Minor Modifications to Basic Talents

These address odd idiosyncrasies in the tables for Strength and Comeliness. Both now match the range and structure of the other four basic talents.

411. Strength

This denotes one's physical prowess, ability to wield a weapon, bear burdens, perform arduous tasks, etc. Dice rolls are as follows:

1-20	Frail [-1 on BOTH hit and damage dice; see below]
21-40	Weak [-1 on hit dice]
41-60	Average [no bonuses or penalties]
61-80	Strong [+1 on hit dice]
81-95	Powerful [+1 on BOTH hit and damage dice]
96-100	Superb [+2 on BOTH hit and damage dice]

416. Comeliness

This denotes the relative "beauty" or "handsomeness" of a character. Dice rolls are as follows:

1-20	Hideous [the character is ugly enough to frighten his or her own mother, if met unexpectedly at night]
21-40	Ugly [the character is of repugnant appearance]
41-60	Average [no particular beauty or lack thereof]
61-80	Good-looking [the character is rather attractive, according to prevailing Tsolyáni standards]
81-95	Handsome/Beautiful [as above, but more so]
96-100	Striking [the character turns heads when met on the street, attracts offers of marriage or other forms of union, etc.]
