

Snake vs Monkey: The Style Brothers!

The Setting:

Typhoon Pandora tossed the Beijing Princess around like a toy and threw it against the rocky shores of an unknown Pacific island. The ship is stranded and (of course) the communication gear has been smashed (was it the storm or sabotage?) Snake, Monkey, and the rest of crew find themselves rescued by the mysterious Dr. Hugo Carver and his lovely daughter, Rose Carver. The island is primitive and mysterious with strange cults and creatures on the verge of war. What is Dr. Carver doing here on his large estate? Feel free to borrow from The Tempest, The Island of Dr. Moreau, and Forbidden Planet.

The NPCs:

Dr. Hugo Carver, Hugo is a genius. One who's bounds could not be contained by academia and perhaps even civilization. He's the absolute master of the island and the secrets there. But, there's a storm brewing, one that might be deadlier than the typhoon. Rose Carver, Hugo's beautiful and sheltered daughter is whip smart and fascinated by the castaways.

Torg, Hugo's man servant, inhumanly strong, loyal, and mute. Kala Singh was getting close to Rose and then mysteriously disappeared. Rose suspects foul play, but from whom? Captain Lars Hanson, has refused to abandon the ship.

The Stage:

Typhoon Pandora circles the island waiting to strike, what is keeping it at bay? Chateau Carver is a well-tended mansion in the middle of the jungle. What is Hugo keeping in his green houses and locked sheds? The sea caves have been declared unsafe, but what secrets do they hold? The wreck of the Beijing Princess is battered by the waves. Why has the captain risked life and limb to stay with the crippled ship?

Special thanks to The Big Red Couch for the theme.

<http://www.hoarde.net/bigredcouch/>

Copyright 2015 by Todd Zircher, some rights reserved.
Readers are free to share and print.

Name: Wayne 'Snake' Style

Details: Martial artist and adventurer with a long black pony tail.

Wicked fast moves, can side step most blows.

I know 37 nerve strikes, I can play you like a puppet.

Preparation is half the battle.

Poetry? Etiquette? Music? A master warrior can handle any challenge.

My brother is my greatest friend and my greatest challenge.

I blame myself for my parent's death, because I failed to watch Mitch.

Name: Mitch 'Monkey' Style

Details: The younger brother and fellow kung-fu master. Has frizzy blonde hair that refuses to be tamed.

Gravity defying agility and parkour skills.

Everything is a weapon, surprise can defeat any defense.

Improvisation is half the battle.

Because I have a lust for life, there's always song and dance in my heart.

My brother is my greatest challenge and my greatest friend.

I blame myself for my parent's death, because I snuck away from camp.

Name: Indigo Banes

Details: Hanson's first mate, black as midnight, hard as nails.

Is that the best you can do? You're not even trying.

I know the Beijing Princess inside and out.

I've been around the world a few times.

My mambo made some magic powders for me.
She's the best.

I don't drink on duty, but when I do partake, we're not done until the bottle is empty.

Sometimes you see things that can only be explained
as voodoo.

Name: Chuck 'Cookie' Rutherford

Details: The oddly capable grumbly cook.

I know klang-fu. [Twirls frying pan.]

I can cook anything and probably have.

I'm actually retired. My previous job was... interesting.

If it's broke, I can fix it. If I break it, it'll stay broke.

Anger management? Feh, I embrace anger like an old lover.

Old lovers? I have embraced of few of those too.
Some of them were also quick with the temper.

Name: Snow Sandoval

Details: A mysterious passenger not seen before the wreck.

A good trench coat can hide a lot of things.

I paid dearly for the knowledge I have.

Accidents seem to happen around me.

I have a thing for knives. They're dependable.

[Cough] Ok, maybe I need to have that bullet wound looked at.

He may not know it, but I have a score to settle.

Name: _____

Details: _____

