

WWII: Operation WhiteBox Compatibility License (OWBCL) 1.0, October 2016

The WWII: Operation WhiteBox Compatibility License (OWBCL) is a royalty-free non-exclusive agreement between Small Niche Games and third parties (individuals or organizations) to allow limited use of the WWII: Operation WhiteBox™ trademark and use of the OWBCL Logo visual mark (OWBCL Logo) to indicate that third party products are compatible with the WWII: Operation WhiteBox™ roleplaying game, published by Small Niche Games.

A non-transferable, non-sublicensable, non-exclusive, royalty-free license to use the OWBCL Logo on products is granted to publishers (hereafter referred to in this document as "You") as long as the requirements below are met:

Requirements:

1. No product can include "Operation WhiteBox" in the Title.
2. You must not use any of the WWII: Operation WhiteBox product line trade dress for your products, or imply that your product is an official WWII: Operation WhiteBox product release.
3. The OWBCL Logo may only be used with materials published under the Open Gaming License (OGL) and you must comply with the terms of the OGL to use the OWBCL Logo. The OWBCL Logo is Product Identity, and cannot be used in any way that the OGL prohibits. You still retain all your own rights to your Product Identity under the OGL.
4. The OWBCL Logo may be placed prominently on exterior covers of print and electronic product covers, as well as on title/credit interior pages. For print or electronic products without covers, it must be placed on the first or last page of the product.
5. The OWBCL Logo may be placed at any size desired, but must retain the same dimensions as the standard version, and must remain legible. The OWBCL Logo cannot be colorized or made transparent.
6. Any use of the OWBCL Logo must include the following text either in a credits/copyright section and/or in the same viewable area as the use of the OWBCL Logo: "WWII: Operation WhiteBox™ is a trademark of Peter C. Spahn.". If mentioning Small Niche Games as a precursor to this, then the following text must also be included: "Small Niche Games™ is a trademark of Peter C. Spahn". The text should close with: "Used with permission under license."

7. You agree not to use the OWBCL Logo in conjunction with illegal activities.
8. You agree to indemnify Small Niche Games against any claims made against products produced through your licensed use of the OWBCL Logo.
9. You agree to allow Small Niche Games to use the title of your products and/or contributor names from your products communications regarding usage of the OWBCL.
10. This license may be updated at any time. You agree to abide by the terms of the updated license, and will be given a window of opportunity to comply with any updated terms.

Complying with the above requirements allows the following:

1. You do not need explicit permission from Small Niche Games to use the OWBCL Logo.
2. You may indicate compatibility of your product with the WWII: Operation WhiteBox roleplaying game.
3. The OWBCL Logo may be used royalty-free on print and electronic products, as well as websites and advertising relating to products that fulfill the terms of this license while in compliance.
4. You may state that your product is "compatible with" any of the following: "WWII: Operation WhiteBox", "Operation WhiteBox", or "OWB". You can choose to include the premodifier "Small Niche Games" or not, as you wish.

Failure to adhere to the terms of this license may result in termination of the license and the ability to use the OWBCL Logo on one or more products for individuals or organizations. If this occurs, sale of any affected products must cease immediately, and all advertising and promotional use of the OWBCL Logo must stop. Destruction of existing and unsold physical inventory may be required. You must immediately suspend sale of all products using the OWBCL Logo, as well as suspend all advertising and promotional use of the OWBCL Logo, until your products no longer include the OWBCL Logo.

The OWBCL can be revoked or terminated for any reason by Small Niche Games. If this occurs, all products using the OWBCL Logo must remove it from use.
