

ADVENTURE SIDEKICKS

GHOSTS OF SALTMARSH

INTRODUCTION

Do you want to run or play Ghosts of Saltmarsh but you only have two or three people in your gaming group? Do you want an easy way to track and level up NPCs and beasts that join the adventure? Do you want to reintroduce allies later in your nautical campaign but aren't sure how to scale their power level? If you answered yes to any of these questions, then this supplement is for you.

ADVENTURE SIDEKICKS

"Adventure Sidekicks: Ghosts of Saltmarsh" is the third in an ongoing series that supplies sidekicks based on the major NPCs and potential allies of each of the DUNGEONS & DRAGONS adventure hardcovers. On your adventure, the DM might reveal that you've befriended an NPC, unique beast, or other creature who then joins your party as a sidekick. It's up to you and the DM to decide who controls the sidekick in play.

SIDEKICK STAT BLOCKS

A sidekick's game statistics are presented in a box called a stat block, which is essentially a miniature character sheet. A stat block contains things like ability scores and hit points, as well as the actions a sidekick is most likely to take in combat. Like any character, a sidekick can use the action options in the combat rules.

For more information on stat blocks, see the introduction of the Monster Manual.

SIDEKICK LEVEL

Your DM will inform you at which level your sidekick starts, usually equal to the average level of the party. As the heroes and their sidekick adventure together, the sidekick gains experience points and reaches new levels the same way a player character does, using the rules found in the Player's Handbook.

When a sidekick gains a level, look at the sidekick's progression table, and consult the new level's row, which shows the sidekick's new hit point maximum and features.

If the DM starts a sidekick at a level higher than 1st, use the hit point maximum for its level on the appropriate table on the pages that follow. Also, give the sidekick the features for its current level and any earlier levels on that table.

SIZE

Some sidekicks start as an adolescent version of the creature the sidekick was based on. To reflect this, these sidekicks start as one size and then, at some point in their progression table, grow enough to increase in size.

When size increases, the type of Hit Dice changes. Depending on the sidekick, other benefits may also come with a change in size.

PROFICIENCIES

A sidekick is proficient with any armor, weapons, and tools included in its stat block.

LANGUAGES

If there is a communication problem between the party and their sidekick, such as no shared language, the language barrier may still be overcome. The party must succeed on Wisdom (Animal Handling), or the sidekick on a Wisdom (Insight) skill check, to make themselves understood.

On a success, the sidekick is able to understand the party well enough to comply with their request or get their general meaning. On a failure, the sidekick defends itself from hostile creatures and acts according to its own desires (as determined by the DM), but otherwise takes no actions.

The DM determines the DC of the skill check, using the following table as a guide.

Task	DC	Example
Very easy	5	"Heel" or "fetch"
Easy	10	"Get that out of your mouth!"
Moderate	15	"Find help in town"
Hard	20	"Heel, even if they hurt me"
Very hard	25	"Give this only to the blond elf"
Nearly impossible	30	"Attack only every other gnome"

Shapechanger. The dingy mimic can use its action to polymorph into a dinghy (10 feet by 5 feet, swim speed 15 feet, with a creature capacity of 4, cargo capacity of 0.25 tons, and a travel pace of 3 miles per hour/24 miles per day) or back into its true, amorphous form. Its statistics are the same in each form, except for the speed change noted. Any equipment it is wearing or carrying isn't transformed. It reverts to its true form if it dies.

Adhesive (Dinghy Form Only). The dingy mimic adheres to anything that touches it at will, granting advantage on Strength checks of any creature attempting to remain inside the dinghy, and prevents any items from jettisoning overboard should the dingy mimic choose to adhere to the item.

A Huge or smaller creature adhered to the mimic is also grappled by it (escape DC 11). Ability checks made to escape this grapple have disadvantage.

False Appearance (Dinghy Form Only). While the dingy mimic remains motionless or adrift, it is indistinguishable from an ordinary dinghy. If it attempts to move on water, it navigates by rowing its own oars, which are part of its dinghy form and cannot be removed.

Grappler. The dingy mimic has advantage on attack rolls against any creature grappled by it.

Actions

Pseudopod. Melee Weapon Attack: +3 to hit, reach 5 ft., one target. Hit: 5 (1d8 + 1) bludgeoning damage. If the mimic is in dinghy form, the target is subjected to its Adhesive trait.

Bite. Melee Weapon Attack: +3 to hit, reach 5 ft., one target. Hit: 5 (1d8 + 1) piercing damage plus 4 (1d8) acid damage. If the mimic is in dinghy form and carrying passengers or cargo, roll a d20. If the result is 1, all cargo is jettisoned and any passengers must succeed on a DC 14 Dexterity saving throw or be tossed overboard.

DINGHY MIMICS BEYOND 1ST LEVEL

Level	Hit Points	New Features
2nd	16 (3d10)	Danger Sense. The dinghy mimic has advantage on Dexterity saving throws against effects that it can see, such as traps and spells. This feature doesn't work if it is incapacitated.
3rd	22 (4d10)	Battle Readiness. The dinghy mimic has advantage on initiative rolls. Minor Treasure Sense. The first time the dinghy mimic reaches land each day, it shakes with excitement if there is any buried or sunken treasure hidden within 1000 feet. If there are multiple treasure locations detected, it indicates closest one. The dinghy mimic starts digging at the site of the treasure upon arrival. This ability is blocked by solid stone thicker than 5 feet.
4th	27 (5d10)	Ability Score Improvement. The dinghy mimic's Strength score increases by 2. This raises the Strength modifier, Strength saving throw, escape DC of the Adhesive feature, and attack and damage bonuses by 1. Land Ho. The dinghy mimic is always aware of the nearest shore.
5th	33 (6d10)	Extra Attack. The dinghy mimic can attack twice, instead of once, whenever it takes the Attack action on its turn.
6th	45 (7d12)	Improved Shapechanger. The mimic's dinghy form refines and grows to Huge size (15 feet by 5 feet, swim speed 20 feet, with a creature capacity of 6, cargo capacity of 0.5 tons, and a travel pace of 5 miles per hour/40 miles per day). Its hit dice are now d12s, and the damage of its pseudopod attack increases to 11 (2d8 + 2).

A dinghy mimic may be discovered caught underneath a dock during low tide, or landlocked on a barren shoreline awaiting the return of the crew that abandoned it. This mimic was raised by pirates bent on exploiting its transformative nature and natural lust for valuables, and it is eager to prove its worth to those willing to grant the time and respect to befriend, protect, and train this unique breed of mimic.

- 1 Obeys in the most literal sense of the command.
- 2 Performs the command a second time immediately after the first.
- 3 Fulfills the command with a complete disregard for caution or personal safety.
- 5 Acts on the command in the stealthiest possible way.
- 6 Insists on a belly rub before carrying out the command.
- 7 Coordinates faithfully within the spirit of the command.
- 8 Attempts the request to the best of its ability, but also discovers and returns with an item from Magic Item Table A (Dungeon Master's Guide 144).

No one knows how they are created or why they can't cross over, but all sailors know the fear of becoming a lost one.

Sailors whisper that those who are stuck deserve their watery graves. Others say they were elected to this existence either as a punishment or reward, only the lost sailor knows.

The longer someone is a lost sailor the more of their life and who they are is forgotten. As they lose their memories coral, mussels, and other marine life begin to grow and replace their parts. Barnacles grow from their skin while pieces of themselves turn to coral or go missing altogether.

Some lost sailors have been dead so long they have no clue they are even dead. All that is known is that they live below the waves and are as much a force as any other creature beneath the waves.

After centuries of fighting, not all societies on land and water see things eye to eye. Those in the water often feel attacked and taken advantage of by those on land, lashing out to take back what they see as theirs while those on land protest the aggression.

But there is a minority among the societies in the sea who are fascinated by those on land. They scour shipwrecks for artifacts, steal books from unaware fishermen, and hide among the waves observing. When they are discovered by their people, they are cast out for being too interested in the lives and doings of those who live on land.

Now they walk on dry land. They quickly learn not all are kind to their kind and grow a thick skin to protect themselves. Should you break past that barrier and begin talking about life on land, they enthusiastically question and debate with you. There is a fearsome demeanor hiding a depth full of surprises.
