

- CANTOR -

DESCRIPTION

Blessed with an ear for song and a dulcet or sonorous singing voice, the cantor is the head of the church choir, responsible for leading them in the most lilting of songs and most baritone of chants. It is the cantor's task to always ensure that the music produced is pleasing to the ear and pleasing to their god. When the church wishes to secure the patronage of a visiting noble or figure of power and influence, the cantor's leadership of the choir is given great credence, for a truly well-performed piece can sway an audience, inspiring devotion and emotion with equal measure.
