Prime Requisites: Wizards (of any type) with an Intelligence of 16 or greater earn 10% additional experience.

* Elemental air, earth, fire, and water are not truly considered schools, but are summarized as such for convenience here.

 Can be multiclassed if a gnome.

Specialist Wizards

- Specialist wizards must be single classed (except for gnomes, who may be multiclassed illusionists). Dual-class humans may be specialists.
- Specialist wizards cannot learn spells from their opposition school or schools.
- Specialists gain one additional spell per spell level, provided the additional spell is taken in the specialist's school.
- Specialists receive a +1 bonus when making saving throws against those spells in their school when they are cast by other wizards. Other characters receive a -1 penalty when making saving throws against specialists casting spells within their schools.
- Specialists receive a +15% bonus when learning new spells from their school and a -15% penalty when learning new spells from other schools.
- When specialists reach a new spell level, they automatically gain one spell of their school to add to their spell books. They do not need to make a roll for learning this spell.
- When a specialist tries to create new spells, the DM counts the new spells as one level less (for determining the difficulty) if they fall within the specialist's school.

Wild Mages

- Wild mages are nontraditional specialists. They do not belong to a particular school, but they have an affinity for wild magic spells. They must be single classed, but can be dual-classed if human.
- No wizard other than a wild mage may attempt to use the spells of wild magic.
- Wild mages gain one additional spell per spell level, provided the additional spell is a wild magic spell.
- Wild mages receive a +10% bonus when learning new wild magic spells and a -5% penalty when learning other spells.
- When wild mage tries to create new spells, the DM counts the new spells as one level less for determining the research difficulty, decreasing the amount of time and money needed to create new spells.
- Wild mages can control certain normally random-behaving magical items 50% of the time. They can control wands of wonder 50% of the time, allowing them to use charges from the wand to cast any spell they already know (but do not necessarily have memorized). The number of charges used by the wand is equal to the number of levels of the spell desired. If the attempt to control the result fails, only one charge is used and a random effect is generated. Wild mages can select the result of the following items 50% of the time instead of relying on chance: amulet of the planes, bag of beans, bag of tricks, deck of illusion, deck of many things, and the well of many worlds.
- Wild mages casting spells with level variables to range, duration, area of effect, or damage are subject to level variations. These level variations can occasionally lead to wild surges.

Elementalists

- Elementalists are nontraditional specialists. They do not belong to a particular school, but rather have an area of specialization focussing on spells involving one of the four prime elements: air, earth, fire, and water. They must be single classed, but can be dual-classed if human.

- Elementalists cannot learn or cast spells from their opposite element.
- Elementalists gain one additional spell per spell level, provided the additional spell is of an elementalist's element of specialty.
- Elementalists receive a +2 bonus when making saving throws against spells in their element. Other characters receive a -2 penalty when making saving throws against specialists casting spells within their element.
- Elementalists receive a +25% bonus when learning new spells of their element and a +15% bonus when learning other new elemental spells. They receive a -25% penalty when learning new spells that are not elemental.
- Once per day, elementalists may choose to cast one memorized spell from their element of specialty as if they were 1d4 levels higher. They must decree this decision immediately prior to casting the spell. This affects range, duration, area of effect, and damage; it does not allow elementalists to cast spells from levels that they normally could not use.
- When an elementalist tries to create new spells, the DM counts the new spells as one level less (for determining the difficulty) if they fall within the elementalist's element of specialty.
- Upon reaching 15th level, elementalists do not need to concentrate when controlling elementals of their specialty element summoned by conjure elemental. The 5% chance of the elemental turning on its summoner still applies.
- At 20th level, there is no chance of summoned elemental turning on an elementalist if the creature is of the wizard's specialty element.

Stinkpot	1 sp	2	S	B	—	1d3	1d3
Stiletto	5 sp	1/2	S	P	2	1d3	1d2

† The "Type" category is divided into bludgeoning (B), piercing (P), and slashing (S).

‡ These items weigh little individually. Ten of these weigh one pound.

§ The staff sling can use either sling bullets or sling stones, in addition to stinkpots, as ammunition.

Missile Weapon Ranges

Weapon	ROF	Range
Dagger	2/1	1	2	3
Dart	3/1	1	2	4
Knife	2/1	1	2	3
Sling bullet	1	5	10	20
Sling stone	1	4	8	16
Staff sling bullet	2/1	—	3–6	9
Staff sling stone	2/1	—	3–6	9

"ROF" is the rate of fire—how many shots that weapon can fire off in one round. This is independent of the number of melee attacks a character can make in a round.

Range is given in tens of yards. Each range category (short, medium, or long) includes attacks from distances equal to or less than the given range. Thus a sling bullet hurled from a sling at a target 90 yards away uses the medium-range modifier. The modifiers for range are -2 for medium range and -5 for long range.

Wizard Kit Requirements

The kits summarized here are taken from The Complete Wizard's Handbook. Characters are not required to choose kits. The information here only gives initial requirements—benefits, hindrances, and role-playing details are described in the Handbook. Since the kits are part guidelines, players should check with their DMs before deciding on any wizard kit. The DM may choose not to allow a kit or may have additional powers, restrictions, and background material pertaining to it.

How to Use the Wizard's Screen

This Wizard's Screen provides convenient access to tables and lists from the ADVANCED DUNGEONS & DRAGONS® game Player's Handbook, Tome of Magic, and Complete Wizard's Handbook.

The Wizard's Screen package contains a screen providing attack numbers (THAC0s) and saving throws for wizard characters in one large-print, combined table. The other side of the screen provides an experience table showing the abilities and powers gained with increasing levels. The screen is assembled by inserting the tabs into the slots as shown in the diagram below. The screen can then fold flat by collapsing the bottom panel for transport to and from your AD&D® game.

Also included are four sheets of reference tables and lists, including a complete list of all wizard spells in the Player's Handbook and Tome of Magic. Permission is given to photocopy these sheets for personal use only.

Wizard's Screen

By Julia Martin

At last, gaming screens for players, too!

The Wizard's Screen speeds up game play by taking the most frequently used character-specific information from the AD&D® game Player's Handbook and Complete Wizard's Handbook and making it instantly accessible. Now the details players need on the spot to play any of the wizard classes—including mages, specialist wizards, wild mages, or elementalists—can be right at their fingertips. The screen folds in a neat triangle that sits on the table top in front of players for at-a-glance reference.

Also enclosed are four additional pages of valuable reference material that can be slipped into character folders. These pages feature an extensive Player's Handbook and Tome of Magic spell and spell-statistics list, and other handy tables and charts.

Suitable for all levels of play.
