterity during combat. Its only drawback is its composition (it emanates evil).

MAGIK ARTIFACT: THUNDER THING

(SubAtomic Stasis Compacting Field Generator/Projector)

Value: Unknown Composition: Engraved titanium-boron alloy. Age: 800 years Looks: See illustration, generally metallic blue overall. Size: 77" long. Weight: 18 1/2 lbs. Power Source: Nuclear Pellet Maximum Charge: 100 Maximum Range: 120 yards. Notes: When the "striker" is cocked, a 3' diameter stasis compacting field forms "bubble-like" from the muzzle. Any non-sentient thing in the field is immediately stasis compacted/loaded into the gun! When the gun is fired the "charge" leaves the muzzle at 500 feet per second, rapidly expanding to its normal size. Damage caused to targets aimed at would, of course, depend on just what the "missile" was! It sounds like a cannon going off when it fires. Have fun with this one!

MAGIK ARTIFACT: PRISON DRING (RING OF INESCAPABLE TRAPPING)

Value: 100,000 g.s. Composition: Mithril with adamantite "bars" Age: 100,000 years. Looks: See illustration Size: Fits all "humanoid" fingers. Weight: 3 1/2 ounces. Magik Powers: It will "trap" and imprison any single sentient being within 30' if it is: pointed at the intended victim and the words "Barzak dul Amalrik!" are shouted loudly. However if there is already a "prisoner" in the ring, that being is immediately ejected to make room for the new victim. There is no "save!" Any victim may be conversed with and in fact is totally alive, needing food and water, etc.

MAGIK ARTIFACT: KILL SERPENT (MAGIK SHORT FLAIL)

Value: 25,500 g.s. Composition: Oak, iron and living serpents' heads! Age: 2,000 years Looks: See illustration Weight: 7 1/2 lbs. Size: 30" hant Magik Powers: It is plus three (+3) to strike and to damage. All hit are bitten 103 times by the serpent heads. The venom does 308 damage and causes confusion (minus three to attack and defense) for 106 melee rounds thereafter. Notes: The serpents hiss and squirm constantly and snap at all but the wielder if they come near.

MAGIK ARTIFACT: DEATH TONGUE (Mechanically Augmented Magik Sword)

Value: 20,000 g.s. Composition: fine steel, gold, silver and mithril Age: 1,500 years Looks: See illustration Weight: 6 1/2 lbs. Size: 38" (44") blade. Magik Powers: It is plus two (+2) to hit and to damage. Other Specials: The blade is spring loaded and thus has 6 hidden inches of length. Surprise! If it is triggered as it strikes an opponent the damage is doubled. However, it takes a full melee turn to re-set.

MAGIK ARTIFACT: THE BELT OF THE PALADIN OF THE WEB

Value: 45,000 g.s. Composition: Spider silk and live spider! Age: Unknown Looks: See illustration, but basically black, grey and red. Size: Fits all waists from 20" to 48". Weight: One lb. Magik Powers: The wearer can shape change into a spider the same size as his/her own HD. It has a dex of 24, AC of 5 and a speed of 180' per turn. Its venom does 108 per HD of size and its bite does one point per HD in size. At all times the wearer is totally immune to all arachnidae venom and no web will ever stick to them. The spider bites whoever puts it on; if a "save" vs venom is failed it is DEATH. A save means the belt is yours.

MAGIK ARTIFACT: THE ARMOR OF GWILLAM THE MAD

Value: 75,000 g.s. Composition: Mithril and spider silk (lining) Age: 1,150 years Looks: see illustration, a pale shimmering blue-white over all. Size: Fits all humanoids 6' to 6'2" tall, and 175 to 195 lbs. Magik Powers: The AC of this outfit is 2+4 and the helm gives "true seeing" and "Elven hearing." While worn, the wearer is totally impervious to cold, and all acids. The wearer may also "walk on any liquid." Its only drawback is that it is imbued with the "soul" of poor, mad Gwillam, and all who wear it have a 5% chance each month of becoming as bonkers as he was!

The Trap Matrix may be used one of two ways: first, the Dungeon Master may assign these traps to specific locations as he wishes or indicate a trap is there than random roll the type; second, for totally random placement (and to keep the players guessin!, roll a D20 and this will be the number of squares the party will travel before encountering a new trap. If the second system is used, remember to keep track of the trap placement for that run. It needn't be the same on later adventures. Remember too, traps can also have treasure!
