COMPILED BY JARED M. OZVATH
ORIGINAL CONCEPT BY JOE DEVER
AND GARY CHALK

Preface

I know what some of you DM's are going to say right off the bat. "Where are all the rules and conversions?" Well that is why Authors get to write these little things.

This book is designed to be a guide to the world of Magnamund created by Joe Dever. It is intended to be a sourcebook to give you that idea, that push in the right direction with your own campaign and world. It is also here to help you create a world based on the world of Magnamund. I did not want to make a campaign setting. Instead I wanted to make a tool for DM's and players to draw from when creating and roleplaying.

Many thanks to Joe Dever and Gary Chalk for writing and illustrating the Lone Wolf series. It made me want to read when I was young and reading was boring. It made me want to roleplay, and has helped to turn me into an excellent player. It has given me inspiration to share their world with others, so here it is.

CAPTAIN REMIR D'VAL

KAI GRAND MASTER RUNE FIRE

KAI MASTER STORMHAWK

Lone Wolf's first tutor, slain by Vonotar while scouting the Durncrag Mountains.

KAI SUPREME MASTER LONE WOLF

The leader of the New Order Kai, Lone Wolf is tall, well built with long blond hair. He wields the mighty Sommerswerd.

Lone Wolf was born in the year MS 5034 and given the name of Landar, when he was six, his brother Jen sacrificed his life to save Landars, he was then accepted into the Kai Monastrey and given the name of Silent Wolf.

Silent Wolf was a lazy student although he did learn something of the Kai Disciplines, he became adept in the use of the axe. In the year MS 5050 the Kai were all killed apart from Silent wolf, who took the name Lone Wolf in honour of the dead Kai.

Lone Wolf fled to the capital of Holmgard, on the way he met Banedon, an apprentice magician who would go on to help Lone Wolf in many of his adventures. Arriving in Holmgard, Lone Wolf met Qinefer for the first time and was sent by King Ulnar to Durenor to retrieve the Sommerswerd.

After many attempts on his life Lone Wolf returned with the Sommerswerd and used it to destroy Archlord Zagarna.

Lone Wolf was assigned the task of rebuilding the Kai Monastrey, but a year later he was sent to Kalte to capture the renegade magician Vonotar and with the help of a renegade Giak called Carag and an elderly magician called Loi Kymar, Lone Wolf bought Vonotar to justice.

Lone Wolf continued in the rebuilding of the Kai Monastrey but was abducted by Darklord Haakon and used as a pawn in the battle for Archlordship, two years later Lone Wolf was returned to Sommerlund thanks to Darklord Slutar, a contender for Archlordship.

In the year MS 5055 Lone Wolf prevented the renegade Vassagonian noble Barraka from raising the armies of Darklord Vashna, a year later he was sent to Vassagonia to sign a peace treaty with Zakhan Moudalla.

By the time Lone Wolf arrived in Vassagonia, Moudalla had died and been replaced with the evil Zakhan Kimah. Lone Wolf escaped Kimah's clutches during and with the help of Banedon, he recovered the Book of the Magnakai and slew Archlord Haakon.

During the next three years Lone Wolf studied the Book of the Magnakai and mastered three of the Magnakai Disciplines, he came across a passage saying "Seek and find the Lorestone of Varetta" this took him upon the first leg of the Magnakai quest.

Lone Wolf left Sommerlund and headed south into the Stornlands and in the war-torn city of Tekaro he discovered the first of the Lorestones. Discovering that the next Lorestone was in Herdos (a town in the Magiocracy of Dessi). Lone Wolf travelled to Dessi.

In Dessi Lone Wolf found that the Lorestone of Herdos was in a fortress known as Kazan Oud, he braved the horrors of Kazan Oud and slew the evil Lord Zahda and destroyed Kazan Oud and gained the Lorestone of Herdos.

Lone Wolf was then guided by Lord Paido across the Danarg to the Temple of Ohrido, wherein lay the third Lorestone. Retrieving the third Lorestone, Lone Wolf and Paido returned to Dessi but Paido was abducted.

Lone Wolf then ventured to city of Tahou which was preparing for an attack by the armies of Vassagonia and the Darklands. Lone Wolf entered the Cauldron of Tahou and retrieved the Lorestone, upon returning to the surface he found that Tahou was besieged by the armies of Darklord Gnaag and his ally the Zakhan Kimah.

Zakhan Kimah had been given a magical artifact of great evil known as the Orb of Death, which made him impervious to normal weapons. Lone Wolf used the Sommerswerd to penetrate the Zakhans energy shield, and slew him in mortal combat and thereby winning the Battle of Tahou.

Learning that Archlord Gnaag had found the last three Lorestones and had taken them to Torgar, where his Nadziranim could devise a way of destroying them, Lone Wolf left tahou and headed for the gloomy city of Torgar. In Torgar he met his old friend Lord Paido.

Lone Wolf managed to gain one of the Lorestones, but was then cast into the Daziarn by Archlord Gnaag and Paido was killed.

In the Daziarn, Lone Wolf learnt that his fight against the forces of darkness was the focus of a greater conflict raging throughout all the planes of existence.

Lone Wolf defeated the Chaos-master and recovered one of the Lorestones, and with the help of a god-like creature called Serocca, he was able to find the location of a Shadow Gate that would return him to Magnamund. After slaying his old enemy Vonotar on the threshold of the Shadow Gate. Lone Wolf retrieved the final Lorestone and used its power to return him to Magnamund.

Lone Wolf now an Archmaster arrived in Toran, where he found out that the year was MS 5070, eight years had passed in Magnamund, while he had only spent a few days in the Daziarn. He learnt from Guild Master Banedon and Lord Rimoah that the Darklords had all but conquered Northern Magnamund and that Gnaag had created a device allowing the Darklords to leave the Darklands called the Tanoz-Tukor

Lone Wolf infiltrated Helgedad, on the way to Helgedad he slew Darklords Kragenskul and Taktaal. Slaying Gnaag with the Sommerswerd, Lone Wolf used a Crystal Explosive to destroy the Transfusor, the chain reaction destroyed Helgedad and brought about the Demise of the Darklords.

Lone Wolf now a Kai Grand Master set about the training of the New Order Kai, in the rebuilt Kai Monastrey he constructed a deep underground Vault called the Vault of the Sun in there he placed the seven Lorestones of Nyxator.

KING ULNAR V

The current ruler of Sommerlund, direct descendant of Ulnar I, slayer of Vashna.

LOI KYMAR

A magician of the Brotherhood of the Crystal Star. Loi Kymar was a powerful magician, he carried a Guildstaff which only he knew how to use. His Guildstaff could convey him to anywhere on Magnamund instantly.

In the year MS 5050 Loi Kymar now well over ninety was accosted by Vonotar the Traitor who threatened him with the death of his family if he did not use his Guildstaff to convey him to Kalte. Loi Kymar transported himself, Vonotar and Carag to Kalte. In Ikaya, Vonotar imprisoned Loi Kymar and for the next year tortured Loi Kymar in an attempt to make him divulge the secrets of his Guildstaff.

In MS 5051 Loi Kymar was released by Lone Wolf and together with Carag they captured Vonotar. Loi Kymar then used his Guildstaff to transport the four of them to the shores of Kalte to rendezvous with the Cardonol.

Back in Sommerlund in the trial against Vonotar, Loi Kymar spoke against Vonotar and Vonotar was found guilty of his crimes and thrust into the Daziarn.

Loi Kymar had the will to stay alive only to teach Banedon the secrets of the second level of Left Handed Magic, after he had finished teaching Banedon for in two months he was dead.

QINEFER

VONOTAR THE TRAITOR

As a child Vonotar was taught the principles of Left Handed Magic by the Brotherhood of the Crystal Star in Toran. He became a very able magician.

Now a tall strong man in his early thirties Vonotar began to study the path of Right Handed Magic as used by the Nadziranim, his use of Nadziranim magic increased his powers ten-fold. He tried to persuade the Brotherhood to adopt the magic of the Nadziranim, but to no avail.

Disillusioned with the Brotherhood, Vonotar fled to the Darklands after killing Loren an elder of the Brotherhood. On his journey to the Darklands he captured the loyalty of a Giak who he named Carag. Carag then escorted Vonotar to Kaag to meet Archlord Zagarna.

Arriving in Kaag, Vonotar was tempted by Alyss to return to Toran, but Vonotar refused and in an audience with Zagarna he told him that on the Feast of Fehmarn, the first day of spring, he could massacre the Kai. In return Zagarna gave Vonotar the secrets of Right Handed Magic and in so doing, Vonotar became the most powerful magician in all of Magnamund.

During the massacre of the Kai, Vonotar was engaged in a spiritual battle with an enigmatic godling called Alyss. Alyss gave Vonotar the gift of age and thus condemned him the form of an ancient man, although Vonotar had the power to make himself virtually immortal, he would always be old.

Vonotar discovered the one of the Kai, an initiate called Lone Wolf had survived. Vonotar's agents attempted to stop Lone Wolf from retrieving the Sommerswerd, but failed and Lone Wolf used the Sommerswerd to destroy Zagarna.

After the death of Zagarna, Vonotar sought out the elderly magician Loi Kymar to use the power of his Guildstaff to transport him to Ikaya, where he could use the Ice Barbarians of Kalte as a shield from Sommerlund and the Darklands. He forced Loi Kymar to use his Guildstaff to transport Vonotar and Carag to Ikaya by threatening to kill his family.

After arriving in Ikaya, he tricked the Brumalmarc of Kalte into adopting him as his court mage, some months later Vonotar, usurped the throne of Kalte.

Alyss now returned from an unknown limbo, discovered Vonotar was in Kalte. She informed Ulnar, and he sent Lone Wolf on a mission to bring Vonotar to justice.

Lone Wolf, reached Ikaya and with the help of Loi Kymar and Carag, managed to capture Vonotar and bring him back to Sommerlund.

In a trial in Toran, Vonotar was found guilty of his crimes and was thrust into the Daziarn, a limbo from which it was believed there could be no escape.

In the Daziarn, Vonotar craved revenge on Lone Wolf, in what was a matter of days for him, it had been eleven years on Magnamund, Lone Wolf entered the Daziarn. Vonotar had found the last Lorestone and controlled the city wherein lay the Shadow Gate. He intended to use the power of the Lorestone to return to Magnamund.

In a desperate fight on the threshold of the Shadow Gate, Vonotar was finally slain by Lone Wolf, who then used the Lorestone to return to Magnamund.

Ixia

OVERVIEW

Ixia is a barren frigid wasteland in north-western Magnamund. It is avoided by the Drakkarim and remnants of the Darklords armies, the only dwellings are a few remote Drakkarim settlements to the south.

HISTORY

Ixia was once a rich and fertile realm but during the Age of Eternal Night the Deathlord of Ixia (lieutenant to Agarash the Damned) conquered much of Northen Magnamund including the realm of Ixia. Deathlord Ixiataaga destroyed the native Ixians and transformed them into a legion of undead servants under his command.

Many centuries later, when the Elder Magi defeated Agarash, they magically imprisoned the weakened Deathlord in a secret tomb within the dread city of Xaagon , near to the southern coast of Ixia.

For thousands of years his tomb lay undisturbed until the first of the Drakkarim appeared on Magnamund. They entered Xaagon and found the Deathlord's tomb - yet legend has it that none of them escaped Ixia alive.

During the Age of the Blackmoon the Darklords conquered all of the territories surrounding Ixia yet they choose to avoid setting foot in the Deathlord's realm. Mindful of his origins they feared that if he were released from his sorcerous prison he would seek to dominate and destroy them.

In the year MS 5077 the Deathstaff a weapon of great evil forged by the Dark God Naar came through a Shadow Gate into the city of Xaagon and was used to free Deathlord Ixiataaga from his magical prison.

Ixiataaga once again free to indulge his unholy and insatiable appetite for living beings prepared to unleash an army of undead upon Magnamund. His undead armies lay waste to the remote Drakkarim settlements around the Gulf of Konkor and mustered a 'death fleet' and summoned the Demonlord Tagazin to his aid.

It was clear Ixiataaga had to be stopped an invasion of Ixia could not be executed, the peninsula of Ixia was far too remote and desolate a territory to be reached by any freestate army on foot and with winter so near any ship-borne invasion would have been doomed to failure.

Kai Grand Master Lone Wolf journeyed to the city of Xaagon and using the Sommerswerd, one of the few weapons that could kill Ixiataaga, he slew Ixiataaga in a titanic battle.

In slaying Ixiataaga Lone Wolf freed Ixia from an evil which had enslaved its dead for millennia, at last their tormented souls could find a lasting peace, he had also removed the power that had kept the ravages of time at bay for thousands of years as time returned to Xaagon.

When the destruction of Xaagon was over the black skies brightened and the fierce electrical storms abated and for the first time in ten thousand years, sunlight pierced the perpetual cloud cover of Ixia and brought warmth to the frozen land.

DEATHLORD IXIATAAGA

Ixiataaga was lieutenant to Agarash the Damned during the Age of Eternal Night, as Agarash's power waned the weakened Deathlord was imprisoned in the city of Xaagon by the Elder Magi.

Ixiataaga form was hideous, he had a tall black-robed torso surmounted by a goat-like skull. Where there should have been eye-sockets there were fiery cones of scarlet energy.

Few weapons were capable of slaying Ixiataaga, the Sommerswerd was one such weapon and it was this weapon that slayed Ixiataaga.

In the year MS 5077 when Ixiataaga was freed from his magical prison by the power of the Deathstaff he prepared to unleash an undead army on Magnamund.

Ixiataaga was defeated in mortal combat by the Kai Grand Master Lone Wolf and his god-forged weapon the Sommerswerd.

As Ixiataaga died the Deathstaff disintegrated in his skeletal hand and his body crumbled away into a plume of grey green dust which was sucked away into the whirling maw of a Shadow Gate.

SERVANTS OF IXIATAAGA

CABALAH

Black-robed undead creatures, that were animated by Ixiataaga's foul necromancy.

DEMONLORD TAGAZIN

Tagazin was an evil demonlord, Tagazin was worshiped by the evil Cener Druid, Roark of Amory. In MS 5077 Ixiataaga summoned Tagazin to his aid.

Tagazins was a huge sabre-toothed jackal-like creature with creamy-coloured skin. Ice sheened on his muscular body and wisps of black smoke curled from his snuffling snout.

Few weapons were capable of destroying Tagazin, the Sommerswerd wielded by Lone Wolf was one such weapon.

In a deadly duel Lone Wolf used the Sommerswerd to destroy Tagazin, at the moment of his death Tagazins body shattered into a million frozen pieces.

DENTAAG

The Darklands

OVERVIEW

The domain of the Darklords. It was once a healthy and vital area of Magnamund. When the Darklords were sent to Magnamund, they set about conquering the lands of the northern continent. The lands that they occupied became vile and dead and the Sun's rays didn't light the Darklands like the rest of Magnamund. Few humans can survive for long in the Darklands.

HISTORY

The Darklords conquered a vast area of northwestern Magnamund as their own and turned it into a desolate wasteland. They built eight gigantic city-fortresses in the Darklands, the largest of which was called Helgedad.

Vashna, most powerful of the Darklords, was proclaimed Archlord in the year MS 3192, after the War of Desecration. Vashna oversaw the War of Desecration and would go on to oversee many other conquests, including the failed conquest of Sommerlund.

In MS 3434 when the Sommlending arrived in northern Magnamund, they pushed the Darklords back behind the Durncrag mountains and established the kingdom of Sommerlund in the territory they had claimed. Vashna, enraged by the defeat, unleashed the Helghast upon Sommerlund in what was to become known as the Helghast Wars from MS 3520 to 3550. However, the Sommlending prevailed.

Still vowing to destroy Sommerlund, Vashna began to prepare for a full invasion of Sommerlund. But when the onslaught came the Sommlending and their allies, the Durenese, held firm against the Darklords forces. The final conflict came at the Battle of Moytura where the Darklord armies were routed and pursued south to the Maakengorge. There Vashna was defeated in combat with King Ulnar of Sommerlund, wielding the Sommerswerd.

Following the defeat of Vashna, the Darklords fought amongst themselves for Archlordship. Zagarna after finding the Doomstones became Archlord. He continued with Vashna's obsession to destroy the Sommlending. In MS 4219 his armies lay siege to the Kai Monastery but were defeated by the Sommlending archers.

In MS 5050 Zagarna made another attack on the Monastery. This time, with the aid of Vonotar the traitor, a renegade magician from Toran, Zagarna managed to destroy the Monastery. However, one of the Kai survived, he was a young initiate named Silent Wolf. This oversight sealed Zagarna's death and denied him from conquering Sommerlund.

Silent Wolf took the name Lone Wolf to honour the massacred Kai journeyed to Durenor to claim the Sommerswerd which had been given to the Durenese after the defeat of Vashna. Upon his return, Lone Wolf slew Zagarna at Holmgard. After the death of Zagarna, Darklord Haakon rose to become Archlord.

Haakon figured out that if the Darklords could destroy the Book of the Magnakai it would prevent the rise of a new order of Kai warriors. In MS 5055, he located this lost Kai treasure in the Tomb of the Majhan -- burial place of the ancient rulers of Vassagonia -- and he had lured Lone Wolf to the desert realm of Vassagonia with the help of his ally, the evil Zakhn Kimah. Lone Wolf again defeated the Darklords' intentions by evading the Vassagonians and eventually slaying Haakon with the Sommerswerd inside the Tomb of the Majhan.

THE DARKLORDS

ZAGARNA

Lord of Kaag, following the death of Vashna, he became Archlord after finding the Doomstones. His voice was quiet and bubbling, as if he spoke through a foot of water. Its quietness was all the more terrifying, bearing in mind the hugeness of his form. Standing, he was nearly twenty feet tall. His skin was scaled, and coloured blue and green. The outsides of his arms and legs were studded with sharp claws, as were his hands and feet; a double row of claws ran backwards from his forehead and down his spine. From his horned face projected a massive jaw in which were set knife-sharp teeth longer than a man's hand. His incongruously pink tongue flickered in and out like that of a serpent. He also had a second jaw in the middle of his abdomen. He was in a constant state of hunger and anger which tended to cloud his judgement. Zagarna's armies wore orange to denote their allegiance

In the year MS 4219 he laid siege to the Kai Monastery, but the Kai discovered that Giaks could not fight effectively without a leader, so the Kai archers targeted the Giak leaders and Zagarna's forces were defeated

In the year MS 5050 Vonotar a renegade magician, told Zagarna to attack the Kai on the Feast of Fehmarn and invade Sommerlund. The Kai were massacred by the forces of Zagarna

The Lorestone was once set in the throne of Lyris, at the tower of the king in Varetta. Hundreds of years ago in what became known as the war of the Lorestone, it was stolen by a Salonese prince called Kaskor. He set the stone upon a gold sceptre and used it in battle to inspire his followers. He believed that it made him invulnerable, but it was not so. He was killed in battle on board his Royal Barge at Rhem, and the Lorestone was lost when it fell from his hand into the depths of the River Storn.

At the time of the year MS 5058 Lyris was at war with Magador, Delden with Salony and Salony with Slovia. By this time the war between Salony and Slovia had reached its boiling point and the Salonese Prince Ewevin had laid seige to the city of Tekaro. At this time the then Kai Master Lone Wolf gained entry to Tekaro and found the Lorestone of Varetta.

In MS 5060 the Stornlands were overrun by the armies of Archlord Gnaag, after victory at Tahou in MS 5061 the Stornlands were liberated, but in MS 5062, after the apparent death of Lone Wolf at Torgar the Darklord defeats ended and the Stornlands were once again overrun, but were liberated once more in the year MS 5070 when Lone Wolf escaped the Daziarn and bought about the death of the Darklords.

After the defeat of the Darklords, Kadharian the Slavemaster of Aarnak returned to his native Magador and led an uprising against King Vanagrom VI, who had long been a puppet of the Darklords, the revolt ended with the kings death and the abolition of the monarchy. Magador became a republic and Kadharian became its first elected leader.

The desert dwellers of in the south of Vassagonia sometimes raid northern Dessi but never with much determination.

HISTORY

Historically the Vassagonians often allied themselves with the Darklords, after the death of Archlord Zagarna it became evident that the Darklords had created a portal called The Birthplace in Barrakeesh, the capital of Vassagonia and were using it to infiltrate all levels of Vassagonian society with Helghast and Drakkarim. The Zakhan Moudalla, with promises of trinkets from the Darklords had tolerated this. In the year MS 5053 the warriorress Qinefer discovered the location of The Birthplace and found the experience so abasing that she left immediately.

For the next two years the Darklords continued to send Helghast and Drakkarim into Vassagonia. The Zakhan Moudalla fearful of this arranged for the Kai Lord Lone Wolf to come and sign a peace treaty between Sommerlund and Vassagonia, however by the time Lone Wolf arrived in Vassagonia, Moudalla had died and been replaced by the Zakhan Kimah. Kimah attempted to kill Lone Wolf and the Vassagonian envoy Allani.

Lone Wolf was assisted in his flight by Banedon and a barbarian called Thog the mighty.

Zakhan Kimah had allied himself with Archlord Haakon and had been given the Orb of Death.

Qinefer returned to Barrakeesh and destroyed the Birthplace.

Lone Wolf overhearing a conversation between Zakhan Kimah and Archlord Haakon discovered the Haakon was seeking to destroy the Book of the Magnakai which was hidden in the Tomb of the Majhan.

Lone Wolf escaping from the Zakhans palace and meeting up with Banedon aboard his skyship the Skyrider, discovered the location of The Tomb of the Majhan, their Lone Wolf armed with the Sommerswerd slew Archlord Haakon in a final battle and claimed the Book of the Magnakai.

Meanwhile in Barrakeesh a revolt had sprung up and Zakhan Kimah was thought killed although a couple of loyal Sharnazim had cut him down and smuggled him out into the Baga-darooz, the warped Vassagonian slowly recovered his strength.

Allani took the Zakhanate and signed a treaty with sommerlund.

Some years later Kimah recovered the Orb of Death and regained the Zakhnate from Allani, he allied himself with Archlord Gnaag and his troops lay seige to the city of Tahou. Kimah using the Orb of Death which made him invulnerable to normal weapons, led the attack on Tahou. Lone Wolf used the Sommerswerd to penetrate the Zakhans energy shield and slew Kimah in mortal combat.

After the death of Kimah, Shoualli took the Zakhnate, the Zakhn Shoualli dissolved all alliances with the Darklords and the Darklords became a sworn enemy of Vassagonia.

THE NEMESIS OF THE BLACK ZAKHAN

The Black Zakhn was a brutal tyrant, the cruellest of an evil lineage that ruled over the desert empire long ago. The barbaric excesses of his reign have never been forgotten in the Lastlands. The Grand Palace was built by his army of slaves, prisoners from countries he had conquered in war. The palace became his obsession; he personally oversaw its entire construction, and punished the workers personally if there was the slightest delay. He butchered his subjects indiscriminately and in the most terrible fashion. His favourite form of execution was for the victim to be sawn in half from head to foot, until the body fell into two pieces. However, it was the mass execution of the slaves who built the Grand Palace, that made him infamous. He slaughtered every slave worker so that his enemies could never learn of the secret treasure chambers he had constructed. Among the slaves were his only daughters, Kebilla and Sousse, who openly opposed their father's cruelty and tried to prevent the executions. In a blind rage he ordered that they should be the first to die.

It would have been better for the Zakhn, and for Vassagonia, if he himself had died that day. He lived for another two years, but his mind was unhinged by guilt, and he was tortured by self loathing and despair. In the Grand Palace, the silence of the night was frequently broken by the Zakhn's moans and cries, as he wandered from room to room looking for his daughters. When he died, he was laid beside them, in the Tomb of the Princesses.

Magnamund Tome

Acarya

High Wizard of the Shianti.

Agarashi or Creatures of Darkness

Foul creations of Agarash the Damned. They held Magnamund under a reign of terror until Kai sent the Elder Magi. Agarash invested them with Right-handed magic to counter the Elder Magi's magical abilities. The Agarashi were charmed into fighting amongst themselves causing their ultimate destruction. Some Agarashi, such as the Burrowcrawler, escaped destruction to continue to roam Magnamund.

Agarash the Damned

The most powerful of Naar's avatars. Naar sent Agarash to destroy the great dragon Nyxator. In 6700 MS, Agarash emerged from Naaros and conquered all of Southern Magnamund. He then created the Doomstones in mockery of the Lorestones. He used the Doomstones to create an army of Agarashi who devastated the face of Magnamund. Agarash destroyed Nyxator and stole the Lorestones.

All seemed hopeless for Ishir and Kai. They sent the Elder Magi to defeat Agarash and his followers. In a war that lasted a millenium, the Elder Magi recaptured the Lorestones and defeated Agarash. Agarash managed to hide the Doomstones before his death.

Alchemy

One of the Lesser Magicks. Alchemy is the knowledge of how to prepare useful potions from herbs and to change the very nature of a substance. Potions can be created that restore Endurance or Willpower, increase Combat Skill, mask human scent, etc. The use of Alchemy requires no Willpower but all the necessary materials and equipment must be available. These materials can be carried in an herb pouch.

Alema

A stone bridge of some strategic importance to the West of the highway between Holmgard and Toran. It was the site of a battle following the Masscre of the Kai. Crown Prince Pelathar was slain by a giak arrow at this battle. Trimis was one of Prince Pelethar's soldiers that fought at Alema Bridge.

Alether «c»

Allia

Vonotar's horse on his flight to join Zagarna. He increased her speed to the point that she could cover miles in one stride. He often shrunk her and kept her in a pocket or pouch.

Alyss

No one knows for sure who she is; even Ishir is dumbfounded to find out her origins (there was a time when she did not exist). "Alyss was a creature for whom the normal rules did not apply." She is an integral, elemental part of Aon and has god-like powers. She is definitely on the side of the forces of Good and has an unusually permissive relationship with Ishir. She most often appeared as a teenage girl; "Her skin was nut-brown, and her short-cropped hair was coppery red. She was dressed in a battered leather jerkin and ragged trousers. Her face was thin and somewhat pinched; her cheeks were prominent. . . she was about [fifteen], . . ." (Eclipse of the Kai, p. 83)

She played a role in Lone Wolf's quest and eventually fell in love with Banedon. She gave Vonotar the appearance of age and the hunched back that would follow him for the rest of his existence. This was a result of a magical duel that took place during the Massacre of the Kai.

Aon (trans. Great Balance)

The universe in which Magnamund resides.

Before there was time or matter, the Lords of Light and the Lords of Darkness were in conflict. Their world was undisturbed by matter or any other interruption. The goddess Ishir tired of the conflict and sought to end it. She fashioned a vessel based upon the truth of her pledge and instilled it with the Evil of Naar. Aon was named for this balance of Good and Evil. At the moment of the completion of Aon, time and matter burst in upon the world of the gods. Peace reigned for a time...

Aon was new to the gods. Sentient creatures other than the gods walked the worlds of Aon. Death was also new to them; they were immortal and could not understand death. This intrigued the gods and they saw Aon as a new battleground for the old conflict. Naar was the first to break the Peace of Ishir.

Magnamund is the last battleground to be won in all of Aon.

He was a young blond-haired, blue-eyed journeyman for the Magician's Guild at the time of the Massacre of the Kai. The Guildmaster sent him on a mission to inform the Kai of Zagarna's impending invasion and that they must cancel their celebration of the Feast of Fehmarn. The message was too little too late. He delivered it to the last of the Kai, Lone Wolf at the ruins of Raumas. He and Lone Wolf were to become lifelong comrades and would defend their homeland against the agents of Naar many times in the years to come. The Border Rangers can be identified by their green uniforms.

Broadsword

A two-handed, bladed weapon. The term "broadsword" in our earth's history has often referred to a one-edged blade used for slicing rather than piercing although this is not a general rule in Magnamund. This weapon was used by the Kai monks in combat. It was Storm Hawk's preferred weapon.

Brotherhood of the Crystal Star

Also known as the Magician's Guild of Toran. The Brotherhood was housed in what was called the Guildhall. This was a group of adepts of Left-handed magic. It was the magical arm of the Sommlending defense. The name comes from the crystal star pendant given to those who were accepted as Brothers. The typical uniform of the Brotherhood was a loose, blue robe embroidered with stars, moons and other celestial bodies.

The Brotherhood was founded to seek power. It was a matter of wisdom and tradition that they held to the Left-hand path. The Guild was ruled by a Guildmaster and a council of twelve Elders. The guildmaster at the time of the Massacre of the Kai played a large role in the early years of Lone Wolf's quest. Other noteworthy members of the Brotherhood are: Banedon, Vonotar, Loren, Artel, Heikon and Martat.

The Magician's Guild had a prophecy that two young men, one a warrior and one a mage from the Brotherhood, would ally themselves and reign over Magnamund bringing an era of peace and prosperity. ## Darklords

Twenty champions of the Evil god Naar; they were sent in MS 3072 to subdue Magnamund for the cause of Evil; they had very individual aspects and characters but all were thoroughly evil. The very sight of a Darklord would drive an average mortal insane.

Before they were created by Naar, they were quite different; they were timeless beings not racked by the Evil hatred and anger that later characterized them.

These evil beings were immune to all normal weapons; only the Sommerswerd and supernatural weapons created by the Darklords themselves could mortally wound them. They had another weakness; the pure air and sunshine of Magnamund was poison to them. That weakness spurred the creation of the Darklands to give them a hospitable home.

Lone Wolf swore vengeance on the Darklords for massacring his Kai brethren. Lone Wolf was destined to fulfill that oath and destroy the empire of the Darklords.

In 4570 MS, they wove a spell that put all of the inhabitants of Naaros to sleep. They seized the stolen Lorestones from under Agarash's nose. The Elder Magi eventually defeated the Agarashi after a thousand years' war.

Their race was brought to near extinction by the Cenerese. The Cenerese caused a Great Plague to sweep the land in 2514 MS killing nine out of ten Elder Magi. The Elder Magi were saved from destruction by a group known as the Herbalish.

He can cause them to believe that "imaginary events are actually taking place," charm them, obtain information from them, place thoughts in their mind, etc. Magical or intelligent creatures might be immune to Enchantment. If a victim has reason to disbelieve what he is seeing or if the illusion is held for a long time, he will begin to notice flaws and the illusion will eventually collapse. Visual illusions are very difficult to maintain for long.

Endurance Points (EP)

The measure of physical stamina and ability to sustain wounds and survive. The Endurance Points score is a numerical value that is typically within the range 1 to 100. If a person's Endurance Points falls to zero, he is dead. If this price is not met, the pentacle will no longer protect the wizard from the wrath of the dead and his soul might be consigned to eternal torment.

The Song of the Dead is part of the power of Evocation.

Fehmarn, Feast of

Celebrated by the Sommlending on the first day of spring. Among the festivities, children of seven years of age swear their fealty to the King of Sommerlund for the first time. Those that had already taken the oath would renew it at this time.

All the Kai Monks from all over Magnamund gathered together during the Feast of Fehmarn. They fasted and meditated on the eve of the Feast of Fehmarn. It was said that a Kai Lord would lose his disciplines if he missed this observance although no one truly believed this superstition. Also, the acolytes that had been in training for a year or more were given their new Kai names. This secret gathering allowed Darklord Zagarna to massacre the Kai.

They are very strong, can see in the dark and can withstand extremes of temperature. They were spawned in the greatest numbers of all of the Darklords' creations. They were so expendable that they were killed so that torches could be lit with "giak oil."

The term "giak" usually refers to the Mountain giak, the most vicious of their kind. They were ruthless and bred to delight in the destruction of all things. They were the mainstay of the Darklord infantry. For all of their endearing qualities, giaks are not intelligent or brave. The Darklords counteracted this deficiency with the Gourgaz.

Another weakness of the Mountain giaks were their unfamiliarity with forested areas. Giaks were often seen riding Doomwolves.

There are other breeds of giak: Swamp giaks, and Szall.

The Giaks spoke a language that was used by most of the Darklords' servants. It was a simple, guttural language designed to give and receive orders in battle. Its vocabulary was therefore very limited. It also had a written form. (See the Giak Lexicon)

Gods

The gods of Aon are powerful beings (goes without saying). However, they are not omniscient or omnipotent. They are bodiless but they can assume the appearance of bodily form. They existed before time and matter and are immortal. The principal gods of Good are Ishir and Kai. The god of Evil is Naar.

The gods were known as Lords of Light or Lords of Darkness before the creation of Aon.

Even the Good gods are mostly devoid of compassion for mortal beings.

Gold Crowns

Gourgaz

An intelligent, grey, reptilian native of the Maakenmire Swamp. Their cruel disposition and battle prowess was utilised by the Darklords to lead their giak war parties. This oil intoxicates their giak underlings giving them unusual courage and ferocity. Giaks are worthless without a strong leader. If their leader is killed, they fall apart. The Kai used this to break a long Darklord siege of the Kai Monastery by singling out the giak leaders. This Gourgaz secretion helps alleviate this weakness.

Graveyard of the Ancients

The Shianti found a shipwrecked vessel on the shores of the Isle of Lorn. They found only one survivor, a human infant. They named him Grey Star for the grey streak in his jet black hair and also because a star is a symbol of hope for the Shianti. They could not intervene directly in the fate of Mankind because of their vow to the Goddess Ishir but this child was not bound by this oath.

For sixteen years they trained him as a Shianti wizard in the hope that he would destroy the Shadakine Empire. Only the hardest and cruellest of them survived the heat of the Lake of Blood and the hostile environment of the Darklands. Vashna never lived to see the completion of Helgedad. Darklord Zagarna oversaw the completion of this and the eight other city-fortresses of the Darklands.

Deep below the surface, near the level of the lake of fire, the Darklords' spawn was bred. It was there in the depths of Helgedad that the greatest concentration of Evil existed. Few humans were unlucky enough to see the Evil splendor of Helgedad.

Shianti

A god-like race that arrived on Magnamund in 1600 MS through a temporary shadow gate. "Their skins were as black as ebony, and their eyes were yellow. The only food they required was air. Their powers were those of demigods: they were immortal and invulnerable; they could create and destroy through the mildest exercise of their will. Yet they were not omnipotent." (Eclipse of the Kai, p. 102) The Shianti were "Tall and proud, shining with a radiance that spoke of magic and arcane mystery." (Grey Star the Wizard, p. 9) The pupils of their eyes were reflective like mirrors.

They had wandered the void of the Daziam for countless millenia in search of a home.

These devotees of the Goddess Ishir soon ventured onto Magnamund motivated by insatiable curiosity and the longing for a home. The Human race emerged on Magnamund soon after the arrival of the Shianti. Humanity came to worship the Shianti because of their power. They were known as Suukon in the East and Majhan in the North. They were later remembered as simply the Ancients. Remnants of the Shianti religion persisted at the time that Grey Star ventured into Southern Magnamund. This religion was forced underground by the Shadakine Empire. Grey Star met a priest of the Shianti religion that had been imprisoned for twenty years while he was at the Hall of Correction.

At the height of their power, the Shianti shaped their knowledge into the Moonstone. This heralded the dawn of the Golden Age of Magnamund.

The presence of the Shianti and their Moonstone caused an imbalance that would have lead to the triumph of Evil. Humanity had to learn to stand on its own without the Shianti or the Moonstone. Ishir in bodily form warned the Shianti of this eventuality (about MS 3000). "The children of this world must claim their inheritance. The time has come and they must learn to stand alone. They are lost in their worship of you and the day draws ever nearer when they will covet the power of the Moonstone." (Grey Star the Wizard, p. 10) The Shianti agreed to exile themselves on the Isle of Lorn and the Moonstone to the Daziarn. They vowed to Ishir that they would never again interfere in the affairs of Magnamund. This exile came at the same time as the rise to power of the Drakkarim nation.

Their isolation was held inviolate until the defection of Shasarak. No human had set foot on the Isle of Lorn until the arrival of Grey Star.

Sommerswerd

A holy blade given to the Sommlending by the god Kai. It can be wielded as a sword, short sword or broadsword. Its supernatural powers increase the bearer's CS by 8 and increase the sensitivity of his Sixth Sense. It also is doubly damaging to undead foes and absorbs hostile magic. Perhaps the greatest power is its ability to kill Darklords. Only members of the royal house of Sommerlund or a Kai Lord can wield it. If anyone else uses it in battle, it will slowly and irrevocably lose its powers.

It was used by Ulnar I to kill Archlord Vashna. Later, it was given to Durenor as a symbol of the mutual trust between the countries. In return, the Durenese gave Sommerlund the Seal of Hammerdal with a promise that the Sommerswerd would be returned on demand to the bearer of the Seal.

Sommlending

Natives of the land of Sommerlund. They were created by Kai and Ishir. They are said to have come from the Northern Void in MS 3434 led by King Kian. The city's streets were constructed under the direction of the Magician's Guild to focus magical energy for the city's defense. Indeed, the walls of the city are said to be sentient. The walls appear comfortingly secure from the inside and hostile from the outside. Many would-be conquerors have been beaten back by the walls of Toran.

The city was razed when the Darklords invaded Sommerlund in MS 5050. Zagarna directed a horde of kraan and zlanbeast against Toran. Mother Magri used the truthsay against Grey Star in the Hall of Correction.

Two-handed Weapons

This is a disputed idea among fans of the Lone Wolf series. Broadwords, spears and quarterstaves require the use of two hands to wield properly. He fled for the Darklands killing Loren and Storm Hawk on the way.

He gained two servants on his way to Kaag: Carag and Allia.

He sought out Zagarna and his Nadziranim. In exchange for their magic, he told them about the Feast of Fehmarn. Armed with this knowledge, Zagarna razed Toran, massacred the Kai, and besieged all of Sommerlund.

Wizard's Staff

A Shianti's primary combat weapon. It appears to be a normal quarterstaff but is stronger than metal. It can be used to create a destructive beam of energy at the expense of one or more Willpower points. The greater the range of the attack, the more Willpower points it takes. It can also be used in close combat where it takes one Willpower point per strike. The damage can be increased by expending more Willpower. For example, if two Willpower points are used, damage to the opponent will be doubled. If three Willpower points are used, the damage will be tripled and so on. It can also grant light to its bearer. At the expense of one Willpower point, it will shed a perpetual light that will extinguish itself only at the mental command of the bearer.

Other beings with magical abilities can use the Wizard's Staff even though they don't know Shianti magic.

animal touches them. They immediately spring into life and wrap around their victim drawing it towards a mass of poisonous crimson barbs in the center of the plant. The poison causes paralysis and death in its victims.

When it rains, the yaku plant becomes quiescent and ignores any potential victims in order to absorb the rare moisture. Its crimson barbs become pink and turn into tubules to catch the rain.

Zagarna, Darklord

Master of Kaag and Archlord at the time of the invasion of Sommerlund and the Massacre of the Kai. He took his title after the death of Archlord Vashna by recovering the lost Doomstones. "His voice was quiet and bubbling, as if he spoke through a foot of water. Its quietness was all the more terrifying, bearing in mind the hugeness of his form. Standing, he was nearly twenty feet tall. His skin was scaled, and coloured blue and green. The outsides of his arms and legs were studded with sharp claws, as were his hands and feet; a double row of claws ran backwards from his forehead and down his spine. From his horned face projected a massive jaw in which were set knife-sharp teeth longer than a man's hand. His incongruously pink tongue flickered in and out like that of a serpent." (Eclipse of the Kai, pp. 99-100) He also had a second jaw in the middle of his abdomen. He was in a constant state of hunger and anger which tended to cloud his judgement. He was not the most intelligent of the Darklords but few mortals would dare match wits with even Zagarna. His standard was a either a long-toothed jawbone on a crimson field or a broken skull. His troops wore orange to signify their allegiance.

He besieged the Kai monastery in MS 4219. His army seemed destined for success so great were their numbers. This is when the Kai discovered the Giaks' great weakness and defeated Zagarna's army.

He made an uneasy alliance with the traitor, Vonotar, who urged him to attack the Kai monks on the Feast of Fehmarn and invade Sommerlund. The army that invaded numbered 1,000,000 kraan and zlanbeast, 1,000,000 giaks and tens of thousands of doomwolves, gourgaz, vordaks and helghasts and some thousands of drakkarim.

Zagarna was destroyed by Lone Wolf wielding the Sommerswerd from atop the walls of Holmgard. As the new day dawned, a brilliant beam of destructive radiance from the Sommerswerd signalled the Archlord's doom.

Zlanbeast

Bigger versions of the kraan. They were reserved for more important riders than the smaller kraan. There was an even larger version called the imperial zlanbeast which was typically used only by the Darklords themselves and their most important underlings.

SPELL BOOK

BROTHERHOOD MAGIC

This style of left-handed magic is used by the Brotherhood of the Crystal Star which is based in the city of Toran in Sommerlund. It has also been taught to Kai Grand Masters. Brotherhood magicians have also integrated some of the Kai Disciplines into their magic.

BREATHE WATER

Using this spell, a magician is able to breathe underwater for ten minutes. The duration of effect increases as the magician becomes more powerful.

This causes any projected or hurled missile (i.e. arrows, axes, crossbow bolts, etc.) which may pose an immediate threat to the life of a wizard, to cease its flight and remain stationary in mid-air. The effect of the spell lasts for 2 - 3 seconds, allowing the wizard sufficient time to move away from its line of flight. Initially only one missile can be affected by this spell, but the number increases as the wizard's magical powers increase.

The spell will carry the caster, his equipment, and clothing to his chosen sighted destination. It cannot be used on any other living creature and it will not transport any other living creature along with the caster. Use of this spell will drain the casters energy every time it is used. This cost reduces as a magicians powers increase.

VIGOUR

This spell will counter fatigue when casted, although it does not actually heal wounds, it will make the caster more alert.

Old kingdom magic is a form of left-handed magic that is very useful in battle, it is taught to the Vakeros by the Elder Magi. It has also been taught to Kai Grand Masters.

CONCUSSION

Use of this spell allows the caster to project a wave of concussive energy, the effect of this spell is greatly amplified when used underwater.

This spell enables the caster to discharge a powerful electrical force into anything he or she touches. ## SHIANTI LESSER MAGICKS

The seven magical powers described below are what the Shianti call the lesser magicks, these were taught to Grey Star by the Shianti.

ALCHEMY

A wizard who possesses the power of Alchemy is able, through the mixing of various substances, to create magical potions. Given the correct ingredients, a potion may restore lost energy, or temporarily improve various abilities. The use of Alchemy may also allow a wizard to alter the nature of substances (eg, change lead into gold), but the necessary ingredients and the correct equipment (eg, a pestle and mortar) must be at hand. The use of Alchemy drains no willpower.

ELEMENTALISM

The power of elemental magic allows a wizard some control over the natural elements of Air, Fire, Earth and Water. By entering a trance and chanting incantations, the wizard may summon aid from the spirits of the Elemental Plane. Elementals have very little understanding of man, and for this reason a wizard can never be sure of the nature of aid the Elementals may send.

ENCHANTMENT

The power of enchantment enables a wizard to charm or beguile other creatures, and create illusions in the minds of others. He will be able to extract information from others, place thoughts and compulsions into another's mind or cause them to believe that imaginary events are actually taking place. Some magical or highly intelligent beings may be immune to the powers of enchantment.

EVOCATION

Mastery of this power permits contact with the spirit realm. A wizard wishing to speak with the dead, or to call up a form from the spirit world, must draw a magic pentacle and enter a trance, when the use of the correct spell-chant will reach out to the Spiritual Plane. Standing within the pentacle, a wizard may consider himself to be relatively safe from harm. If he wishes to speak with a corpse, especially one whose former life was good and righteous, then a wizard can expect help and advice. However, contact with those whose former lives were evil or selfish can be a perilous and often fatal, experience. Evil spirits are reluctant to return to the realm of the dead and may try to trick a wizard into freeing them into the world of the living. All spirits, good and evil, will require some service of the wizard in return for their aid. Any failure to perform this task however difficult, may result in the wizard losing his life.

PROPHECY

The power of prophecy allows a wizard to foretell the future through meditation. A meditative state will allow a wizard to make the correct decision when facing conflicting choices or difficult actions; to discover the whereabouts of a person he has once met, or an object he has once seen. It may also allow him to determine the true nature of a stranger or a strange object. Magical beings or objects are sometimes hidden from the power of divination.

PSYCHOMANCY

This power bestows upon a wizard the ability to deduce facts about events by touching objects connected to them. Through deep concentration, a wizard may lay his hands upon any inanimate object and visualise scenes that have affected it. Visions brought about through the use of Psychomancy are often cryptic, taking the form of a riddle or puzzle. Some magical items are resistant to the use of Psychomancy and may, sometimes, impart misleading information.

SORCERY

This power allows a wizard to transform his thoughts or desires into magical energy. By concentration of the will it is possible to create magical shields of force to bar doors or move objects. Sorcery drains more willpower than any other magical power, and is most effective when the wizard's willpower is high.

SHIANTI HIGHER MAGICKS

THAUMATURGY (ADVANCED SORCERY) -

Where Sorcery allows a wizard to affect external things, Thaumaturgy affects the wizard himself. The power of Thaumaturgy can bestow upon a wizard the power of levitation; invulnerability and increased strength; the ability to bend metal or warp wood by disturbing their molecules; and, perhaps the most useful of all, teleportation.

TELERGY (ADVANCED ENCHANTMENT)

Telergy is the power of mind control, telepathy, and auto-suggestion. It enhances the tangibility of the illusions of Enchantment and allows you to control the minds of others. However, like Enchantment, some magical beings will be able to resist this power.

PHYSIURGY (ADVANCED ELEMENTALISM)

Where Elementalism allows a wizard to summon the aid of the elemental spirits, the higher magick of Physiurgy grants the wizard mastery over the elements. It allows him to command winds, open cracks in the earth, cause earthquakes, raise storms, and create other weather effects.

THEURGY (ADVANCED ALCHEMY)

Theurgy unlocks the knowledge of more ingredients for mixing potions and reveals some of the special times or ways that they must be mixed. No Willpower points are required to make use of the power of Theurgy but you are dependent on discovering the necessary ingredients for your potions during the course of your adventure.

VISIONARY

With the aid of the Moonstone, a wizard may use the skill of a Visionary to look upon events that are taking place elsewhere. The power of a Visionary is generally concerned with visual images of the present.

NECROMANCY (ADVANCED EVOCATION)

Where Evocation allows contact with the spirit world, Necromancy allows a wizard to command the dead, though this is forbidden by Shianti law. It also allows him to make an incantation that will imbue the Moonstone with a protective aura of light to keep away all creatures of evil, dead or alive.

Equipment

WEAPONS

Below is a list of weapons that are used on the battle field, most of these are readily available at trading posts and armouries.

AXE

A shaft of wood with either one or two blades on the end, Lone Wolf was adept in its use, the Axe is used in playing Greel.

BONE WEAPONS

In the icy wasteland of Kalte where steel is rare, the snow barbarians use the materials at hand to make their weapons. Made from the bones of killed animals like the Baknar, they may be carved to razor-sharpness for use as swords, or layers of bone may be glued and bound together to make bows. They are of little use outside of Kalte, however, because a warm climate reduces their effectiveness greatly.

BOR MUSKET

A projectile weapon devised by the Borian Dwarves it fires large ball bearings, propelled by an explosive powder, it causes great damage but it is very inaccurate.

BOR PISTOL

A smaller version of the Bor Musket, it is also inaccurate but causes great damage.

BOW

A long, curved piece of wood bent back by a tight string. By pulling back on the string, an arrow notched to it may be released with great speed and power. A bow requires both skill and strength to use as well as a keen eye to aim. A bow is worthless in combat, and should be used at a distance before hand weapons are necessary.

BROADSWORD

A long bladed weapon that is wielded with both hands.

DAGGER

A short, bladed weapon. Easily concealed and a favourite weapon of thieves and assassins.

HALBERD

A long two-handed weapon, it consists of a long shaft of wood with a pointed tip and an axe-head at the end.

JAKAN

A longbow used by the coastal fishermen of Vassagonia. It is ideally suited to the hunting of barbidahn and squid that live in the shallows and reefs of Barrakeesh. It is a poor target bow, however, and is not recommended for use by warriors. It is an example of how weapons can be used for mundane purposes, just as tools can often be used as weapons.

MACE

A short club like weapon, they are sometimes spiked to increase damage.

MORNING STAR

A metal chain with a spiked ball on the end, one of Thogs favoured weapons.

SHORTSWORD

A bladed weapon that is used with one hand.

SPEAR

A long shaft of wood with a metal spike on the end, it used for thrusting.

MAGICAL WEAPONS

These weapons have been described to me by the Kai Lord Hunting Owl. Many of these weapons are unique and have either been destroyed or are in the possession of powerful persons. They are included only for completeness.

ALEMA

Upon reaching the ultimate rank of Kai Supreme Master, Lone Wolf received as a reward from the God Kai many new skills and abilities. One of these new skills was Kai Weaponcraft. These magical weapons are reserved for the elite of the New Order Kai who attain the rank of Grand Master.

ANDARIN WARHAMMER

A mighty golden warhammer forged by ancient magical fires, it was buried with the dwarven King Andarin.

BRONIN WARHAMMER

Not really a magic weapon, but it is of such fine construction that it has almost a magic effect on the wielder's skill. Bronin is a metal which looks like new bronze, but will not tarnish like ordinary alloys of copper and tin. The warhammer is only one example, for other weapons are forged of this rare metal as well.

DAGGER OF VASHNA

A weapon used by Darklord Vashna before his destruction by King Ulnar. The dagger is made of black steel and is twisted in a serpentine shape. Blue fire runs up and down the blade when it is drawn. Legends say that Vashna could be restored from the Maakengorge if the dagger was used in a sacrifice there. Lone Wolf was in possession of the dagger after stopping such a sacrifice. It was destroyed in his battles with the demoness, Shamath.

DESSI STONE

A dull red gem, no bigger than a fig stone, from the magical kingdom of Dessi. When pressed into a normal hand weapon, it sinks in and becomes part of it, imbuing the weapon with great effectiveness against the undead. Lord Rimoah, speaker of the High Council of the Elder Magi and long-time counsellor to the Grand Master, is in possession of at least one of these items, as is Guildmaster Banedon.

NYRAS SCEPTRE

A magical weapon that was wielded by Darklord Dukushna, Lord of Kagorst. It consisted of a platinum haft with the Doomstone of Darke an artefact of legendary evil resting in the head, it is said that the Doomstone of Darke was the most powerful of all the Doomstones created by Agarash the Damned during the Age of Eternal Night. In the chaos following Dakushna's destruction in the year MS 5070, the Nyras Sceptre was lost, though many believed it to have been stolen by one of Dakushna's Nadziranim sorcerers. Some months later during the war in Nyras the sceptre reappeared, but the doomstone was missing from its setting atop the sceptres platinum haft.

In the year MS 5076 Doomstone was found by Warlord Magnaarn and reunited the Doomstone with the Nyras Sceptre, and used its power to force the Nadziranim of Kagorst to help him raise the siege of Darke. The power of the Doomstone corrupted Magnaarn just before his death at the hands of Lone Wolf, he was treading a fine line between life and undeath.

Lone Wolf armed the Sommerswerd fought Warlord Magnaarn who wielded the Nyras Sceptre at the moment Lone Wolf struck the killing blow the Nyras Sceptre exploded. Nothing remained of the Nyras Sceptre or Magnaarn both had been utterly destroyed.

SKARN-SKA

A sword forged by Lords Rimoah and Ardan of the Elder Magi. It is a double-edged sword made out of a golden alloy with a jewel-encrusted hilt. Tempered in spell-fire and imbued with Old Kingdom magic, the sword will never lose its razor-sharp edge. In the tongue of the Elder Magi, the sword's name is "Wolf's Blade." It was forged for Grand Master Lone Wolf during the time he was defeating his evil double.

It can absorb any magic that is used against the bearer, does great damage to undead, and is able to release its destructive power toward creatures of great evil. It was used by King Ulnar of Sommerlund to defeat Vashna, greatest of the Darklords. It was reclaimed in the year MS 5050 by the Kai Lord Lone Wolf, who used it to destroy Zagarna, some years later he used it to defeat Haakon in mortal combat, and finally in MS 5070 Lone Wolf slew Gnaag using the Sommerswerd. The Sommerswerd is currently in the possession of the Kai Supreme Master Lone Wolf, who has used it to defeat many great evils.

It contains a potent force that is unleashed at will by the power of the mind and causes a beam of destructive power to hurtle from its tip. Each time this power is unleashed it drains the wizards energies.

When used in close combat a successful strike causes a bolt of energy to be released from the staff that is capable of inflicting great physical harm, a wizard can use his energies to increase the damage a successful strike causes.

ZEJAR-DELUGA ARROW

A poisonous arrow imbued with magical accuracy and created by the Darklords of Helgedad, the zejar-deluga consists of a glowing shaft with a pointed head attached. A hit with this weapon is almost guaranteed to destroy whatever it hits. Like most arrows, however, it is only good for one shot.

The Darklords of Helgedad

During the Golden Age of the Shianti, the dark god Naar began creating twenty champions that he would unleash upon Magnamund. They were to regain the empire of Agarash the Damned which had been lost with the fall of Naaros to the Elder Magi in the year 3572 MS. These champions of Naar were the Darklords of Helgedad, who appeared in northern Magnamund in the year MS 3072.

The Darklords claimed a huge area of northwestern Magnamund as their own and turned it into a desolate wasteland. They built eight gigantic city-fortresses in the Darklands, the largest of which was called Helgedad. Historically, the Darklords often allied themselves with the Vassagonians and the Shadakine.

Vashna, mightiest of the Darklords, was proclaimed Archlord in the year MS 3192, following the War of Desecration which bound the Drakkarim nations to the Darklords. Vashna masterminded the War of Desecration and would go on to mastermind many other conquests, most notably the failed conquest of Sommerlund.

In MS 3434 when the Sommlending appeared in northern Magnamund, they pushed the Darklords west beyond the Durncrag mountains and established the realm of Sommerlund in the territory they had claimed. Vashna, enraged by the defeat, unleashed many Helghast upon Sommerlund in what became known as the Helghast Wars from MS 3520 to 3550. However, the Sommlending prevailed, thanks to the magic of the Brotherhood of the Crystal Star from the northern port city of Toran.

Still vowing to destroy Sommerlund, Vashna began the Black Muster in preparation for a full invasion. But when the onslaught came the Sommlending together with their allies, the Durenese, held firm against the Darklords. The turning point came at the Battle of Moytura where the Darklord armies were broken and chased all the way south to the Maakengorge. There Vashna was defeated in combat with King Ulnar of Sommerlund, wielding the Sommerswerd.

Following the defeat of Vashna, the Darklords feuded amongst themselves for leadership. Zagarna was the eventual victor and he continued his predecessor's obsession with destroying the Sommlending. In MS 4219 his forces actually laid siege to the Kai Monastery but were defeated by Sommlending archers.

In MS 5050 Zagarna launched another attack on the Monastery. This time, with the aid of Vonotar the traitor, a renegade magician from Toran, Zagarna was successful in destroying the Monastery. However, one Kai Lord survived, a young initiate named Silent Wolf. This oversight would cost Zagarna his life and deny his forces ultimate victory.

Silent Wolf -- who adopted the name Lone Wolf in honour of the massacred Kai -- journeyed to Durenor to fetch the Sommerswerd which had been left in trust with the Durenese following the defeat of Vashna. Upon his return, Lone Wolf slew Zagarna at the siege of Holmgard. Yet another defeat threw the Darklords into another state of confusion. This time, the eventual successor to the position of Archlord was Haakon.

Haakon reasoned that if the Darklords obtained the Book of the Magnakai it would prevent the rise of a new order of Kai warriors. In MS 5055, he had located this lost Kai treasure in the Tomb of the Majhan -- burial place of the ancient rulers of Vassagonia -- and he had lured Lone Wolf to the desert realm with the help of his ally, Zakhan Kimah. Lone Wolf again thwarted the Darklords' plans by escaping from the Vassagonians and subsequently defeating Haakon in combat inside the Tomb of the Majhan.

This time, the Darklords' turmoil lasted several years. Darklord Gnaag became the new leader. As Lone Wolf, armed with knowledge gained from the Book of the Magnakai, set about to reclaim the Lorestones of Nyxator, Gnaag launched a massive invasion of northern Magnamund in order to prevent Lone Wolf's completing his quest. Gnaag was very nearly successful when, in MS 5062, he lured Lone Wolf to the Darklord fortress of Torgar. There, Gnaag cast the last of the Kai Lords into a shadow gate which led to the Daziarn plane.

Gnaag proclaimed the young Kai dead. With Lone Wolf unable to lead the freestate armies, the Darklords marched mercilessly over the lands of northern Magnamund for eight years. Sommerlund itself, having lost the southern province of Ruanon to the Darklords before the supposed death of Lone Wolf, was on the verge of defeat. Only aid from Durenor had prevented her demise. Then, eight years after his descent into the Daziarn, Lone Wolf returned through a shadow gate in the guildhall of the magicians guild of Toran, the Brotherhood of the Crystal Star.

The Darklords were finally defeated on the brink of their moment of triumph. During Lone Wolf's absence the Darklords had begun to venture outside the Darklands for extended periods of time. Normally this was impossible since the air of Magnamund was poisonous to them. However the Darklords' magicians, the Nadziranim, had created devices called tanoz-tukor which allowed the Darklords to breathe the air beyond the Darklands. The tanoz-tukor were powered by a transfusor in Helgedad itself.

In MS 5070, with the help of the Elder Magi, Lone Wolf infiltrated the Darklands, gained entry to Helgedad and destroyed the transfusor. In the process, all of Helgedad was turned to molten slag. The Darklords outside the Darklands died without the transfusor to let them breathe.

The defeat of the Darklords was total, but their legacy lives on in Magnamund. Many of their minions still toil in the remaining city-fortresses of the Darklands. Many adherants to the dark god Naar still lurk in the shadows. Although the success of Lone Wolf and the forces of light brought peace to northern Magnamund, the struggle they waged is by no means over.

THE LEGEND OF VASHNA

In 3434 King Kian led the fair haired Sommlending to war against the Darklords that ruled Magnamund. Behind their leader they delved deep into the enemies territory, they settled this land and Kian named it Sommerlund, in honour of his fallen subjects. Defeat was a novel idea for evil Lord Vashna, who ruled the dark armies, he fell back to his domain called the Darklands and plotted revenge.

Calling on his master for help, he received powerful undead creatures known as Helghast, which he could send into battle. These creatures could alter their appearance to infiltrate Sommerlund. they were the perfect assassin. Luckily, Sommlending wizards were able to use magic to identify these killers. Vicious battles with the Helghast ensued. The 100 years that passed became known as the Helghast Wars.

In 3550, the battle lines were drawn at the Maakengorge and the leader of the Sommlending at the time was King Ulnar I. Ulnar lead his people into battle on the very brink of the Maakengorge, wielding his magical sword the Sommerswerd, and found himself face-to-face with mighty Vashna. At first they fought with conventional weapons, but soon the battle turned to magic and trickery. Ulnar turned the air to fire, but Vashna caused this fire to rise so high that, today, people believe it to be some distant star. In retaliation Vashna turned the rocks to lava and thousands of men from both armies perished, being burned to death or leaping to their doom in the Maakengorge. Ulnar swept the air with the Sommerswerd and it began to rain, cooling the

With Sommerswerd it hand, he turned and point the tip of the glowing blade at Vashna. He murmured the words of some ancient curse and a powerful bolt of energy was released from the sword. Vashna was slain, his body scattered throughout the universe, his heart in the bottom of Lake Adon.

Although the body of Vashna was no more, his soul lived on. It had been swallowed up by the vast Maakengorge, which then collapsed in on itself, sealing Vashna and his army in their rocky tomb.

One man, stood out in the large Sommlending army, his brave deeds allowed Ulnar to pass through the enemy ranks and face the dark Lord. This man possessed abilities that others could not comprehend. Sun Eagle, received special recognition from the King and was given land surrounding Holmgard. He went on to found the order of the Kai.

Over one thousand years later, followers of Vashna had discovered an evil artefact. A dagger, which he had used in the battle with Ulnar. The Dagger of Vashna was the key to unlocking his soul from it's restless sleep. Barraka, the ruler of Vassagonia and a follower of Vashna and student of the teachings of the Cener Druids, had discovered through an ancient script that by sacrificing a virgin on the edge of the gorge with this dagger, he could wake his evil master.

Only one Kai remained at this time, Lone Wolf. It was his task to stop Barraka and his bandit hordes. Whilst King Ulnar V lead his armies against the Vassagonia hordes, Lone Wolf fought and killed Barraka, casting his body into the Maakengorge to join Vashnas soul.

Although the battle was won, Sommerlund knew it could never rest and forget the threat of the mightiest of the Darklords, Vashna

The Ritual of the Sommerswerd

As read to Lone Wolf by King Alin;

When the lastlands of Magnamund were only children,
There dwelt here a race that talked with the Gods.
The sun shone from their eyes, and the mountains trembled at their gaze.
The winds of the sky were their brethren and the seas ebbd and flowed at their bidding.
They saw all of the past and all of the future

And they saw that the day would come when they themselves would only be wisps of memory,
And that then there would be on the Lastlands your race and mine and the creatures of the darkness.

And they spoke among themselves and with the Gods,
And the gods said to them, "These things shall be".

Then the nameless ones saw a golden strand running through all of time,
And they named this strand the Sommerswerd.
And plucked it from times fabric.
In their forge that rode upon the clouds
They wreathed the gold that came from time
And fashioned from it in the fires of their own minds
This sword.

Into this sword they place their soul-
stuff, singing as they gave themselves to it
And they strewed their soul-stuff also among the mountains and the seas

The forests and the rivers and the skies
Leaving it there for the time when men and women would come among the Lastlands

This soul-stuff was their breath, so all may breathe it
This soul-stuff was their blood, so all may drink it
This soul-stuff was their dreaming, so all may dream their dream but some who breathe, breathe only air and some who drink, drink only water and some who dream, dream only of night

Yet those born of the spirit of Kai, breathe of the nameless ones, and drink their blood and dreams their dreams and within them is the soul-stuff of the nameless ones
And of the sword.
They are at one with the sword
They are the sword and the sword is them.

If you who stand before me are truly of the sword then take it for at its touch you will be reunited with the nameless ones
And the power of their thoughts will be yours
But if you are not truly of the sword then go from this place
And walk among the world, seeking for the faces of those who dream the old ones dreams
And bring such a person here, for the soul-stuff of the sword will marry with none other but rather bleed away into the eternity of night

Take this sword if you are its brother or sister
Take it, and be blessed by us who have gone before you.
